THE MILITANT

Steel Co. On Strike In Detroit

Vol. XXIV - No. 6

Workers Demand Safer Conditions

By Jim Avery

DETROIT, Jan. 31 - An upsurge of rank-and-file militancy among 4,200 steel workers at the three McLouth Steel Corp. plants cut across the pattern of steel settlements conceded to the companies by Pres. David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers Union. When the eighty-day Taft-Hartley injunction deadline was reached midnight Jan. 26, members of Local 2659 shut down the plants in an action that was branded by local USW officials as "an unauthorized action.

Earlier in the day, District 29 Director Thomas Shane had signed an indefinite extension agreement, with a tenday termination notice by either party. The response of the men in the mills was to close down operations.

The daily papers broke the upsetting of a foreman's car petition is 800 signatures.

$10.5 million profit.

GLADYS BARKER

SWP Doubles Requirement

petitions here to place Socialist Workers candidates for the news the next morning with presidency and for U. S. Senator headlines about "violence." But on the New Jersey ballot. The lethe only incident involved the gal minimum required on each when he attempted to drive Party supporters who circuthrough the mass of pickets at lated the petitions reported that the Trenton gates. A picket told in contrast to the lack of ena reporter that "a wind came thusiasm for the two major parup from the river and blew it ties they found considerable readiness to help a minority McLouth was once a small party win a place on the ballot. producer. With the introduction In addition to a slate of presiof oxygen-processing of steel dential electors, canvassers cirthree years ago, the company culated petitions for the nominaexpanded rapidly. In the first tion of Gladys Barker for U.S. half of 1959 it reported a record | Senator. A militant fighter for civil rights, she is running on a With an influx of workers in platform of socialist opposition the plant, largely young men to the big-business forces re-

from mining areas and auto sponsible for the perpetuation of (Continued on Page 4) sponsible for the perpetuation of the Jim Crow system.

Too Many Babies? __

America Faces A New Enemy

By Joseph Hansen

First of a series of articles.

A number of eminent dignitaries and scientific authorities have been seeking to arouse a lethargic public to a people regardless of race, creed, have smashed the Algiers renew menace — an enemy of formidable character, perhaps color or financial position, Com- bellion in short order and re- people from New York and one the most dangerous America has yet faced.

This enemy is insidious. He is not armed with H-bombs, rocket missiles, deadly nerve gases, nuclear submarines, tanks, submachine guns, rifles or even bayonets. He uses none of the weapons to which we have become accustomed and which Congress can handle by passing appropriations. This enemy's major means of attack is nothing but a mouth and, at a certain stage, a set of teeth.

This seeming paucity of instruments of destruction. should not lead one to underestimate the new foe. He employs ultra modern methods of warfare. Without a formal declaration of hostilities, he simply moves in, often by surprise. He takes over sometimes with amazing rapidity. tributing an "all out effort." He uses infiltration and subversion, boring into the Ameri- Tractors are "working 22 hours can home from within, counting as his allies in these treach- out of 24." erous techniques the most respectable people, our dectors, nurses, mothers and fathers.

This enemy has already occupied the cribs, nurseries perienced the thing which Negro fascists to back down, although smear Leroy Wollins, 30, of and playgrounds of America.

Lest this sound like war hysteria, let me quote from an article that appeared under the headline, "BUMPER BABY CROP' HELD THREAT TO U.S." Here is the warning about this advancing horde which Prof. William "hearts of a people who practice blame for the fascists' rebellion tative in 1958. A. Paton of the University of Michigan uttered before the the democracy Americans give in the first place. House Ways and Means Committee Nov. 30, 1959:

"Our continuing bumper baby crop, coupled with present tendencies both to prolong the period of childhood and provide for earlier retirement, have added greatly to the difficulty of maintaining our present per capita living standard, to say nothing of an increase. The essential factor at this stage

Dead right! What America needs is a lot more dollars, not babies. We must never forget what's precious.

And if you tend to think that the difficulty in maintaining our standard of living might be due to inflation, to the cost of wars we've fought and are going to fight, Rep. Francis Walter, head of the sel to decide. It does not rest to the insistence on an ever higher level of profits, or to witch-hunting House Un-Amer- with the prosecution or the persome old-fashioned strikebreaking and union-smashing — ican Activities Committee. The son under subpoena. better get your head examined. The real trouble is our congressman is now scheduled to "continuing bumper baby crop."

Another weighty authority goes even further. According to Raymond B. Cowles, Professor of Zoology at the Amendment when he was hauled University of California, Los Angeles, the danger concerns before the committee in 1955. not only America but the entire human race. And he is afraid that it is already too late.

Prof. Cowles' startling message was sent over the UPI teletypes to every major newspaper in the country Jan. 2, motion Jan. 28. Ruling out the on the ground that it had no American Activities Committee 1960. It appeared in the press in the following succinct argument that as a member of power to inquire into his beliefs in 1954. statement: "that men multiply at a geometric rate while Congress, Walter should not be and associations. Together with food production can only be increased at an arithmetic compelled to serve as a witness, ten others, Seeger faces a possi-

UPI did not report what experiments with runaway human fertility the learned zoologist had performed to accused of a crime is guaranteed of Lloyd Barenblatt and Dr. Wil- by this act that I value free (Continued on Page 2)

Cubans Gen. De Gaulle Imposes Negroes

Bid for Tourists Hailed by Editors

By Lillian Kiezel

"There is no racial discrimination in Cuba. That is a resounding and important declaration," said John H. Sengstacke, publisher-editor of the Chicago Defender, on returning from a 75 other prominent American Negroes. They went as guests of the Cuban government during the New Year's celebration of the first anniversary of the revolution that ousted the hated Batista dictatorship.

Most of the visitors represented Negro newspapers throughout the U.S., underscoring the purpose of the Cuban government's invitation. Baudillo Cas-NEWARK, Jan. 31 - More tellanos, chief of the Cuban than 1,500 voters yesterday Tourist Commission, greeted signed independent nominating them with the words: "We want colored people to know they will be well received here."

"Nothing to Hide"

Premier Fidel Castro officially extended the hospitality of the country. He told them "to see, do and go wherever you wish . . we have nothing to hide . . You are our guests not for political or financial reasons. We wanted you to come so that you could see for yourselves what s being done in our country."

The Cuban government asked only that the reporters tell the Joe Louis had this to say about the welcome offered to Negro tourists: "This is really good for Cuba to invite American Negroes to the country. Colored people in the U.S. do not have any place to go in the winter except Cuba. And I think they are going to take advantage of that fact."

The trip proved an eye opener for Thomas J. Davis, editor of the Cleveland Call-Post. He said, "The Cuban people are shaping their democracy."

He scored the slander cammunists. To us this is a false bit of propaganda designed to defeat democratic processes."

Why is it that "everybody is against Castro . . . but the people?" asked William G. Nunn, Sr., of the Pittsburgh

As his answer he pointed to Reform Law and the law re- the war in Algeria by granting "friendly" witness, Albert Gailducing rents by 50%, plus the policy of integration.

The Cuban people, he observed, have responded by con-in the U.S. press were "not ob- not keep De Gaulle from grabserved" by Nunn. "I've ex- bing the credit for getting the happening in their own coun-lip service to.

Nunn believes that "American jected an independent role for (Continued on Page 4)

Decree Rule on France 12 Million in 1-Hour Strike

By Daniel Roberts

The French workers' hatred of fascism was dramatically displayed for one hour last week. visit to the island together with Twelve million workers — more than one quarter of the total population - staged a general strike from 11 a.m. to noon on Feb. 1 at the call of the three major labor federations. The strike was at least ninety per cent effective throughout the nation.

> "Promptly at 11 in Paris the gates clanged shut at subway entrances," wrote W. Granger Blair in the Feb. 2 New York Times. "Buses continued to the end of the line and stopped. Operators walked away from telephone switchboards. Post and telegraph offices remained open, but service was suspended .

"Coal miners and steelworkers in the northern and northeastern regions stopped work for short periods or for a full hour, depending on the enterprise. The same was true in the textile, metallurgical, chemical and auto industries . .

"The independent National Federation of Education was associated with the Communistdominated General Confederation of Labor and the Socialist and Roman Catholic labor federations in the strike appeal The result was that classes were interrupted for varying periods. "Examples of opposition to he strike were rare." According to B. J. Cutler in the Feb. 2 New York Herald Tribune, strike leaders said that the stoppage "was a sample of the paralysis they would invoke against any attempt at a Rightist coup d'etat."

And, indeed, through the onehour general strike, the picture paign which the U.S. press has of the great potential power of New York, the House Un-Amerbeen waging against Cuba: the working class flashed on the ican Activities Committee stag-"Negroes in America are quite French national screen. Had the ed its well-worn routine this used to the battle cry of the big labor leadership mobilized this week at its home theater in press of calling any movement power at the beginning of the that demands fairness for all crisis, the working class could pitch was "Communist infiltraopened the struggle in France from Chicago were subpoenaed for a socialist government.

However, the workers' action short duration to constitute a challenge to De Gaulle's regime tary of the Communist party. from the left. And the strike

"self-determination" scheme. The "tensions" reported daily Gaulle's political terms. It did ment.

During the crisis no promin-As for the Castro regime, ent working-class leader pro-(Continued on Page 2)

Judge Upholds Seeger In Subpoena on Walter

appear as a witness March 21 trial for invoking the First

Walter's three-month attempt to quash the subpoena failed when Federal Judge Edward Weinfeld said:

to the Constitution a defendant upholding contempt convictions will be a satisfaction to affirm the right to compel the attend-lard Uphaus.

Peter Seeger, under indict-lance of witnesses. Who these ment for contempt of Congress, witnesses shall be is a matter has won the right to subpoena for the defendant and his coun-

Seeger and his attorney Paul when the folk singer goes on about the pertinency of his ques-Ross want to question Walter tions. They also want to know on what authority and to what legislative purpose the committee conducted the inquiry.

