MOSCOW, IN MOURNING, READY TO RECEIVE LENIN'S REMAINS

Stand Firm for Final Victory, Appeal to Workers, Farmers, Red Army, as Russia Prepares for Lenin's Funeral

(By Our Own Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW—While Moscow is a city of black, prepared to receive today the remains of Nikolai Lenin, the dead premier's fellow leaders urged workers, farmers and the Red Army to stand firm.

"Final victory for our party will be the best monument to Lenin," a proclamation issued by the Central Executive Committee said.

Lenin's body was to lie in state here until Saturday, when it will be interred in the Kremlin wall.

Chicagoans Will Remember Lenin at Mass Meeting

The passing of a Lenin will be mourned at a huge mass meeting in Chicago, Tuesday evening, Jan. 29, in Ashland Auditorium.

Speakers who will testify to the idealism and brilliant generalship of the dead premier's leader will include William Z. Foster, C. E. Rutenber, William F. Dunne, Robert Minor and Martin Abern. Their addresses will be grouped under the subject "Lenin and the Role of the Communist Party."

Moving pictures of Lenin's life and music will supplement the program.

Lenin Memorial meetings will be held in all parts of the country Sunday, Feb. 1, in response to the appeal of the Central Executive Committee of the Workers' Party.

Nicolaï Lenin died silent, uncomplaining. An eye witness to the passing of the Russian Premier gave the DAILY WORKER today the first story of how the end came.

At noon Monday Lenin told his faithful aide, a slight headache had been his only ailment.

Professor Forster and Ostropoff, Lenin's wife and his sister, Brodskii, were the only ones present when the dead Premier lay in state at 5:30 P. M. in the Kremlin.

After death had been pronounced, the body was dressed in a brown suit with white socks and soft brown slippers and placed on a table in the reception room.

The Premier's face showed no change. It was healthy appearance.

The table was heaped with flowers.

His Comrades Arrive.

A little later the minister of the Soviet government began to arrive, having come hurriedly from Moscow to Gorky, where Lenin's wife is located.

Stalin, Kalinin, Zinoviev and Kamenkov were the first to arrive. All were weeping heartbreakingly, their lamentations were kept up throughout the night.

After the ministers came throngs of peasants, pouring out to Gorky in the endless stream, surrounding the house.

Russia Flights Malaria.

MOSCOW—In order to promote anti-malaria measures, all quinine imports into Russia for purposes of fighting malaria, shall be allowed to pass free of any customs duties.

Get unity thru the Labor Party.

Lenin Death Can't Cause Injury To Powerful Russia

A wave of support for the central committee was probably created by Lenin's death, says F. A. MacKenzie, a Moscow correspondent for an American newspaper syndicate.

The Russian government, he adds, is now too weak a machine to be affected by the death of any one man—even Lenin.

For more than a year, the correspondent reasons, Lenin took no active part in the government and, immensely loved as he was by the people, his death is not so much a political effect.

In a personal and emotional way the death of Lenin has been mourned, MacKenzie testifies. But Russia from the far-flung village of Siberia to the towers of the Crimea is dazed.

NEW DOPE ON TEAPOT GRAB STIRS NATION

Knowledge Tells Daughtery to Watch Friends

(Special to The Daily Worker)

WASHINGTON—President Coolidge has ordered Attorney General Daughtery to send a department of justice agent to the Senate Committee's investigation of Teapot Dome to listen to disclosures regarding the leasing of the naval oil reserve to Sinclair interests, it was stated at the White House today on Mr. Coolidge's behalf.

If irregularities are disclosed at the investigation, the department of justice will take whatever action is necessary to bring to justice any individuals found guilty of breaking the law, it was stated on behalf of the president.

Mr. Coolidge took this action, the White House spokesman said, because of a rumor heard by him.

Withheld All Suspicion.

The department of justice was represented at the hearing by President Coolidge's express direction, it was said. It was indicated that the White House further investigations were being made, but could not be discussed at the moment because they might dry up sources of information.

The spokesman for the president emphasized that the government did not wish to cast suspicion on any individual.

Poor Justice Faces Defeat.

Rumors that have reached the White House, however, are too grave to be overlooked and an investigation of them is proceeding in the president's interest, whatever his position or previous position, against whom evidence is found to warrant prosecution, it was said on Mr. Coolidge's behalf.

For the government to indicate that it is under suspicion, the White House spokesman pointed out, would defeat the ends of justice and nothing could be done to prevent the president and the department of justice from investigating any misdeeds uncovered.

FIGHT ON SENATE FLOOR

WASHINGTON—The Teapot Dome scandal is to be carried to the senate floor today when a demand will be made by several lawyers.

Blockade Lifted, Cruiser Returns, Says Sec. Hughes

WASHINGTON—The blockade against the port of Tampico has been lifted permanently, according to a dispatch to the State Department today from John Q. Wood, American consul at Vera Cruz.

