Ladies' Garment Workers Announce Big Walk Out

It is planned to have the general strike of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union called this morning. The strike, when called, will affect 10,000 workers, most of them girls and women, working in the dress and waist shops of Chicago.

Ever since it was decided to call a strike unless the bosses conceded the demands of the union the workers have been impatiently awaiting the word that would mean that they would walk out of the shops. The strike will also involve 3,000 cloak makers, all of whom are men. They will go on strike in order to protect the women strikers against the violence of the bosses' hired thugs. They have already been organized into committees who will protect the pickets and see to it that no violence occurs. They will remain on strike only long enough to assure themselves that the women workers that no trouble will be sought by the bosses.

All arrangements have been made to take care of the strikers. Halls have been rented in the various districts in which the waist and dress shops are located.

In the downtown district six halls have been rented at 180 W. Washington St. and three halls at 20 W. Randolph St.

Workers in the Northwest section of the city will meet at Schoolhouse Hall, Milwaukee Ave. and Division St. Workers on the West Side will meet at the West Side Auditorium at Racine Ave. and Taylor St.

Leaflets giving the details of the strike arrangements have been printed and will be put in the hands of the shop chairmen. The shops that are to give out when the strike is called. All workers will be instructed to go at once to the nearest hall and register.

The strike will be called after more than a month's unsuccessful negotiations between some of the bosses and the union. Most of the bosses have refused to take any part in the negotiations. The shops that have union help want to continue the agreement that is now in force for another year but the union demands a new agreement.

The Chicago garment workers will have the backing of the International union in their strike. The strike will be in charge of a strike committee recently elected to carry on negotiations with the bosses and call a strike if the negotiations fail.

The strike when it is called will be the biggest thing that has happened to the union here since the general strike in the industry in 1917. The 1917 strike was called because the conditions in the industry had become intolerable for the workers. Union officials say the same conditions exist today.

The union has not the industry organized thereby, they admit but they are confident that they will be able to get all the workers to trade to respond to the strike call.

One of the main concerns of the union will be to see that the workers (Continued on page 2.)

DAUGHERTY ON THE JOB

CONGRESS MAY REDUCE J. D.'S GIFT BOODLE

(Special to The Daily Worker)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—A gift tax to end evasions of the inheritance tax probably will be written into the new revenue bill today by the Democratic-Progressive coalition in the House.

Republican leader Longworth said that it is well known that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., now holds $600,000,000 in Standard Oil and other securities, presumably gifts from his father. This is the situation the coalition wants to reach by the new tax.

At the request of Representative Garner, Texas, ranking Democrat on the Ways and Means Committee, Chairman Green will revise his gift tax amendment, providing the same as the inheritance tax adopted yesterday.

Green's amendment provides a one per cent levy on gifts between $10,000 and $14,000 graduated to 10 per cent on amounts over $40,000. Garner proposes to start the tax at one per cent on $10,000, increasing to 40 per cent on $100,000,000.

If the gift tax can be disposed of today, the excise taxes will be taken up. A bitter fight impends over the amendment of Representative Clayton, Michigan, to cut in half the five per cent levy on auto trucks and accessories.

Women Deans—The School Spies Who Investigate Radicals—Are Assembled At N. E. A. Convention

Hundreds of well-dressed women, master spies by occupation, gathered in the ballroom of the Blackstone hotel this week, to discuss their problems. They constitute the division of deans of women in the National Education Assn., whose department of superintendence is holding its annual meet in Chicago.

"The National Education Association," says Upton Sinclair, "is a political machine, maintained by big business to do a certain job in the interest of big business."

Spout Radicalism.

A very special part of this certain job is performed by the deans of women in the schools. (The art of deaning is spreading to factories employing women workers.) They keep watch over the girls. They are on the lookout for all sorts of things that may make the college unpopular with the public.

A girl with radical opinions may make herself too notorious thereby. She gets a talk on good form from the dean. Perhaps that does not repel the young agitator. Then the dean may be able to fasten some sex scandal or rumor of scandal upon her and force her into silence or out of school. Two girls, one at Wisconsin, were recently expelled for marrying while still in school. "Not because they married, but because they eloped," which we do not approve of," a dean explains.

Deans Use Stoolpigeons.

How the deans get hold of their information was a secret jealousy flared at the convention. At last a former dean at Northwestern University broke the ice by admitting that she used all informants brought in by volunteer spies among the students. It was freely admitted that the dean of men at Pennsylvania (Continued on page 2.)