Seeger had refused to answer Weinfeld denied a government ten of the committee's questions ble prison term following a Su- an extreme measure for me to "Under the Sixth Amendment preme Court decision last fall risk jail. I won't enjoy it. But it

Fascist Show Closes Down

A bulldozer pushes down paving blocks and other material making up the barricade of the Algerian colons who surrendered Feb. 1. When the fascist show ended the insurrectionists marched out, flags flying, as if they had won a major victory. Some temporarily joined the army in a token gesture of surrender. Others faded into the background. Some important questions were left unanswered. Was it a dress rehearsal? If so, when will the curtain rise on the

'Un-American' Smear Youth

After being run out of California and subjected to public hostility in Puerto Rico and Washington, D.C. This time the to testify about World Youth Festivals held in recent years. came after the fascists had al- Also subjected to appearance ready retreated. It was of too before the committee was Benjamin J. Davis, a national secre-

All of these witnesses defied was not waged around a work- the committee on First and Fifth measures such as the Agrarian ing-class program for ending Amendment grounds. One the nine million Algerian Arabs lard, 20, of New York, described their national independence. himself as a disillusioned ex-The aim of the strike was to member of the Communist back De Gaulle's fraudulent party. His appearance was arranged by the committee. Davis Thus the workers' action was refused to answer questions on too little, too late and on De the basis of the Fifth Amend-

The committee used its immunity from libel action to Americans have dreamed about he had allowed the plot of the Chicago, with the assertion that colons and their sympathizers in it had information from "an unthe army brass to mature un- impeachable intelligence source" He said that Cuban hospitality checked since September and that he had passed documents is warm, stemming from the deserved a big share of the to a Soviet Embassy represen-

> Meanwhile, the Senate Internal Security Committee sought to compete with the House witch-hunters for the scant news space devoted to both. It tried to quiz Communist party general secretary Gus Hall about his inclusion in a list of Communists said to be active in the CIO. The list was compiled in 1938 by the late John P. Frey of the old AFL Metal Trades department. Hall simply invoked the Fifth

Chandler Davis

Dr. Chandler Davis, a wellknown mathematician, surrendered at the U.S. marshall's office in Grand Rapids Feb. 2 to begin a six-month prison term

Davis reaffirmed his views in a statement to the press. "It was speech this highly."

On Tour Probe Seeks to Does It Pay to Fight

I see by the San Diego Labor Leader that George Meany has put the AFL-CIO on record for new, "positive" legislation to bolster U.S. war production. Because of a local job problem the Labor Leader expresses agreement with him. Aside from the general economic prop provided by the big naval base here, employment hinges mainly on the extensive aircraft industry. But aircraft output must rely heavily upon military orders, as shown by the striking fact that 70% of San Diego's economy is directly dependent upon federal contracts.

Due in part to the shift toward ballistic missiles in military technology, aircraft production is sagging in this locality. The unemployed total is expected to reach 20,000 in February and still further mass layoffs seem imminent.

Alarmed by the job decline, the unions are demanding that Congress introduce legislation providing aid to distressed areas such as San Diego; and for want of another answer they back Meany's call for stepped-up military output.

What a cruel irony. Workers have no stake in the war aims of U.S. capitalism.

Yet, to avoid joblessness under capitalism, misled unions help advance the capitalist war policy by advocating an ever-greater military build-up as a means to safeguard employment.

And the workers' entrapment in this false policy becomes cinched up politically with Meany's fatuous advice that ". . . if we pinpoint the issues and the voting words [in Congress] effectively, we can get a government that places human needs above the demands of big business" -through labor support to capitalist politicians.

If the light of class truth is to be thrown upon the dilemma labor faces, it will never be generated by capitalist-minded union bureaucrats of the Meany stripe. Labor's policy must stem from the realization that the workers and the bosses have no common interests in industry or in politics, in domestic or in for-

Knowledge of these truths can't be expected to seep in much among the top union of-

For War Contracts?

duced into the union ranks, at least among workers who are beginning to advance beyond the general mass in their thinking. If these more advanced thinkers are helped to get a rounded answer to labor's problems, they can better push union policy in the proper direction. They need to understand why support in any form to the capitalist war policy defeats their own class interests. They require a clearly stated alternative to war production as a means to safeguard their jobs and their livelihood. In short, they must be > helped to turn toward a growing understanding of the need for a basic social change, starting from a switch by labor to independent class political action and leading to labor's taking over the management of the country.

In the coming election campaign socialists face both a challenge and an opportunity to get this message across. The challenge is to know how to start from the big concerns in workers' minds today and help them develop a class insight into a true course for labor.

If this is done well there will be improved chances for socialists to get a favorable hearing in labor's ranks. Fraternally,

Farrell Dobbs

Deputies OK Dictatorship

By George Lavan

Two days after the surrender of the fascist insurrectionists in Algiers, a subservient French parliament abdicated what little power it had by granting Gen. de Gaulle the power to rule France by personal decree for at least the next year. This shifts the political situation in France even further to the right.

From a Bonapartist or 'strong-man" regime operating in conjunction with a drastically weakened parliament, De Gaulle's "Fifth Republic" has now divested itself of the fig leaf of representative government and become a personal

De Gaulle claimed he needed hese dictatorial powers to deal with the fascist "colons" (French settlers in Algeria) and the disloyal army officers, who for a week had been unwilling to carry out orders to put down the Algiers uprising. But, as liberal and labor circles in France point out, De Gaulle has long possessed sufficient powers to deal with the colons and the army, while the newly granted powers extend ominously to all of

A Threat to Labor

Indeed, De Gaulle's new power to pass laws by decree and to enforce them by any methods he chooses is more of a threat to the French working class and its parties and trade unions than to the Algerian colons and army officers. That the initial use of decree rule to punish the fascist elements who organized the Algiers uprising may be only the prelude to crippling decrees against the French workers, is indicated by De Gaulle's refusal to permit any safeguards for civil liberties or labor rights to be written into the bill granting the new powers.

Thus in the New York Herald Tribune (Feb. 3), Paris correspondent B. J. Cutler reports: 'The Assembly's Constitution Committee tried to amend the bill in important ways. Notably, t wanted the decree powers to expire in eight months instead of year and to exempt basic liberties and labor affairs from the sweep of the emergency pow-

But De Gaulle's spokesman was adamant on all points. The ubber-stamp parliament, with little token grumbling, passed he bill 449 to 79 in the National Assembly and 225 to 39 in the Senate. Voting "No" were the Communist party deputies, some Radical Socialists (a liberal. niddle-class party), and the exreme right-wingers who are sympathetic to the Algerian

The course of the Algiers insurrection, reported to the midpoint in last week's Militant, can now be completed.

The unwillingness of the army brass to move against the insurrection made it apparent that what hung in the balance was no longer merely De Gaulle's socalled self-determination plan to end the Algerian Arabs' war (Continued on Page 2)

Year's First Steel Strike Closes Plant in Chicago

The first authorized steel by the company's demand for walkout of 1960 took place in revision of contract clause 2-B, injunction expired. Participating | tional strike. workers at the Riverdale plant cluded the 2-B clause in agreeof the Acme steel company, ments at its two plants at New-They are members of Local 1053 port, Ky. It is trying to win a of the United Steel Workers.

116-day shutdown during the na- cause it has recently switched tional steel strike, but Acme has operations there from fabricatrefused to settle with the union ing to actual steel production. on the basis of the national agreement.

The company's "final offer," ship under the terms of the Taft-Hartley Act, was rejected by a vote of 1,971 to 266.

Chicago at 12:01 a.m., Jan. 27, the work rules agreement that one minute after a Taft-Hartley was a central issue in the nain the strike are more than 2,000 Perish said that Acme has in-free hand for revision of work The local went through the rules at the Riverdale plant be-

Meanwhile, the American Iron and Steel Institute has disclosed that despite the national 116-day voted on by the union member- shutdown some 8,000,000 more tons of steel were produced in 1959 than in 1958.

That means that all the steel Samuel E. Perish, director of the American capitalist system subdistrict 5 of the union said can handle in a year can now be that a settlement is being barred produced in about eight months.

In Algiers, Berlin and U.S.A.

MacArthur of Remington

Rand, a $100,000-a-year man.

some publicity in the press the past few weeks, offers some excellent examples of the opera-

Take the Martin Co., for example. This is the company on the receiving end of an estimated $1 billion which the Pen-company's Titan intercontinent-employs about 28,000 workers.

tion of these ties.

The tendency of the officer easte to support the most reactionary political tendencies, including fascism, is not confined to the French officer caste of 1960 whose sympathies, have been so obviously with the uprising of the "colons" in Algiers. It was observable in Germany during the rise of Hitler, and long before. It was seen in Italy in Mussolini's time and again in Spain when Franco came to power.

In any capitalist country, in fact, the officer caste is to be found in its great majority on the side of reaction, inclined in times of crisis to facilitate the triumph of fascism.

What gives the officer caste this reactionary outlook? First of all, their function which is to protect private property and the special privileges that go with it; they, along with the police. are the armed guards of the ruling class. Second, their intimate ties with the ruling class. These go all the way from entertainment by company officials to high-paid executive posts on retirement. They include social hobnobbing and marriage into some of the wealthiest families. The officer caste thus assiduously cultivates a ruling But the key men on the payroll class outlook that is even more rigid than that of some of the rulers themselves.

The United States is no ex- former generals or admirals. ception to this. In fact in recent years the reactionary weight of the officer caste in American yearly retirement pay. Martin politics has increased enormous-manipulation of war year. Air Force Major General contracts, which has received Frederick R. Dent, Jr., draws to jowl for the last crumb.

intelligence about it.

lucid missive:

... Too Many Babies?

(Continued from Page 1)

reach this frightening scientific conclusion. Perhaps the government slapped down tight security regulations. But is that no rational solution can be achieved in time to avert metric man would end up eating everything arithmetic, including wildlife, and then perish from famine; or whether it would be a disastrous race between geometric man and sity. He wrote a letter to the editor of the New York Times.

Here are some extensive quotations from this admirably

2,000,000,000), take the present doubling rate (once every fifty years), and project the population indefinitely into the future. We see that by the year 2000 there will be 4,000,000,000 people, by the year 2050 there will be 8,000,000,000, and so on, Before ten centuries will have passed, our descendants can count on having 200,000,000,000 neighbors - which is slightly more than the number of square feet of land surface on earth, including the South Pole, the Sahara Desert and Mount part to face reality. If you won't heed now, just "sit tight for yet another thousand years" and see what happens. As agree, it would be physically difficult, not to speak of the member of Congress, described as a "student of space," then be 2,000,000 people per square foot."