Secretary of State Hughes is now taking steps to verify the consul's report and if it is confirmed, the American cruiser Richmond will be withdrawn from Tampico, the State Department announced.

Workers Party to Hold Lenin Memorial Meetings

Lenin Memorial meetings will be held all over the United States Sunday, Feb. 1, by districts, sub-districts and branches of the Workers Party of America.

National, district and local officials are already busy preparing arrangements for what will undoubtedly be monster demonstrations for sympathy on the part of American workers for the workers and peasants of Russia for the great loss they have suffered.

15,000 Railroad Men Given Raise To Avert Strike

(Special to The Daily Worker)

NEW YORK—The New York Central lines today granted a five per cent wage increase to some 15,000 men of the brotherhoods of railway engineers and firemen.

If other lines follow suit 45,000 workers will be affected.

Strike talk has been dropped by New York Central firemen and engineers and the controversy that has raged since Dec. 4 is at an end. Eighteen lines were represented in the conference. Original demands for the increase were made in Chicago in July when the men asked a raise of twenty per cent.

LONDON—Ramsay MacDonald presided over the first meeting of Britain's new Labor cabinet at the historic residence of premier, No. 10 Downing Street, this afternoon.

The new prime minister walked to the meeting from the foreign office.

Tom Shaw minister of labor, reported on the railway strike situation to his new colleagues.

LONDON—The first act of the MacDonald government even before it was quite formally in office, was to attempt a settlement of the rail strike.

While the government of Great Britain was passing into the hands of representatives of the labor party, every effort was being bent to bring an end to the slowly spreading industrial paralysis of the transportation to-up.

Men chosen by premier Ramsay MacDonald for the nation's first labor cabinet were early at the various government offices and the leading predecessors, the conservatives, showed them "the ropes" before leaving.

PLAN FOR HOUSE OF MORGAN MORTGAGE ON GERMANY IS RIPE

(Special to The Daily Worker)

PARIS—The plan of the American bankers for the restoration of Germany industrially and financially includes as its major proposition a loan of $250,000,000 in capital for an international bank to be established in either Holland or Switzerland. It was learned today.

That this enormous sum is to come from American sources and that an American financier will be placed in charge of the bank if the proposal is accepted is considered certain here.

The American financial expert, Brigadier-General Dawes and Owen D. Young, will return to Berlin and hold further conferences with Dr. Schacht, head of the German commission, on Jan. 30.

Fifty Entombed in Mexican Mine, El Paso Reports

(Special to The Daily Worker)

EL PASO, TEXAS.—Fifty miners, Americans and Mexicans, are entombed in the Crumpston mine at Villa Ahumada, Mexico, 80 miles from El Paso, according to reports reaching here today.

Officials of the mining company have expressed doubt as to the reports. They said an American mining engineer named Perry had been injured in a fall of rock in the mine.

Doesn't Sit a Ripple.

The British spirit of fair play is manifesting itself in the public and press reception to the laborers.

Today's newspapers, regardless of politics, are practically unanimous in commending MacDonald's good judgment in his selection of a cabinet. Even the Tory Morning Post admits: "It might easily have been worse."

MYERSCOUGH IS TARGET OF PHIL MURRAY

Vice-President of Miners Takes Slop at Radicals

By JOHN FITZGERALD

Indianapolis, Ind.—The first real clash to take place since the opening of the U. M. W. of A. convention here was staged this morning when the committee officers recommended approval of Vice-President Murray's report.

One section of the report mentioned the Progressive Miners International Committee in general and Thomas Myerscough in particular.

The report charged the Progressive Committee with trying to induce striking western Pennsylvania miners to accept a reduction in wages at a mass-meeting held in Avon on Nov. 25, 1921.

The committee recommendation to accept the report was no sooner made than several delegates were on their feet demanding the floor to refute the charges made.

Delegate James Oates of "Hagerstown" declared that he attended the meeting in question and that the operators would have succeeded in breaking the ranks of the striking miners had not a strike fund been set up.

His statement was substantiated by Frank Mercantelli of Local Union 2166, one of the signers of the call for a special meeting in Homongahela to discuss the situation on Dec. 4.

Mercantelli stated that he had been a union member since he was thirteen years old. He had attended the meeting in Axleton, testified to the good work of Myerscough and others in preventing a wage-cut.

Delegate John Hindmarsh of Riverton, Ill., asked Vice-President Murray if he wished to have the impression that the members of the Progressive Miners, who signed the call for a mass-meeting, on Dec. 4, advocated a wage-cut. Murray answered in the negative. Hindmarsh asked if the convention refused to condemn Myerscough or any other miner on one sided evidence "without hearing the other side of the case."

Fagan Contradicts Murray.