Wild Flurry in Senate as Teapot Dome Probers in Secret Session Peruse 100 Wires Sent Fall and McLean in Florida

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—A hundred telegrams sent to former Secretary of the Interior Fall and Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post, during their December stay in Palm Beach, Fla., were presented to the Senate Teapot Dome Committee today.

H. T. Taff, general superintendent, Western Union Telegraph Company of Washington, gave the committee a bundle of records from files in his office and the committee immediately went into secret session.

The telegrams were called for in the committee's efforts to learn the source of suspected "leaks" to persons involved in the oil scandal.

Taff protested against submitting the telegrams on the ground that they were confidential communications and that his company had no right to make them public without consent of the persons who sent them. The committee, however, decided unanimously to go into all records and Taff agreed under protest.

In an executive session the committee then began perusal of the messages to determine if any government officials had advised Fall or McLean as to what course they should pursue.

Reason for Executive Session.

Before the committee went into session, Chairman Lenroot made the following statement:

"The chair will state that the session is to enable the committee to determine which of these telegrams are relevant and which are not. Those which are found to be relevant will be read in public session later."

Before the meeting Walsh said he had no present intention of summoning Attorney-General Daugherty for cross-examination of his dealings in Sinclair oil stocks.

Lenroot indicated no move would be made in this direction until after the examination of brokers' books.

Walsh also announced he had no intention of subpoenaing Will H. Hays, former postmaster general, former private secretary to Harry F. Sinclair and that he expected Daugherty to appear tomorrow.

Walberg was questioned about a letter he had written in previous testimony to "Mr. Hays." The committee took it that "Mr. Hays" was an employee in the Sinclair office but because of recent developments failed to make certain of his identity.

Wilton J. Lambert, attorney for Hays, appeared at the committee room, saying he intended later to confer with Walsh.

Senators Frightened.

Action of the committee in examining the telegrams behind closed doors caused excited comment among the hundred or more spectators crowded in the hall outside, because of recent reports that two members of the committee might have been authors of some of the big oil deals mentioned to Fall and McLean.

In a further effort to trace reports that all government officials guided the course of Attorney-General Daugherty's "scandal" disclosures, the Senate (Continued on page 2.)

DAILY WORKER Greet the Striking Garment Workers

THE DAILY WORKER, on behalf of the Workers Party, expresses its solidarity with the 10,000 striking members of the International Garment Workers Union and pledges its aid in bringing the strike to a speedy and successful conclusion.

Nothing will please the DAILY WORKER better than to be able to record in the near future the complete defeat of the bosses, the organization of the open shops and a 100 per cent victory for the union.

Farmers and Trade Unionists of Nebraska in Progressive Party Vote to Go to St. Paul May 30th

By JOSEPH MANLEY, Secretary of the Federated Farmer-Labor Party. Although the Nebraska Conference for Progressive Political Action was not "thoroughly open," one disgruntled democrat expressed it—its delegates were by an overwhelming vote refused seats in the conference of the Progressive Party, held at Grand Island, Neb., on Feb. 25.

The state law of Nebraska provides that a legal political party such as the Progressive Party shall hold its next annual convention in the month of April. But because of the mixed political situation in Nebraska, the fusion forces of the democrats and the confederate party of the Progressive Political Action, prominent members of the Nebraska Farmer-Labor Party felt obliged to call this February conference.

The Grand Island conference was attended by over one hundred delegates from various unions. For the most part represented the poorer farmers and small town mechanics of rank and file trade unionists. The element which had tried to force the Progressive Party small town mechanics will allow—and the pampered politicians—appointees of the Progressive Political Action, prominent members of the Nebraska Farmer-Labor Party felt obliged to call this February conference.

PHILADELPHIA IS MAKING BIG FIGHT FOR DAVIS LAWS

All-City Conference Is Coming March 10

(Special to The Daily Worker) PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 26.—The Council for Protection of Foreign-Born Workers, organized here several months ago, is urging all labor organizations of this city to send delegates...

The coming conference is expected to be still bigger than the original organization conference several months ago at which 50 organizations were represented.

Reasons for organized action by labor is given in the following letter of invitation to labor bodies sent by the council:

28 Anti-Labor Laws. There are now pending in Congress not less than twenty-five bills which propose...

The American Federation of Labor at its Portland convention, adopted a resolution vigorously denouncing these bills.

Need to carry on the fight is not less urgent because of the fact that the laws that the Council for Protection of Foreign-Born Workers has organized in Philadelphia is called by the Council.