Don't smile. That reveals nothing but a refusal on your

"Take the world population at mid-century (about

"As a naturalist I can come to only one conclusion which

It is not clear whether Prof. Cowles meant that geo-

UPI did report the professor's gloomy prediction:

disaster to both wildlife and man himself."

$8,580 from the government and draws $25,000 a year in spending money from Martin. The lowest combined pension-salary drawn by any of the former top brass now employed by Martin

As for wining and dining, Martin keeps a plush Bahamas hangout. A House investigating committee made public the names of 27 high military officers who had been flown to this vacation resort at Martin's was General Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of

The House investigators sought to imply that the purpose of these lavish vacations was to exert improper influence in the granting of defense contracts. This was vigorously denied by George M. Bunker, chairman of the board. The Martin spokesman said that he couldn't believe that anyone could suspect that men of the caliber of his guests could be "improperly influenced" by playing golf with him.

The purpose of the Bahamas tagon is ploughing into the get-togethers, Bunker explained, was to get better acquainted al ballistic missile. The company and to help negotiations by providing a friendly atmosphere. This, of course, was strictly in number not more than 62. These the interests of national defense.

are all former officers on re-Bunker was no doubt telling to power. tirement pay. Nine of them are the truth. The fact that the Treasury Department refused to Former Air Force Major Genlet the company write off the eral K. E. Tibbets draws $10.830 trips as business expenses would offer confirmation that the supplements this with pin sprees were purely social. money amounting to $25,000 a

The main point is that such hobnobbing with the military brass on a social basis is practiced by the entire capitalist class. The rivalry of different companies for government contracts is not nearly so important as the knitting of social ties.

Moreover, the exercise of influence is not so crude as the political enemies of the Martin Company would imply. It is the hope of ultimate reward, not an immediate payoff, that attracts the highest type in the armed

What they look forward to are featherbeds stuffed with greenbacks on which they can an equally geometric wildlife for a common supply of take it easy in their old age. arithmetic food. The final picture as the curtain descends They visualize a position like seems, nevertheless, depressingly clear - man and cock- the one given Gen. Douglas roach in countless billions on a barren earth fighting cheek MacArthur — $100,000 a year at handed Gen. Lucius D. Clay -This geometric business may seem too complicated $108,000 a year at Continental and abstruse to bother about. A fatal error! It happens to Can.

be the foe's secret weapon. Robert C. Cook, president of the Population Reference Bureau, for instance, sought to F. Edward Herbert (D-La.) has arouse America to the peril with the declaration that pre- revealed that 762 former milisent rates of population growth are "as ominous a threat tary officers are employed by of urchins who began to yell, stable class equilibrium seems to all the democratic parties we to mankind as the H-bomb." We had best approach the the country's 100 top defense 'Algeria for the Arabs, down prevail. The boom has trickled are at the side of General De deadly geometric ratio with respect and seek some military | contractors who monopolize | with Massu!' some 80% of all weapons contracts. All of them held ranks One person who has acted as a true public servant no lower than that of colonel in dren." should, in a question of such grave consequences, is Richard the Army or Air Force or cap-C. Bradley, Assistant Professor of Physics, Cornell Univer- tain in the Navy.

Here are some typical cases: Major General Edmond H. Leavy, now employed by International Telephone and Telegraph at an annual salary of $84,000; General Benjamin W. Chidlaw, now drawing $67,000 a year from the Thompson. Ramo-Woolridge Co.; General James Doolittle, a $50,000-ayear man with the same company; Lt. General Kenneth B. Wolfe, Garrett Corp., $50,000; Major General Alfred Boyd, Westinghouse, $50,000; and Lt. this feeling that the fascists in General Clarence S. Irvine, Avco Corp., $46,000.

Mills' Observation

Prof. Bradley notes, having wisely anticipated the probable reaction of the ignorant and the light-minded; "there will In his book, "The Power Elite," C. Wright Mills made the following instructive observa-That ought to bring you up short. What do you protion on the sociological meaning pose to do with that problem in your lap? Try to jam of the intimate ties between the 2.000.000 people into one square foot? Obviously, you'll corporations and the military:

"It is difficult to avoid the objections you'd get from the 2,000,000. Therefore, you've inference that the warlords, in got to make more room. How? Prof. Bradley says that a their trade of fame for fortune, are found useful for the corporation executives more besuggested that the extra people could be shipped off to cause of whom they know in the power a figure whose record and the Moslems before there had of its rules and ways than because of what they know of throw the general, who would determination" vote in Algeria finance and industry proper...

traffic that goes on between the military and corporate realms, however, is more important as one clue to a structural fact about the United States than as ling war contracts. Back of this shift at the top, and behind the American capitalism to a per manent war economy." Dr. Mills adds, ". . . as the conomy has become concentrated and incorporated into great hierarchies, the military has become enlarged and detary have become structurally and deeply interrelated, as the economy has become a seemingly permanent war economy."

Military Brass Are the Same And After De Gaulle Who Will Rule France?

Workers Need A Leninist Party

By Murry Weiss

The near toppling of De Gaulle's Fifth Republic by the same colonialist-fascist clique that installed it only twenty months ago can best be understood only in the context of the acute historical crisis of French capitalism since the close of World War II.

But how can one speak of a crisis of such scale when France is enjoying an economic boom? The question should be turned around. How can we explain the expense. Heading the guest list paradox that despite an economic boom a major governmental crisis erupted involving nothing less than who controls the French army?

Abdicates Twice

The De Gaulle regime has replaced itself and in the process parliament of the Fifth Republic partist pretender; the situation has abdicated to the "strong deteriorated until the fascists, man" - this time granting him growing in strength and aggresunlimited dictatorial decree

But the whip hand is held by the colonialist-military group which strikingly resembles the Franco-type fascists. De Gaulle has been called upon to save the nation twice from the very fascist clique which raised him

Thus we note three outstanding features in the current crisis: (1) the clear threat of a military-fascist coup, reaching from Algiers into the highest echelons of the French army; (2) the incapacity of French capitalism to continue its rule through traditional bourgeois parliamentary methods; (3) the granting of dictatorial powers to a would-be national saviour who thunders, "I am the state," but who at the same time reveals repeatedly that he can settle nothing fundamental.

These appear to be the classic features of a capitalist country in the throes of a major social crisis which can be solved in only one of two ways: a socialist revolution bringing the workers to power, or a fascist counter-

Knew Their Politics

On Jan. 28 the fascists set up loudspeakers at the edge of the Casbah, the old Moslem part of Algiers. They harangued the populace for three hours to whip up a parade of Arabs to the Only 27 responded. They were preceded, according to the New York Times, "by a small crowd revolution that smashes all the workers' organizations. In the thirties Europe witnessed more than one situation of this kind.

Pattern of the Thirties

The social crisis of capitalism pened major revolutionary opportunities for the workers' parties; the false policies of the Stalinist and Social Democratic leadership blocked this progressive outcome; the middle class, seeking a way out, became ripe for fascist 'demagogues and a mass fascist movement; when the two extreme camps - the fascists and the proletariat stood in irreconcilable opposition to each other but were still unable to strike a decisive blow bringing the other down, a period of extremely unstable equilibrium opened up - the nation teetered on the edge of a knife.

Bonapartist figures then rose in succession, each concentrating more personal power (on paper) accentuated all its Bonapartist than his predecessor. The workfeatures. For the second time in ers' leaders lost their heads comits twenty-month history, the pletely, supporting each Bonasiveness, struck their fatal blow.

> This pattern is discernible in the logic of the current situation. It is necessary, however, to take into account the economic boom, the colonial revolution and Wall Street's interest in what happens in France to see how these key elements modify the pattern, slowing down the process in some respects and accelerating it in others.

For the past twenty-six years, France has been gripped by repeated crises. The workers could easily have come to power in 1934-36, in 1944-45, in 1947, and in 1953. Each of the opportunities was muffed because the French working class had no mass party of sufficient Leninist quality to resolutely lead the struggle to victory.

Capitalism was given the opportunity to recuperate, to rebuild its political parties, and to achieve a measure of internal economic stability. It should be noted well that the French capitalists could never have succeeded in this without massive aid from Wall Street. At the same time Washington sank billions of dollars in attempts of the French imperialists to save their crumbling colonial empire. These attempts failed due to factors relating to the overall world crisis of capitalism as a whole in face of the colonial revolution and rising Soviet power. This gives us the key to the paradoxical events in France today.

Precarious Base France itself a relatively eran said: 'You cannot hit chil- of the worst effects of their pre- Gaulle's policies. viously unbearable situation. On The Communist party, too,

Bonapartist "Saviour"

Gen. de Gaulle in typical oratorical pose a year ago tells audience at Perpignan that people will have to sacrifice living standards to restore "grandeur" of France. In tradition of French Bonapartes. De Gaulle seeks to balance between contending classes. His illusions of grandeur are thought by some to be symptoms of megalomania; by others a theatrical pose; but may be a combination of both.

tary defeats at the hands of freedom-seeking colonial movements the civilian population. has provoked crisis after crisis the army is the pivot of today's is the dark pool from which the crisis. But the army is a com- fascist ultras draw their cadres can come together with a venpact expression of the society and link them in turn with the geance. The Bonapartism of that produces it. The high com- nuclei of fascist groups in Charles de Gaulle is a warning mand and the professional France itself.

the most reactionary layers of Outstanding among these are in capitalist political rule. Each the Algerian colons: one million of these reveals how precarious French settlers who have a dithe stability of that rule really rect economic stake in the exploitation of the Moslem popula-All commentators agree that tion of some nine million. This dle class, disoriented and demoralized, can be readily mobilized not only for the bloody war against the Algerian people but against the French working class - once the situation is ready for it.

Obviously the French bigbusiness men and their American backers prefer to rule without unleashing the Algerian "desperadoes" and "gangsters." Obviously they threw the weight of their great influence in the top command of the army behind De Gaulle. But the German capitalists, too, preferred to rule without Hitler and held him back for some years.

Workers Need to Act

The point deserving special attention is that the ruling class is not in complete control of these matters. The fascists strike repeatedly at the rotting structure of parliamentary bourgeois democracy. At a certain point, the ruling circles become indecisive and begin to vacillate. If the working class fails to take hold and settle accounts with the fascists in time, big capital may the other hand the chain of mili- | cadres are closely linked with | swing to backing the fascists and close out the opportunity for a workers' revolution for an extended period.