President Fagan, of District No. 5, admitted in his speech on the question that Myerscough and Oulter spoke against a reduction in wages.

President Lewis, just before the vote was taken, announced that Myerscough's case would be heard after the convention adjourned.

The report was finally adopted by a show of hands with a heavy negative vote.

Interview With Myerscough.

A statement made to the DAILY WORKER representative, Tom Myerscough, who was expelled from the union by action of the Pittsburgh district executive board, declared the international executive board declared the Progressive Committee to be a dual union, said that the meeting in Hazleton mentioned by Myerscough was not called by him of the Progressive Miners Committee, but by an agent of the coal operators for the purpose of "breaking" the union.

Arizona, for immediate cancellation of the lease of the Teapot Dome and reserve to the Sinclair oil interests.

Oraway's motion that the senate intervene immediately probably will be opposed on the ground that the public lands question is being investigated by the War Relocation Authority and should not be interfered with until its inquiry is finished.

This is likely to lead to a special light which Oraway's attorneys are seeking to put the Republicans on record. Teapot Dome is considered certain now by the campaign.

Caraway and Senator Griffin, Alabama, have addressed a resolution that they intend to disclose to the senate certain information regarding Teapot Dome.

Developments Are Sensational

New and sensational developments brought nearer the climax of the Teapot Dome investigation, which has proved government officials call citizens to their deaths.

These developments were announced by a press conference at the capitol.

Perjury summons to Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, who leased Teapot Dome oil reserve to the Sinclair interests and about whom the senate public lands committee is investigating the transaction. Fall, who is in New Orleans, will arrive Friday to testify.

A request to Harry Sinclair, oil magnate who leased the rich naval oil reserves and who last Wednesday sailed for Europe to return and show the committee the books of the Hyva Corporation, which he owns presumably in his possession, as they were given to him just before he sailed and were not returned to his office.

Board of Education Shows no Indication of Taking Action; Daily Worker Will Give Facts

Chicago school buildings, where the lives of the pupils are further imperiled by the lack of heat and light, is revealed in an investigation which the DAILY WORKER is conducting.

The DAILY WORKER'S investigation was begun because the Board of Education has given no indication of taking action on the facts which have been reported in the past few weeks before the buildings and grounds committee of the Board of Education of Chicago, indicating that scores of school buildings are in a state of disrepair and should be replaced by new ones.

Official Probe Not Started

It was first reported by the board, that the buildings and grounds committee would investigate all such buildings, but this was afterwards narrowed down to a statement that the investigation would be limited to the J. N. Thorp school, 8th street and Euclid avenue, which was considered the worst.

The business manager of the Board of Education said the superintendent of the buildings was ordered to conduct the investigation. He said that the investigation was to be limited to the J. N. Thorp school, 8th street and Euclid avenue, which was considered the worst.

COAL MINERS' Talk To You at Convention Thru Daily Worker

Coal Miners' Your concerns are an individual kind. It will be necessary for you to make it if you will talk to it, talk to it in kind and emphatic tones.

You can do this thru your paper, THE DAILY WORKER. You can do it every day. You can make yourself heard.

Every day THE DAILY WORKER gives you the convention at Tomlinson Hall, at Indianapolis. The miners' delegate are reading it, from first page, first column, to last page, last column.

If you will write to THE DAILY WORKER, telling your needs, the delegates will read your letter.

One of the big things you are interested in is unemployment. If you don't work there is no pay envelope. If you don't work, there is nothing with which to pay the landlord, the grocer, with which to buy the things your family needs.

Tell it to the delegates at Indianapolis. Tell it to your highly paid officials, whose salaries go on the whole year around.

COMPANY UNION IN INDO-NESE PUT ON SHELF

Schemes of Crompton Company Defeated

ABC is the basic weapon of the Crompton Company. It has been used for many months, but has been defeated. The Crompton Company is a large industrial concern, manufacturing a variety of electrical equipment. It has a long history of labor relations, and has been known for its schemes to control its workers. In the past, it has used various tactics to suppress union activity, but these have all failed. The workers have shown their strength and determination to fight for their rights. The Crompton Company's schemes have been defeated, and the workers are now free to organize and bargain collectively.

John Lash, a professional promoter of the scheme which embodies a copy of the Federal Government of the United States, who has been on the payroll of the Crompton Company for almost three months, has been dismissed. He had held several meetings of the employees at which he attempted to have them vote in favor of the plan, but each time he was defeated. Last late fall a committee of workers was picked to visit certain plants and to be working under this scheme, and they made a trip at the company's expense. It was found that the company was much of that reports the workers again turned down the industrial device. Local Unionists were also active in the area, and a series of leaflets against the scheme was the main argument being that it was nothing but a company union, which would be controlled by the bosses, and that the Crompton Company really wanted to control the workers. It would recognize the union about the time that the Crompton workers are members of the local, with headquarters at Artie.