THE LITTLE GREY DOG

By Herminia Zuy Mullen. HE WAS an ugly little grey dog with long silken hair and a bushy tail. He was born in a splendid stable that was owned by a rich man.

In one of the Negro huts arrived the little grey dog who had been born in the splendid stable, and this is how it happened.

Benjamin's parents were young and strong the best workmen in the sugar plantation. Therefore the slave overseer was satisfied with them.

At that the eyes of the little boy faded with tears, he took the dog in his arms, held him close and he wept. "Don't do it, just see how darling the dog is to Benjamin."

WORK SLACKENS AS CAL DEIES UNEMPLOYMENT

500,000 More Jobs Since June

By LELAND OLDS. (Our Correspondent at the Federal Reserve Bank) WORK SLACKENS AS CAL DEIES UNEMPLOYMENT, is the latest sign he jointly proposed by the president's distinguished cabinet and officially accepted by Coolidge himself.

Will it be popular among the tens of thousands hanging around the employment agencies there are reported to be 106 applicants for each 100 jobs?

Apparently the cabinet members leave the hard facts behind when they go to confer with the chief executive, for the most recent report of the U. S. Department of Labor indicates that at least 600,000 workers who had work in June, 1923, are now unemployed.

There's also the scientific labor market indicator of the federal reserve bank, which at the end of 1923 the barometer has fallen more than half over its peak point in 1922.

That means unemployment, but somehow the president and his advisers seem to prefer to see things as they are. The president says that they are looking too high, over-optimistic, too sanguine about the future.

When there's the scientific labor market indicator of the federal reserve bank, which at the end of 1923 the barometer has fallen more than half over its peak point in 1922.

This official White House utterance goes on to assert that everything is going as well as could be expected in the country seems to be finding a ready market.

When, however, this White House utterance turns to individual industries it is not so fortunate in its choices. The boot and shoe industry, for example, is cited as one of the industries of products as fast as they can be made.

Mexican Labor Notes

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 26.—One thousand railroad workers are threatening to leave the United States for allgued voluntary aid to the fascist during the period that the latter controlled the railroad from Puebla to Vera Cruz and from Yucatan to the Isthmus of Tehuacan.

A strike of nurses and doctors of the state hospital of Puebla has broken out. The strike is due to the fact that almost a month since the institutional pay roll was met.

A textile convention of the Confederation General de Trabajadores (anarcho-sindicalista) is meeting in the capital. It is to take up the problem of presenting wage reductions, partial or complete shut downs in the textile factories, avoiding arbitration and arbitration commissions in the labor district controlled by the rival Mexican Federation of Labor. Freeing class war prisoners through the action of the revolutionary movement in Mexico.

Urging the importance of muscular communism the Athletic League youth youth of America made class sessions—millions of dollars for plans for a vigorous athletic movement to bring the young men and women where it can reach practically all classes of the revolutionary movement to them.

Outside of Russia there is strong working class party movement in Germany, Czechoslovakia, Finland and many other countries embracing hundreds of thousands of members.

In America it is our duty to start organization of Workers Athletic League that is controlled by party and the Young Workers League. These comrades might think that when we organize an athletic league, our main object is to get the class struggle case. But experience shows us different. For instance, the workers of Russia in 1918 the membership of the workers' sports clubs were among the first to go to the workers' side of the barricades to fight for the rights of the working class.

Washington, Feb. 26.—James D. Mccado, Quincy, Mass., first vice president of American Federation of Labor has passed the black spot of the need of greater interest in the mass work of the workers in the United States and Canada on behalf of the League of Nations.

USCA RPART OF ATHLETES, S CONFERENCE AIM

N. Y. Communists Start Sport Movement

(Special to The Daily Worker) NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The revolutionary youth of America made sound bodies, declared the Athletic League of the Finnish Federation of the Workers Party which is calling an athletic conference at the Finnish headquarters in New York, 2042 Fifth Ave., for 11 a. m., March 20, with the co-operation of the district office and the Jaro-Slar and Czech-Slovak Sport Clubs.

All branches of the Workers Party and the Young Workers League are urged to send delegates to work out plans for a vigorous athletic movement among the young people of the party.

Muscular Communism. Urging the importance of muscular communism the Athletic League youth youth of America made class sessions—millions of dollars for plans for a vigorous athletic movement to bring the young men and women where it can reach practically all classes of the revolutionary movement to them.