The factors slowing down the wing to fascism in France are relative. Should a considerable downturn in the economic cycle occur, all the elements of crisis such as we saw in the thirties of the gravest character.

than abandonment of the aim

The next time the fascists attempt a coup the army brass might well decide to join them in launching a civil war

designed to settle accounts

Meanwhile, the reactionaries have witnessed that on all crucial occasions, the working-class leaders have failed to mobilize

the class for a showdown struggle, but relied on capitalist politicians instead - including

De Gaulle whom the fascists

Even more damaging, the passivity of the labor movement

If the boom checked this ten-

The French working class

counter the deepening reaction-new leadership armed with a

Advertisement

If Negro History Week reminds you to fill in some of those gaps in your knowledge.

Start with These

Negroes on the March - 1

Frenchman's Report on the American Negro, by Daniel

here's a good list of books to start studying.

threat.

helped place in power.

with the workers.

12 Million in One-Hour Strike

(Continued from Page 1)

the workers in the struggle against the recurring fascist threat. Despite the gravity of the situation, marked by the army brass nearly going over to the rebellion, no labor leader demanded that De Gaulle arm the workers.

While the crisis raged, there were reports about the scurrying of pro-rebel Marshal Juin, about cabinet members packing suitcases for flights to Algeria to join the colons, about obscure fascist deputies organizing student strikes. Every penny-ante capitalist politician sought to make a bit of hay for his backers. But not the bureaucratic leaders of the working class. They stood in stiff salute to De Gaulle as if they had undergone the instant Birdseye process in 1958 and were still in deep

Guy Mollet, leader of the Socialist party, declared that "with down to the working class and Gaulle in action." By "action" "A chagrined European vet- the farmers and softened some Mollet meant approving De

. Deputies OK Dictatorship eral in Algeria, and Gen. es from loudspeakers on the (Continued from Page 1) for independence but the De Maurice Challe, commander of barricades about dying rather

Gaulle regime itself. Sections of the insurrectionists' bandwagon. There could be no mistaking the anger of the overwhelming majority of the people in France at the uprising. So manifest was France dared not agitate or demonstrate on the scale of 1958 when a similar insurrection brought De Gaulle to power. It was clear that the Algiers plotters could win in France only by fighting a civil war — a terrible risk, because if they lost, the victor on the field would be an armed working class. In 1958 the French capitalists, Algeria. He denounced the insections of the government bur-surgent leaders and said the eaucracy and Roman Catholic army must put them down. He hierarchy had taken advantage reiterated that he would not neof the Algiers coup to bring to gotiate with the FLN leaders of 1960 Algiers coup were to over- army would supervise the "selfsucceed him? The discredited (four years after the French will "The increased personnel right-wing politician, Bidault? have decided peace has been re-Gen. Massu or some other general? Were such military figures politically capable and trust- headquarters in Algeria appearworthy or incompetents and adventurers unable to control the the insurrection. National situation?

> The risks were too great, the desirability of concluding the expensive and hopeless Algerian war with concessions short of independence too great, for the French capitalist class to take the gamble proposed by the fascists and army on offices and homes of fascist leaders in France. To show his 'impartiality" he had police confiscate several issues of the Communist party newspaper L'Hu- units composed mainly of draftmanite and other antifascist ees. The orders were enforced journals. He ordered Paul De- and though the fascist leaders quarters twenty-five miles southwest of the city.

An appeal by Delouvrier to the Moslems, who constitute 88% of Algeria's population, to demonstrate on De Gaulle's behalf fell on deaf ears. A similar attempt by the colons to organize a Moslem demonstration failed miserably. On Jan. 29 De Gaulle made a televised speech announcing that he would not back down on his 'self-determination" plan for

Following this speech, army ed to have decided to wind up guardsmen, who constituted a large part of the insurgents. were ordered to report to their units, civilian crowds were forbidden to congregate at the barricades, etc. But the next day the military's intention was again in doubt because the orders had not been enforced. Paratroopers again permitted De Gaulle ordered police raids crowds to ignore the curfew and to pass through their ranks.

On Jan. 31, however, the units of the notorious Tenth Paratroop Division were replaced by louvrier, France's Delegate Gen- still made melodramatic speech- Militant on to a friend?

the French army there, to leave than surrendering, arrangements his cabinet and parliament made the city of Algiers where they for surrender were made that successful to that extent? preparations for jumping onto were too susceptible to the in- night. The high command was fluence of the insurrectionists. most generous — officially it was They moved to a secret head- not to be a surrender at all but a voluntary transfer to active duty with the friendly paratroopers.

> Since these paratroopers are mercenaries whose enlistment term is five years a special provision was made by which the insurgents would become special attached units with a six-month enlistment period.

During the night all insurrectionists who wished to escape were permitted to do so - this included two of the three principal fascist leaders. On Feb. 1 the insurgents came marching out of their redoubt like conquering heroes. As crowds cheered they saluted and marched to the trucks waiting to take them off to their paratroop-

Those who did not wish to go were allowed to put down their guns and simply walk

About 420 got into the trucks, but their term of enlistment was quickly whittled down. Three hundred of them were back in Algiers the next night. Two days later reports had it that less than 50 were still with the paratroopers and their term of active duty, "fighting the fellaghas," was being reduced to two months.

Only one person, Pierre Lagaillarde, leader of the fascist Jeune Nation group, was exempted from the honors accorded the insurgents by the army brass. Apparently on De Gaulle's insistence, he was arrested and sent to France.

Why not pass this copy of the Paris in the Jan. 31 N.Y. Times, ed in 1958 and in the recent Al-"found kind words for the giers rebellion because big busi-President's reaffirmation of the ness and the army brass finally self-determination policy and lined up behind De Gaulle. But his desire to 'liquidate the Fas- considerations of timing rather cist riot in Algiers.'" Thus the workers' leaders be- of crushing the working class wrote W. Granger Blair from | back down. The fascists retreat-determined their decision. haved much as they had in May 1958 when the CP and SP deputies in parliament voted for the capitalist politician Pflimlin in the hope that he would stop De Gaulle and the insurgent generals in Algiers. Pflimlin handed the power to De Gaulle. The latter's accession to power marked a profound shift to the right in French politics with the workers thrown on the defensive. The outcome of the current crisis has been a further shift to the right.

The CP and SP policies are leads the wavering middle classstrongly reminiscent of the pol- es to lose confidence in the icy followed by the German So- workers' capacities to act and cial Democrats on the eve of pushes them over to the side of Hitler's taking power in 1933. the fascist demagogues. The Social Democratic leaders backed Marshal Hindenburg, re- dency in May 1958 and again lying on him to stop the Nazis. during the recent rebellion by A few months later Hinden- lessening the discontent of the burg handed the power to Hit- petty-bourgeoisie with existing ler, who then subjected the conditions, a downswing of the working class to a blood bath. ecónomy can render the ten-

But the situation in France is dency fully operative. different, it will be argued. Didn't De Gaulle stand firm must prepare without delay to against the fascists? And wasn't the policy of supporting him ary trend. The workers need a Though the fascists have revolutionary-socialist program.

backed down they are by no They need leaders who seek to means crushed. Despite the dic- mobilize the power and milittatorial powers De Gaulle has ancy of the class not just for an now seized he is unable as a hour but for as long as it takes capitalist politician to destroy to really dispose of the fascist the formations of extreme bourgeois reaction. Alexander Werth, for instance, notes in the Feb. 6 Nation that De Gaulle is said to have shifted some 1,400 officers with fascist leanings out of Algeria after May 1959. And still the army wavered between the colons and Paris at the height of the recent crisis. New shifts will not remove the threat of a new coup. A working-class offensive, leading to the creation of a socialist government, alone can break up and disarm the fascist concentrations.

Nor is there the slightest assurance that the next time the fascists bid for power, De Gaulle vill be able to force them to meaning of big events at home and abroad, you need the Militant. Try it for six months. Send your same and address and $1.

Subscribe!

The Militant 116 University P1. New York 3, N.Y.

Enclosed				ix-
onths tria	l subs	cripti	on.
me		3. f
-0.5	17.5	4
reet
t y	N O	Zoi	ne
ate /		Transition of

Guerin. Cloth $1.50, paper $1 Black Reconstruction in America — 1860-1880, by W E. B. DuBois. $3.95. Caste, Class & Race - A Study in Social Dynamics, by Oliver Cromwell Cox. $3.75. Thaddeus Stevens, by Ralph Korngold. A biography of one of the toughest political fighters in the history of the struggle for Negro equality. $1.69.

The Strange Career of Jim Crow, by C. Vann Woodward. A brief account of segregation. $1.19.

Tender Warriors, by Dorothy Sterling. Story and pictures of the Little Rock struggle for school integration. $.59

Negro Equality. A resolution of the Socialist Workers party. 25 cents. The Struggle for Negro Equality, by John Saunders

The Class Struggle Road to and Albert Parker. 10 cents. Pioneer Publishers

116 University Place New York 3. N.Y.

other planets. "Let's look at that," the physics professor military and what they know policy they well knew. If the been a cease-fire and that the coolly suggests: "Just to maintain the present status quo we would have" to export 100,000 persons each day (present daily net increase). Assuming each person weighs 150 pounds and is permitted to carry an additional fifty pounds of food, clothes and knickknacks, we find that the daily cargo comes to about 10,000 tons - approximately the weight of a Liberty ship. Why this expert on population explosion thinks we should send valuable food, clothes and knickknacks into an expeditious means of handouter space along with the excess humans is not clear. A Freudian might ascribe it to an unconscious streak of increased military budget upon humanism that broke through to the surface. Fortunately which it rests, lies the great it was not strong enough to block the stream of scientific structural shift of modern thought:

"The Congressman would do well to get his bill approved soon, for if it is delayed fifty years (while people ponder where to get enough fuel for this program or where to find a habitable planet) the daily cargo will have increased to Clearly we face an enemy of baffling nature. He seems cisive to the shape of the entire to have breached our defenses in such subtle fashion that economic structure; and, morewe are scarcely aware of the swiftly mounting danger. High over, the economy and the militime that our best minds began grappling with the immensely difficult problem of what to do!

(Next week: Closing in on the enemy.)

Subscription: $3 a year; Canadian, $3.50; foreign, $4.50.