During the past two months the company has been using the workers employed in the plant were practicing sabotage. The first occasion was when a worker cut a piece of cloth, according to mill officials, and the second when a change of tar was found in a copper mill, killing little in the dye house.

William H. Derrick, general organizer for the Amalgamated, who is in charge in the Fairview Village, declares that the charges are utterly unfounded, and that the company is merely trying to get the workers suspicious of one another. Union members point out that the finding of the change of tar by the foreman being any damage was done, coupled with the fact that the company was the slightest evidence produced to show that a worker was responsible for placing it there, would tend to indicate that some other scoundrel had done some detective work.

"We regret to see the Crompton Company taking the attitude of fighting its workers," said Organizer Derrick. "The Amalgamated Textile Workers is ready to meet the company and arrive at satisfactory means of adjusting everything that is of mutual concern to the firm and workers. A reasonably friendly attitude toward the workers, who are determined to maintain their own standards, would smooth out nine-tenths of the difficulties now confronting the management of the company. We realize it is no hard for textile manufacturers to assume such an attitude, as they have been little better too long. But the Crompton Company seems in addition to humane sentiment if they would get over the old habit of thinking in terms of feudal lords and slave owners."

What Congress Wants to Do With Foreign-Born Workers

NOTE—Each edition of a series of articles which the DAILY WORKER will publish on the laws which are now pending before Congress, directed against foreign-born workers who wish to come to this country.

By C. E. RUTENBERG
House Bill No. 836, introduced by Representative Phillips, of Butler, Pa., is more frank in its provisions for segregating the employing class from the foreign-born workers than any other bill now pending before Congress. It prescribes the information which the immigrant alien must give, Representative Phillips, before permission is granted to come to this country. The bill makes it the duty of the Commissioner-General of Immigration to report against the application of the bill to any particular immigrant and to any particular country and instructs that the Commissioner-General shall also consider the physical condition, the mental aptitude, the moral qualities, the political opinions, the social and industrial qualifications of the applicant as a result of the laws of his native country.

There was the real reason for the passage of this bill against the immigrants. The bill provides that no more than 100,000 immigrants shall be permitted to enter this country each year and that each immigrant shall pay a fee of $100. If the immigrant cannot pay this fee, the government "generously" returns 50% of the application fee to the immigrant. This country, it will cost him the full $100.

Another provision of the Phillips bill is that the Commissioner-General of Immigration shall have full consideration of the industrial conditions in the United States. The bill also provides that no alien who is not a native-born American citizen shall be admitted in any form of labor making it possible for employers to secure workers when they have no need for an American worker. In other words, the employing class will be able to bring in a foreign worker who will be able to become part of an army of cheap labor that will never have the spirit of

COMMUNIST CHILDREN'S COLUMN

THE MEANING OF COMMUNIST OBJECT LESSONS

The Junior Groups receive in their Communist education neither book nor lesson. They are given a great book which lies open before us in the crumbling capitalist social system. A working class teacher and especially a communist teacher will bring to the attention of the power to observe and to understand what is observed. Learn to see, learn to hear. These are the motives of the leaders of the Junior Groups. They are the motives that consist in inducting the children to appreciate what arises in their own minds from what they themselves see and hear. Every shop window, every poster, every sign, every factory with their overseers and their workers, the barracks, soldiers and officers, the street car, the fashionable parts of the city—these are the motives of the Communist character of the social system. Everything reflects the privileges of the possessing class and the class statement of the bible: "To him that has shall be given and he shall have an inexhaustible source of communist teaching."

How many workers continue to get everything with closed eyes and ears? How many soldiers must see everything, their ears must hear everything? For example, we are walking along the street with the children. At a corner stands a beggar, perhaps a soldier, decorated with a badge of honor. The children will be astonished that this man, who fought for God, Democracy and Country, must stand and beg for a living. We discuss with them the world war. We tell them why it was fought, and for whom. The poor "hero" must be great while the rich profiteers who were never in the trenches risk in great automobiles.

The children themselves ask a hundred questions and in discussing these things with the children they are answered. We do not give them ready made answers. We do not look for the causes of these vast outbreaks in a class feeling in all children. They all know that they suffer under the conditions of their life and that suffers for the beginning. The struggle is not there any struggle, not there any struggle. This is the teacher's task. This is the teacher's task. This is the teacher's task.

What does communist education mean? We can see for Article No. 4. "What does communist education mean?"

SEEK REFORMS IN WORKING CLASS ANTI-ILLANITES

Would Use Teachers' Union as a Catalyst

NEW YORK CITY—A few days ago, the Anti-Illanite League, the newly formed of the so-called American League for the Education of Teachers, and a group of teachers' unionists in the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad, are forming the unions on the part of the working class.