Second class postage paid

Editor: JOSEPH HANSEN Business Manager: KAROLYN KERRY Published weekly by the Militant Publishing Assn., 116 University Pl., N.Y. 3, N.Y. Phone: CH 3-2140. igned articles by contributors do not necessarily represent the Militant's policies. These are expressed in editorials

Vol. XXIV — No. 6

Monday, February 8, 1960

And "Peaceful Coexistence"?

What happened to "peaceful coexistence" during those tense eight days the fascist-minded colons ruled Algiers from their barricades? It seemed to vanish completely from the press as the world waited for the French generals to make up their minds whether now was the time to topple Izvestia, newspaper of the Soviet government, even permitted itself an irritated remark Jan. 28: "It is no wonder that the outbreak continues spreading like an epidemic when no steps are taken against it." That observation, made at the height of the crisis, offers an ironic commentary on how utopian Khrushchev's slogan of "peaceful coexistence" is in the real world of the class struggle.

The insurrection in Algiers also offers fresh evidence of the treacherous character of the slogan. At the close of World War II, the only significant power in France was that of the armed working class. For several years the workers sought repeatedly to establish a government of their own. However, the bureaucratic leadership at the head of the major working-class political parties and the trade unions chose to follow a policy of maintaining the status quo; that is, "peaceful coexistence" with the capitalists.

The result was the weakening of working-class political strength and the bolstering of the capitalist parties, with extreme reaction the ultimate beneficiary. Today, as the events in Algeria eloquently testify, a fascist victory has become a real possibility in France.

The status quo thus steadily altered from the possibility of an easy socialist victory toward a fascist "solution" of the class struggle. France was at the brink of this in 1958. The installation of De Gaulle's regime constituted recognition of this fact. It registered the new status quo of a France teetering at the edge of civil war. De Gaulle's job was to maintain "peaceful coexistence" by keeping the new relation of class forces in balance.

The balance, however, did not remain fixed despite the appearance of frozen immobility since 1958. Working-class political strength declined still further as the labor leaders supported De Gaulle. Proof of this was the explosion in Algeria.

The lesson about the suicidal folly of workers seeking to maintain a reactionary status quo applies in the world arena, too. The working class faces further weakening and ultimate catastrophe if it permits itself to believe Khrushchev's propaganda that the enmity of American big business for the Soviet Union can be transformed into willingness to coexist peacefully.

American capitalism is as determined to settle accounts eventually with the Soviet bloc as the French capitalists are to for socialism by the workers of all countries — a struggļe which Khrushchev opposes with his slogan of "peaceful coexist- med the Asbury Methodist another test that must be passed neck." ence" - American imperialism will again Church here yesterday for the take us to the brink of war.

Not Unexpected

The uprising of the colons in Algeria may have come as an unexpected shock to many people. Readers of the Militant, however, were not caught unawares. We began warning about the dangerous tendency toward fascism in France some

For example, Murry Weiss wrote Nov. 23, 1953, "We have already commented in previous articles on the ominous signs of a counter-revolutionary mobilization around a military-colonialist clique in France, highly reminiscent of the Franco gang in Spain. It would be folly to ignore these signs. They are a warning to the working class — in the struggle against capitalism it is victory or death."

When De Gaulle took power, the American press hailed it as "proof of the profoundly democratic basis and structure of France." (New York Times, June 8,

The Militant took a different view. John Thayer, for instance, wrote June 9, 1958: "Far from ringing down the final curtain, De Gaulle's capture of the premiership has only opened the turbulent drama . . . De Gaulle is starting off as the classical type of Bonapartist rule . . . But such a regime today can only be transitional. De Gaulle has long legs but they cannot forever span the growing gap between the classes in France."

A week later, June 16, Thayer wrote: "The possibility exists that the forces in Algeria might yet attempt to establish their own direct military rule over France in the near future . . . Unless the workers are presented with a true alternative an independent counteroffensive against De Gaulle . . . the French working class a detailed description of the will be limited to grudging support of the 'lesser evil' — today the Bonapartist De Gaulle instead of the semifascist Soustelle register and vote in the South. and the paratroop General Massu."

In the same way, an editorial in the summer 1958 issue of the International Socialist Review declared: "If De Gaulle's accession to power is the 'moderate' be- use the church was withdrawn Days," he said. "When we regginning of totalitarian rule in France it after the ultra-reactionary radio does not take much perspicacity to fore- and newspaper commentator, cast what extremes the next stages can Fulton Lewis, Jr., launched a bring . . . "

Bonapartistic and the broad history of this Braden, one of the principal or- er members of our organization form of rule was outlined. "The Bonapar- ganizers of the project. tist of today," said the editorial, "... tries to keep the polarizing class forces in some | Southern Conference Educakind of balance, no matter how precarious, while the fascist drilling and recruiting

De Gaulle's coming to power, the editorial said, "marks a qualitative turning point — the end of capitalist democracy in France, the beginning of totalitarianism. This holds true no matter what delays may occur in liquidating the more important conquests of democracy and no matter how delia Jo Anne Adams, a student moderate may be the opening period of decree rule. Unless the workers call a halt bama. Miss Adams described her to the Bonapartist development by vigorously pressing for the alternative of socialism, fascism will sweep France."

The uprising in Algeria was another indication of the pertinency of that cils, paper . . . and told to copy,

China Serves Notice

With disarmament talks scheduled to begin this month, Foreign Minister Chen Yi of the Chinese People's Republic served notice Jan. 21 that ". . . any international disarmament agreement which is arrived at without formal participation of the Chinese People's Republic or signature of its delegates cannot . . . have any binding force on China."

On the same day, Secretary of State Herter, testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, stated that the participation of the Chinese People's Republic was "inevitable" if a disarmament agreement were to be concluded between East and West.

Does this mean that Herter recognized the justice of Chen Yi's stand? No. According to Neal Sanford of the Christian Science Monitor, the State Department's position is that until "one knows whether the Soviets (that is, the Communist world) are ready to discuss disarmament seriously it is not necessary to admit Communist China to the talks."

Sanford quotes State Department press officer Lincoln T. White: "... if substantial progress is made toward a workable . . . disarmament program, that is the time to consider participation by other countries, including Red China."

Under this formula, Washington intends to treat the Soviet delegates as spokesmen for the Chinese. The further implication is that Washington will not agree to seat the Peking representatives unless they accept in advance whatever is decided by the United States and Soviet pages to one of the two Board governments.

It is against this kind of double-dealing that Chen Yi's warning is directed. And quite properly, we believe.

First, Peking's stand is in accordance with the democratic right of the Chinese people to be represented by their own government in international relations and er consideration of this office. not by the government of some other coun-

Second, China's defense needs are not identical with those of the USSR. A U.S. agreement to dismantle all or some of the military bases threatening the Soviet Union might not affect bases specifically aimed at the Chinese People's Republic.

Third, the Chinese government has indicated important differences with the Soviet evaluation of current American Mrs. Lassiter has been waging a foreign policy. The Soviet leaders say that court fight since 1956 for her American big-business policy makers now right to vote. In 1958, her at genuinely seek peace, whereas the Chinese torney, James R. Walker, Jr. leaders say that despite the Eisenhower administration's peace talk, U.S. ruling circles are still preparing for war. Obviously, a difference of this kind precludes the Soviet leaders from adequately negotiating for the Chinese.

We believe it is high time the State Department stopped acting as if the government of 650 million people, created by this trial for registration, she a great social revolution, either didn't gives you a copy of the Constiexist, was doomed to disappear shortly, or tution to read from and you beconstituted a branch office of the Kremlin. Let's recognize the People's Republic of China and end the economic blockade.

Collusion of FBI with Racists crush the working-class movement in France. Detailed at D.C. Rights Hearing

WASHINGTON, D. C. - Fif-| "For those who passed the that voting issue, you will come in five Southern states and the District of Columbia.

A panel headed by Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam heard harassment and economic reprisals suffered by Negroes who have fought for their right to integration organizations, the hearing was originally slated to red-baiting attack against spon-De Gaulle's rule was analyzed as for special attention was Carl

A field organizer for the tional Fund, Braden has been victimized by racist authorities in Louisville and by the House Un-American Activities Committee for his militant integrationist activities.

Typical Story

A typical story of the methods used to prevent Negroes from registering was told by Miss Fiat the Tuskegee Institute in Alaexperience Aug. 4, 1958, in the office of the Macon County Board of Registrars: "Upon entering the office, I was requested to be seated, given two penin its entirety, Article II of the United States Constitution.

"After I had completed this 1959, after not hearing from the Board of Registrars, I wrote a formal letter of complaint to the Attorney General of the State of Alabama. On January 23, I received a reply from this letter in which it was stated that this matter would be given the prop-As of this date, I have had no other communications from either the Board of Registrars nor the office of the Attorney General . . .

Shook His Finger

A vivid description of the rigged voting tests for Negroes was offered by Mrs. Louise Lassiter of Seaboard, North Carolina. Despite fierce intimidation was convicted of "assaulting" a white woman at the board of registration because he shook his finger at her during an argument about her refusal to register Negroes.

Mrs. Lassiter told the commission that Negroes are submitted to "a trial," not a test. "The first step," she said, "in gin reading until she says stop, and you ask her, did you pass; and she says, no. You mispronounced a word . . ."

. . That test is taking dictation first hearing of the Volunteer from the registrar as she reads Civil Rights Commission heard the Constitution. In this test, you the moving story of ten Negroes fail if you do not dot an 'I' or deprived of their right to vote cross a 'T.' When trying to keep up with the reading by the registrant, the fact that she reads too fast or that you need time to think of any spelling of words is not taken into consideration . . .

Curry F. Boyd is a Tennessee high school teacher. He lives in Haywood County which has Sponsored by sixteen southern population of 26,000 of which approximately 18,000 are Negroes. "We have not had a single be held at the Vermont Ave. Negro registered in Haywood Baptist Church. Permission to county since the Reconstruction istered our charter in the courthouse, a white man took his stick and beat one of our members, who went to pick up the charter, to the extent he had to receive stitches on his face. Othwere made to move — those who were tenant farmers were made to move. Others were fired outright . . .

> "We have had all kinds of threats . . . We have been denied loans from banks and most of the business places will not deal with our members any more. Back in 1940, one of the citizens was lynched because he wanted to vote. The FBI investigated this and they investigated the investigation . . . We have had visits from the [Civil Rights] Commission but so far, we still don't have any Negroes registered."

The most tense moment of the nearing came with the testimony of John McFerren of Fayette County, Tenn. As he told the story of the harrowing experiences suffered by himself, his family and friends as a retask I had approximately eight sult of their organized fight for pages of longhand. I gave these voting rights, he became so choked with emotion that he had of Registrars . . . In January to temporarily leave the witness

FBI "Investigation"

He described how, after/countess runarounds, the people of his county had filed a federal suit. "During the federal suit, the FBI came out in the field and investigated me. When they investigated me, he brought back the report and gave the report to the sheriff. That put me on the hot dog stand.

"Johnson was the FBI man. He gave the report to the sheriff and immediately after then, my life was threatened." (At this point Mr. McFerren was unable to continue.)

When he resumed testifying McFerren said: "From that day Seen as Cause of to this, my wife and family and myself were threatened. And Israel-Syria Strife this FBI man who came to investigate the rights to vote, he was a native of Fayette County . . I was on the hot dog stand. That is where I was. . .

"When we go to register, the landlord would walk up and down to see if any of his tenants were in line. When they go to register, the sheriff calls the names and calls the landlords, and the landlord would make him move that night. . . .

teen hundred persons who jam- first test in this trial, there is up with a necktie around your

"... because of this voting issue, my mother was run down with a two-and-a-half ton truck . . . my mother was in the yard and this guy, this man, with the two-and-a-half ton truck, was riding eight or nine miles an hour. He hit me and went across to my mother's yard and ran over her."

Mrs. Jewell Mazique of the Washington Elks Civil Liberties League delivered a damning indictment of the political and economic exploitation of Negroes and poor whites in the nation's capital and vigorously blasted customers shop in style; any pearance. She complements the 'those 'phony northern liberals' who masquerade as civil rights up a bit may retire to the Tal- mond clip or a poodle."

The American Way of Life

Security Begins in the Cradle

So the rich don't have problems! All you show when you say that is your ignorance. You never had to cut your eeth on a silver spoon. To get a better appreciation of the neadaches of the rich, I'd like to recommend an important and retreat with a Wedgwood blue azine of the New York Times. "3-Year-Olds in $200 Dresses" is the title.

"The Fifth Avenue departnent store executive who declared recently that fashion begins in the bassinet was, regrettably, serious," says Miss Weinman. "It takes no more than a short stroll through any one of the city's poshier baby boutiques, where trade is now brisk in resort wear for 2-yearolds, to realize that fashion plates nowadays are, if not born, at least being made while they are weaned.

On Cool Side

"In Central Park, little girls with imported tweeds . . . eye her monogram has been sewn each other in frigid appraisal. At those East Side birthday parties attended by junior editions of the Social Register, 4-yearolds wear pinafores custommade by top designers with as much nonchalance as a society matron sporting a little black nothing of a $300 dress."

New York's better shops, Miss Weinman found, are doing commendable work in aiding the mother who realizes that "it is never too soon to start teaching a child that the best things in life are wearable.

Bergdoff Goodman, for example, offers "a designer label dress for $150 (this, of course, is for the copy; the original costs $225). Admittedly, such prices are only for the important-occasion clothes . . . For the everyday dress worn by a 3-to-6-yearold — that is, the dress in which she will go to nursery school or what have you got? A neurotic, cavort about the house — the that's what." average price in this store is to compensate for the emotional insecurity such prices can cum Powder Room, an elegant informative article by Martha and white color scheme, gold-Weinman in the Jan. 31 mag- plated fixtures and, of course, nirrored walls."

Emilia Bellini takes another approach to the same difficult problem. This shop does not have a Talcum Powder Room, "but it does have christening dresses at $1,100, the theory being, perhaps, that the sooner one learns the feel of a good fabric the harder it will be to forget."

What you can run up against is indicated by the experience of a Fifth Avenue furrier who does a "thriving business in little girls' mink coats, at $1,800 apiece, but doesn't particularly enjoy it. Making mink for a 3year-old, it seems, is a hazardous race against time, since she may have outgrown it before into the lining."

Even worse are the abrupt shifts in style. This year's fashionable look for the 3-year-old, for example, was described by one designer as "a little bit of Victorian coupled with a touch of exotic French, with some casual California thrown in." Who knows what the combination will be next season?

Back of it all, naturally, is to be found intense concern that today's young rich people should enjoy a normal, healthy development. A manufacturer of baby clothes told Miss Weinman: "I sometimes think that what's wrong with kids psychologically is the parents putting them into any old thing. If a little girl doesn't look smart she doesn't feel smart. She never gets to develop what you might call a sense of emotional security. Then she grows up, and

Concern for the parents and their problems is evident, too. Considerable effort is made A designer, speaking "unofficially but from the heart," put it this way: "A well-dressed little arouse. "Bergdoff's smallest girl enhances her mother's aptoddler who wants to freshen parent as effectively as a dia-

- Alex Harte

In Other Lands

Thousands Purged by Trujillo

Catholic Bishops

Over 3,000 Dominican citizens newspaper Al Gomhouria which have been jailed recently and asks "What are the dangers are suffering from lack of food which face the Arabs if Israel and from mistreatment, accord- succeeds in implementing the ing to Nicolas Silfa, president scheme? of the Dominican Revolutionary York.

From Port-au-Prince, Haiti, eports have filtered through hat 1,500 persons were arrested in recent weeks, many of them oung people.

Opposition to Trujillo's murderous rule has apparently become so extensive that the six Catholic bishops in the Dominican Republic issued a pastoral Catholic churches pleading for those in jail.

The bishops declared their solidarity with "many families" bereaved. They declared themselves in favor of such personal rights as freedom of speech and assembly and in effect scored Trujillo for suppressing them. News of the pastoral letter was barred from the Dominican

The bishops' declaration 'served to confirm reports received by Dominican revolutionary organizations in New York of a serious uprising in the republic recently," says Will Lissher in the Feb. 3 New York Times. "As a result of the rising, thousands of Dominicans in business and the professions. agve been reported arrested."

Jordan River Plan

The incidents leading to the present conflict between Israel and Syria (with United Arab on the Egyptian border) stem from farming-right disputes in the no-man's land between the Syrian and Israeli armies.

However, the underlying issue appears to be tenseness over the Jordan River. The Feb. 1 Arab News and Views published by the Arab Information Center . . If you keep moving with waters of the Jordan River." diary bombs and delivering party obtained one seat.

The Jordan forms part of Is- them in planes proceeding from

Arab News and Views quotes a recent article in the Cario

"Firstly, Jordan would be departy, who is in exile in New prived of her main water resources on which she depends for irrigating vast areas in the

> "Secondly, Israel would be able to realize her dream of reclaiming and populating the Negev Desert.

"Thirdly, the project would feet economically, which in to the other involving several turn would increase her military hundred square miles and a strength and whet her appetiletter read in all the Roman tite for a new invasion of Arab

Planes Continue To Set Fires in Cuba's Cane Fields

Counter - revolutionaries, apparently based in Florida, have been flying in small planes over Cuba's sugar-cane fields dropping incendiary materials.

Due to the alertness of the field workers, most of the resulting fires have been contained fairly quickly.

The losses, however, have been mounting. For the past several weeks, scarcely a day passes without news in the Cuban press of fires that have consumed areas that would have yielded .hundreds of tons of

The Feb. 3 issue of Revolucion carries photographs of two incendiary bombs found by two workers. One of them had not yet exploded; the other was partially burned.

Made of wood, they carried a detonating device and a mixture Republic troops mobilizing also of explosives and phosphorus. The printing on the exterior was in English, clearly visible in the photographs.

The continued forays have

It appears strange to a public the American government in fact that the Congress, Praja "They call my wife over the in New York states that "Cairo's hounding "subversives" that it Socialist and Moslem parties telephone. They groan over the newspapers are giving banner should prove so inefficient in formed an electoral bloc against telephone like someone died. . . . headline play to Israel's an preventing counter-revolution the CP gave them the victory. And I, myself, was threatened nounced intention of diverting aries from manufacturing incen-

American bases.

This is one of the items behind the justifiable suspicion in Cuba that Eisenhower's pronouncements of friendship are not sincere.

China and Burma Reach Agreement On Border Dispute

The People's Republic of China and Burma have made a partial settlement of the border dispute that has flared periodically between the countries since help Israel stand on her own 1957. Each side yielded territory number of villages. The two countries also signed a ten-year non-aggression pact. Negotiations took place in Peking between Premier Chou En-lai of China and General Ne Win, Premier of Burma

> The boundary settlement implies China's recognition of the McMahon Line as Burma's northern frontier. At the same time in the swap of territories, Burma acquires land previously leased from China, through which Burma has built an important road.

> China will probably use the pact with Burma as a model for negotiations of the frontier dispute with India. The Chinese have indicated a willingness to recognize the McMahon Line as India's northeast border in exchange for India granting China territory in the northwest where China has built a road.

Communist Party Loses Kerala Vote

In the Kerala elections, Feb. 2, the anti-Communist-party alliance won 89 of the 126 seats in the state assembly. The CP won 28 and others had 3. Six constituencies are as yet unreported. /

Though it lost control of the been a source of much irritation state assembly which it had to Cuba. state assembly which it had gained in 1957, the CP kept about the same proportion of the quite aware of the efficiency of popular vote — about 35%. The

Your readers should know that Robert Williams, the militant civil-rights leader in Monroe, N.C., is being subjected to a seven-year-old white girl. a new harassment. His weekly ports that his auto insurance pite the fact that he has had no accidents or driving violations.

His insurance was similarly the Monroe Negro community re-elected. for self-defense against KKK raiders. Protests at that time including one from a northern since the same thing has been $4.75. The address is: The Crulabor union, persuaded the done to other militant southern sader, 410 North Boyte Street, come increasingly a thorn in companies are engaged in interternational proportions, for the grationists. release of the two Negro boys, eight and nine years old, who had been sent to a reformatory because one of them had kissed

Williams became the center newsletter, the Crusader, re- of wide controversy last year when the national officers of policy has been cancelled des- the NAACP suspended him as president of the Union County branch because of his call for that the Crusader, published by Southern Negroes to organize cancelled about a year and a to defend themselves against half ago after he had organized racist attack. He has since been

The cancellation of his insurance is particularly important tion is $2.50 and one year is company to reinstate his policy. civil-rights fighters. It seems to Monroe, N.C. Since then Williams has be- me that since these insurance the side of state officials and state commerce, a federal in other racists because of his vestigation should be demanded anti-segregation activity. He to determine if these companies was the organizer of the suc- have joined in a conspiracy for cessful fight, which assumed in- economic harassment of inte

> Or, in the case of Williams, does the cancellation of his policy indicate that the company has marked him as a "poor risk" because it is privy to information of white-supremacist plans of violence?

I would also like to suggest for those who may be interested, Mr. Williams, is an excellent source of information on current developments on the Southern integration front. Published weekly, a six-month subscrip-

New York

Was the Sentence Death?

By Flora Carpenter

Henry Winston, a Communist party leader imprisoned as a witch-hunt victim under the Smith Act, is in critical condition after a brain tumor operation Feb. 2 at Montefiore hospital in the Bronx, N. Y. If he survives, thanks go to John J. Abt, his attorney, his family and friends. Together, they battled federal prison authorities whose negligence and indifference prevented the sick man from receiving proper medical attention at a time when every minute counted.

For several months Winston had suffered from "bad headaches, dizzy spells, inability to walk and an eye hemorrhage," Abt reports. Prison officials gave him "some pills which turned out to be dramamine" (a drug generally used to help victims of dizziness).

When Abt insisted, a month ago, that his client "appeared gravely ill," prison authorities finally hospitalized Winston and had him examined by a doctor. Abt then wrote to the Warden at Terre Haute federal penitentiary, where Winston is serving the fourth year of an eight-year sentence, and James V. Bennett, director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, demanding that Winston receive competent medi-

On Jan. 21 a consultant examined the sick man and had him transferred to Springfield, Mo., prison hospital for diagnostic tests. Alarmed at the results of these tests, Abt applied for an immediate medical parole.

At the U.S. Parole Board hearing Jan. 26, Attorney Conrad Lynn, Rev. Edler D. Hawkins, Norman Thomas, and Rev. A. J. Muste spoke in support of the parole plea.

Meanwhile, Winston's family and friends fearful that any further delay in getting him expert professional attention might prove fatal, asked Roger N. Baldwin, former head of the American Civil Liberties Union, to intercede with Bennett. As a result, but not without further red tape, Abt managed to get Winston moved to New York for surgery on a "transfer in custody."

That was still not the end. After arriving at Montefiore Jan. 30, from the Springfield hospital, prison guards insisted on remaining in the desperately sick man's room. They withdrew to the corridors, early Sunday morning, after Abt bitterly protested.

One of 11 Communist party leaders, convicted under the infamous Smith "Gag" Act in the 1949 witch-hunt trial before Judge Harold Medina, Winston received a five-year prison term. He jumped bail. For this, an unusual three-year sentence was added to the five-year term after his surrender in 1956.

No decision has yet been reached by the U.S. Parole Board on Winston's appeal for a medical parole. The Worker, Communist party weekly, asks everyone who is against the witchhunt to write at once to James V. Bennett, director, Federal Bureau of Prisons, Department of Justice, Washington, D. C., demanding an end to this shocking persecution and gross miscarriage of justice by granting an immediate medical parole to Winston.

Notes in the News

LET THE DEBTOR BEWARE - The Federal Trade Commission has warned against a widespread crooked practice used by collection agencies to learn the place of employment of people who have been hooked on installmentan official-looking punched card designed to resemble a federal consus bureau form. The recipient is told: "Return this QUESTION-NAIRE form within five (5) days." Other similar forms are headed, "Treasurer's Office" or "Department of Disbursements." If you get one you may file it you-know-where without penalty.

A SLASHING CRACKDOWN - The New York Post reports that on Feb. 1 the state Rent Administration "slashed" rents on three ratinfested East Harlem tenements because the landlords had ignored orders to cope with the menace. The amount "slashed" from the rent was a great big 10%. In a further drastic move, the agency ordered that the cut be retroactive to Jan. 28, three days previous. These savings in rent should be enough for the tenants to buy their own rat traps.

A FEW GOOD APPLES IN EVERY BARREL - Revelations of burglary and other crimes committed by members of the Chicago police force have evoked the usual explanatory statements from authorities. One Chicago citizen insists that an unnamed police official explained that you can't hold the whole force responsible; not all cops are crooks; among 10,000 there are bound to be a few honest ones.

COMMUNIST PARTY OFFICIALS IN NEW YORK - The Jan. 31 issue of the Worker reported that the New York state committee of the Communist party had elected the following officers: Clarence Hathaway, chairman; William L. Patterson, vice-chairman; Arnold Johnson, vice-chairman; William Albertson, organizational secretary; Milton Rosen, labor secretary; Betty Gannett, educational secretary; Esther Cantor, legislative secretary. The Worker also announced the appointment of James Jackson as editor of the paper. In CP circles the predominance of the names of old-time national functionaries was felt to reflect the party's inability to replenish its local leadership.

SURVIVES OLD-FASHIONED DANGER-Dr. Linus Pauling, the Nobel prize-winning chemist who has played an outstanding role in warning the world of the dangers of atomic fallout, was rescued Feb. 1 after being trapped for 24 hours on a cliff near Monterey, Calif. A firm believer in safety, he simply waited for help to arrive after he became lost on a short

. . . . JUSTIFIABLE INSANITY? - Kenneth A. Johnson, who has an 18-year history as a paranoid schizophrenic, was hospitalized in Minneapolis Jan. 30 after he stabbed six people. Johnson told authorities he stabbed them because he thought they were Russians and "because we are at war with Russia."

WELL BREWED LOGIC - An editorial in the Montreal Star, reported in the February Consumers Reports, discusses a letter introduced as evidence in a Canadian court case. An intercompany memorandum from one brewery to intended that such provisions be another, the letter described price-cutting as "the most vicious form of competition that we "was based upon an under- areas; protective walks around us?" and "We want a settlement could possibly engage in as eventually nobody standing, however mistaken, that tracks; lunchroom facilities; cor- in writing!" — Schwartz ad-

KILLER ESCAPES DEATH PENALTY -Katie Ann Creel, a 17-year-old white girl was sentenced to life imprisonment Jan. 28 by a Savannah, Ga., jury for the killing of Joel Ross, a Negro teen-ager. The prosecutor described the pistol murder as "a thrill killing . . . the most senseless slaying I have ever heard of."

THE PRICE OF TRANQUILITY - CIBA Pharmaceutical Products, Inc., demands $39.50 a thousand from druggists for one brand of its tranquilizer tablets. It offered the same tablet to the U.S. government for 60 cents a thousand in a competitive bid, according to the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee.

WIRED FOR SPEED - If you are a beltline worker don't be surprised if the foreman wants to hook you up to a UNOPAR. That's a Universal Operator Performance Analyzer and Recorder. Invented by a couple of professors at the University of Washington, it's designed to help organize assembly lines to "eliminate waste action." A small transmitter is attached to the worker's wrist and connected by thin wires to an overhead oscillator that generates sound waves above the audible range, so the noise will not distract the worker. Ultrasonic waves are transmitted to instruments which record the motions of the hand, displacement of position, velocity and acceleration. Reporting this development, one union paper noted that all that's missing is an old long-handled broom.

THAT CAMP DAVID SPIRIT - "I wasn' aware of any spirit of Camp David . . . the talks there went on in an atmosphere that was personally friendly. That's all that the spirit of Camp David could be defined." (Pres. Eisenhower, Feb. 3.)

DISCOURAGING BOOM - "Bank holdups are headed for an all-time high. Although 1932 still holds the record with 554 stick-ups, the statistical count for the year ending August 31, 1959, is 346 bank robberies with a take of $1,407,000, more than three times the loot of a decade earlier, and the top of the wave is not in sight.

"What explains this resurgence of a crime that had ceased to pay by the late 1930's? It is not the old-time professionals who are back on the job, but amateurs who wish to short-cut the banks' personal-loan department. One bandit said he robbed to protect his credit rating; others say they help the economy by putting money into circulation. Three-fourths of the lone bandits now robbing banks are not caught.

"Worried about the robbery boom, the FBI is urging banks to train their employees in bandit-resistant techniques. New protective devices include still and movie cameras that photograph the bandit in the act. In Cleveland a TV showing of a holdup caused a bandit to give himself up and discouraged other holdups for months." - Fortune, January 1960.

THE MILITANT

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1960

Minor Parties Maintain Ballot Rights in Minn.

VOLUME XXIV

MINNEAPOLIS - An apparent move to bar minor party presidential nominees from the Minnesota state ballot has been dropped. Despite omission of provisions in the current election law for the nomination of independent candidates by petition, Attorney General Miles Lord has ruled that minority parties may continue to secure a ballot place through that means.

On Dec. 30, state election officer Tom Kelly had advised the press that "A thorough study of the revised election laws indicates that only the two major parties are eligible to have presidential electors on the ballot in

This statement was based on he action of the state legislature which, in revising the election law, simply dropped the provision whereby minority parties may win a place on the ballot by submitting the signatures of

In a statement the same day, Vincent R. Dunne, state chairman of the Socialist Workers party announced that the party would make a full-scale fight against the attempted ban.

In New York on Jan. 4, Roland Watts, legal director of the American Civil Liberties Union, said that the ACLU would support a legal challenge of such a ballot proscription.

Then, in a legal opinion addressed to the Secretary of State dated Jan. 15, Attorney General Lord ruled that the lack of mention of procedure for independent nominations did not bar the filing and acceptance of the usual petitions.

Lord pointed out that minority parties have placed candidates for the presidency on the state ballot in every election since 1876 and that there is no legal basis for now denying them a ballot place.

He said that "in the absence of a clear legislative intent to deprive minority parties of the means of proposing candidates for presidential electors, that the means available to them in the past should be found to be still available."

Despite the absence of specific mention of such provision in the currently revised statutes, he included. "The deletion," he said, presidential electors."

On Jan. 31, George Goldfarb, a revolutionary socialist for the past twenty-one/ years, died in New York at the age of forty-two. He succumbed to Hodgkin's disease - a form of

with the Socialist Workers party on the night of Feb. 20,

1939, when at the call of the

SWP, 50,000 anti-fascists demonstrated outside Madison

Square Garden against the Nazi Bund. George was one of the demonstrators. He joined the party shortly afterwards and plunged into party-building activity as a member of the Brooklyn branch. A year later he became a founding member

George was among the first to be drafted when Selective Service was enacted. He was also among the first American troops invading North Africa.

He was wounded on the second day of the invasion of

After discharge from the Army, George settled briefly

in San Francisco where he participated in the SWP branch and in the Warehouse Local of the Longshoremen's union. In 1946 he moved to Seattle to

For eight years, until the onset of his illness, George was indeed a tower of strength for socialism in Seattle. He belonged to Local 2519 of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers'

Union and functioned at one time as steward in his plant.

He was a star Militant salesman year after year, selling subscriptions on the job as well as house to house on weekends in a dozen working-class neighborhoods. He was a good recruiter to the cause of Financially, too, George was one of the mainstays of the help strengthen the party of the Harlem branch.

Sicily in 1943.

branch there.

George became acquainted cancer.

Isn't It High Time?

Detroit Steel Strike

(Continued from Page 1) plants, a rank-and-file movenent began. This led to a sweep-ng victory of a "Rank-and-File" ticket headed by Adolph Schwartz in 1958. The ticket ran on a program of manded that the contract be brought up to date on working conditions. Schwartz, the local's president, conducted an aggressive campaign a year ago to improve the clauses on working conditions in the contract. A standing negotiating committee was elected and rank-and-file recommendations were included in the proposed changes presented to the company during negotiations. An especially sharp issue was safety practices.

On Jan. 8, the company issued an ultimatum that it would agree to the "economic package" ruled that the legislature clearly 1956 contract should stand. The hours of exhortation and threats in cranes working in smoky cries of "Are you trying to scare the provision therein regarding rection of foremen's abuse of journed the meeting. presidential electors . . . was overtime, absence, sickness, etc.; covered under the chapter on a seven-day limit on temporary branch. Besides his regular unstinting contributions to the party, he could always be depended on to help comrades in

GEORGE GOLDFARB

He taught classes. Periodically he lectured. His best speeches were three talks on the history of the IWW for which he spent half a year gathering material. During the last year of his stay in Seattle

he was elected branch organ-

Illness forced him to drop out of activity and he returned to New York for treatment.

During the last year of his life, when he was confined to the Veterans Hospital, he spent his time rereading the socialist classics. He kept his keen sense of humor to the end, losing it only when the Militant failed to be delivered to him on the day it was due.

Theh he turned the hospital upside down until the missing quickly.

George Goldfarb

Dies in New York

January 1959 safety agreement holiday-pay protection and guarantees for union representation on the job.

Verbal agreement was reached on some of these questions by Jan. 26. By a vote of six to three the negotiating committee lemocratic reforms and de- turned the log jam in negotiations over to Tom Shane. Under pressure of the national settlement, Shane agreed to an extension of the old contract.

A hastily called meeting for Wednesday morning, Jan. 27, brought a turnout of almost 3,000 members. Shane demanded the men return to work. He was met with a prolonged roar of indignation. After ten minutes of booing the demonstration changed to a chanting demand for A. E. Schwartz to take the floor.

Schwartz took the mike and announced that the company had withdrawn all its tentative of the Big Eleven, but where a offers, and that only a return to deadlock was reached on con- work would bring resumption tract changes, the company in- of negotiations. Another roar of sisted that the wording of the indignation went up. After 21/2 issues involve air-conditioning from the rostrum - met with This morning over 3,000 mem bers turned out at a Local meeting in River Rouge High School auditorium. Schwartz presented a motion to return to work and nromised that negotiations would lead to a quick and satisfactory settlement. He accepted an amendment for a ten-day extension only, and this was carried with a roar of approval.

McLouth Steel Corp. then locked the plant gates, and Director Shane announced that the union was on strike with the full support of the International.

nvestors don't like what he's doing . . . but they have huge investments which must be protected . . . But, for Negro Americans, Cuba is a real democracy, as we conceive the

One of the chief criticisms of the Castro regime has been that it has not held elections. E. Washington Rhodes, publisher of the Philadelphia Tribune, reports that perhaps this is important, "but I wondered why all the furor about elections in Cuba when there has not been in honest election in many of the southern states in the U.S.A.

"But that is a matter which America must settle for herself without any outside interference. And it would seem to me that the questions of elections should be left to the Cuban peo-

Most of the visitors expressed a sincere desire to return to Cuba and enjoy its beauty and warm hospitality again. John H. Sengstacke put it: "I iked what I saw." The Chicago Defender has chosen Castro to head the "Defender 1959 Honor Roll" for his 'magnificent and inspiring contribution to the world struggle for freedom and equality by abolishing segregation and discrimination throughout Cuba."

Four-Year Persecution

The South African "treason" trial of opponents of the country's apartheid system entered

Laborers Union In Detroit Elects Negro President

DETROIT - Negro members of Laborers Union Local 334, AFL-CIO, scored a major victory in their fight for equal union rights when they elected Adam White, a Negro, president of the local.

White had led a five-year bat-White had led a five-year battle in the 4,000-member local of Ask President construction workers against the discriminatory job placement practices attributed to Andrew To Free Sobell McFarlane, for twenty-one years president of the local.

McFarlane was forced to announce his resignation after White led a well-organized mass picket line of Negro members, who are a majority of the local. in front of the union hall last August. McFarlane and other officers were barred from enterng the hall.

The demonstrators charged that while there was unemployment among Negro members, off-duty cops and teachers were handed job assignments by business agents of the local.

The pickets announced they would keep the hall shut down until McFarlane agreed to negotiate to end the discriminatory practices of the union officers. Faced with this powerful pressure McFarlane gave in, an agreement was reached and a watchdog committee established to enforce it.

When McFarlane was appointed international representative, elections were held to fill the vacancy he left. White took a two-week leave of absence from his job to campaign for the office.

Running against McFarlane's son-in-law, Robert Ryan, and Sidney Vermett, both local business agents, he outpolled Ryan by two to one and Vermett by three to one. He is the first Negro to hold a major office in the union, the largest laborers' local in the city. In a statement after the election, White said: "The fight to get equal rights in the union actually began five years ago. The fight isn't over yet. There is still a lot to be done."

Strontium Content In Milk Increases

FEB. 3 - The U.S. Public Health Service disclosed today that in the month of October the amount of cancer-breeding strontium 90 in milk had increased in all but one of 12 for civil rights, attorney for the testing centers. Atlanta, with a Committee to Combat Racial Inslight decrease, still had the justice. "The Impact of Africa on highest count in the country. In the Struggle for Negro Equality New York and Chicago, the in the U.S." Chairwoman, strontium count virtually doub- GLADYS BARKER, New Jersey led during the month.

Strontium 90 is produced by nuclear fallout. The health versity Place (near Union agency says the present increase Square), Contribution 50 cents. is within "safe" limits.

NUMBER 6

zens have joined the lengthy list of clergymen, lawyers and educators in an appeal to President Eisenhower for the immediate release of Morton Sobell.

Dr. E. J. Jarus, of Tel Aviv who is Chairman of the Israeli League for the Rights of Man. informed Eisenhower that the Jewish leaders subscribed to a recent appeal for presidential clemency signed by Lord Bertrand Russell of England and Martin Buber of Israel "in the interest of Morton Sobell, now imprisoned for more than eight years and condemned to a thirty years sentence. . . '

Calendar Of Events

LOS ANGELES

Celebrate Negro History Week. Hear Geoffrey W. White, socialist writer and educator. "THE CHANGING NEGRO STRUG-GLE." Also, first-hand report on racial segregation at Dorsey High School. Questions, discussion, refreshments. Saturday, Feb. 13, 8:15 p.m., Forum Hall, 1702 East Fourth St. Auspices: Socialist Workers party. ANgelus 9-4953. Contribution 75 cents.

School of International Socialism presents its winter lecture series Milton Alvin on "THE RUS-SIAN REVOLUTION TODAY": "The Soviet Union as a World Power - Its Present Position and Future - 1946 - 1960." Sunday, Feb. 14, 11 a.m.

Forum Hall, 1702 East Fourth St., Los Angeles 33. Telephone, AN 9-4953 or WE 5-9238.

Hear CONRAD LYNN, fighter candidate for U.S. senator. Friday, Feb. 12, 8:30 p.m., 116 Uni-Auspices: Militant Labor Forum.

Local Directory

BOSTON Boston Labor Forum, 295 Huntington Ave., Room 200. CHICAGO Workers Party, 777

Adams, DE 2-9736. CLEVELAND Socialist Workers Party 10609 Superior Ave., Room 301, SW 1-1818. Open Thursday nights 8 to 10.

DETROIT Eugene V. Debs Hall, 3737 Woodward. TEmple 1-6135. LOS ANGELES Forum Hall and Modern Book Shop

1702 E. 4th St. AN 9-1953 or WE 5-MILWAUKEE

150 East Juneau Ave. MINNEAPOLIS Socialist Workers Party, 322 Hen-nepin Ave., 2nd floor. Open noon to 6 P.M. daily except Sundays.

NEWARK Newark, N. J. NEW YORK CITY Militant Labor Forum, 116 Univer-

P.O. Box 341, Berkeley 1, Calif. PHILADELPHIA Militant Labor Forum and Socialist Workers Party, 1303 W. Girard Ave. Lectures and discussions every Saturday, 8 P.M., followed by open house. Call PO 3-5820. SAN FRANCISCO The Militant, 1145 Polk St., Rm. 4 Sat. 11 A.M. to 3 P.M. Phone PR 6-7296; if no answer, VA 4-2321.

OAKLAND - BERKELEY

sity Place, AL 5-7852.

SEATTLE 1412-18th Avenue, EA 2-5554. Library, bookstore. ST. LOUIS

For information phone MO 4-7194.

Advertisement

Advertisement

Dewey's Theories On Education

Dewey's theories on education have had greater impact on the thinking of America's school teachers than those of any other modern figure. What were the economic and social forces that gave his ideas such great weight? Why is he still a controversial figure in this field?

For a lucid socialist examination of the setting that brought John Dewey into prominence, read William F. Warde's study in the winter issue of the International Socialist Review. Send 35 cents for a copy.

International Socialist Review

116 University Place New York 3, N. Y.

through the 1960 election campaign. But the end came too

Cubans

(Continued from Page 1)

word."

for almost a hundred years.

paper was located. His wish was to live long enough to root for the SWP candidates its fourth year Jan. 18.