

CRUCIAL BATTLE, Picket! Defy Injunctions! Says A. F. of L.

STRIKE GAINS WITH PICKETS UNDAUNTED

Remember Sophie Altschuler!
Girl Militants Cry

Hundreds of pickets parolled the skirt and dress-making zones in the Loop, Northwest and West Side districts and many scabs took notice and stayed away. The strikers have decided that they will stand by the decision of the conventions of the American Federation of Labor that injunctions shall be wholly and absolutely treated as usurpation and disregarded, let the consequences be what they may. (1916 convention.) They know that the strike will be won, and won only by militant picketing.

Drunken Sluggers
A small army of police and private "sluggers," some of them reeking with the liquor supplied by the houses and most of them being green porcupines, or shamrocks, tried vainly to crush the militancy of the pickets.

The "sluggers" flocked to the district in the yellow taxicabs conveying in the scale the bosses were able to get, and as soon as they were past the picket line—where there was possible—the "sluggers" draped themselves around the doorways of the factories and began jeering at the pickets.

Yesterday was the beginning of the third week of the strike and the strikers considered it the crucial day. They considered that the picket line would be the test of the spirit of the strikers. The picket line was filed by strikers and in addition scores of members of the Workers Party and the Young Workers League were also in the line. Still more pickets are needed.

Remember Sophie Altschuler.
"Remember Sophie Altschuler!" was the slogan of the blue-coated slugging friends of the strikers. Only two arrests of girls were made in the morning by the officers who seemed averted by the indignation with which the Chicago labor movement has been flaming since the girl striker was beaten into a helpless condition. The girls arrested were Lena Morris and Lilian Libbin, on S. Market street below W. Adams.

Sophie Still in Bed.
"Remember Sophie Altschuler, Long Live Solidarity!" cried Miss Morris to the other pickets as she went home yesterday. She hopes to be able to go on the picket line this morning.

Sophie Altschuler was not on the picket line. Her doctor would not permit her to leave her bed. She has not fully recovered from the effects of the beating that Officer 2181 gave her Friday night. She hopes to be able to go on the picket line this morning.

Arrest Clockmaker Official.
Morris Blais, manager of the clock makers' union, was arrested by detectives from the state's attorney's office. He was taken to the office of the state's attorney where he was turned over to an assistant state's attorney and charged with assault.

Blais Released.
When word was taken to the union that the state's attorney had Blais in custody, Oscar Nelson was instructed to go to the state's attorney and get a writ of Habeas Corpus demanding his release.

Nelson went before Judge Walter Steffen sitting in the criminal branch of the superior court and secured a writ returnable at 11:30 and the state's attorney released Blais at 11:15. Crown's men were arrested and so right to arrest Blais and were

6 MORE BOSSES YIELD TO UNION, ARRESTS LESSEN

Labor "Committee of 15" Meets Thursday.

Six more Chicago garment bosses surrendered to the International Ladies Garment Workers yesterday afternoon and negotiations are going on with several more who are weakening. More than 70 employers have now settled with the union since the walkout to enforce union conditions was called.

The bosses who yielded are Block, Marshall and Eisenberg, 237 S. Market St.; C. H. Eisenstein & Co., 324 S. Market St.; Perfection Skirt Co., 1017 Roosevelt Road; Broadway Dress Co., 12 N. Market St.; Karlin and Munier, 208 S. Market St.; and Pina Fine and Kretzlin, 333 S. Market St.

It will be remembered that at the peace conference called by Miss Mary McDowell and the citizens' committee that Block, Arnold and Eisenberg were represented and declared that they were desirous of a settlement with the union and certain other companies were also.

Message to Mayor.
The special sub-committee of the citizens' strike settlement committee met yesterday afternoon and sent a message to the mayor, the contents of the message were not announced but it is known that the committee has taken the stand that the mayor must stop police brutality at once or face a publicity campaign that will be disastrous to him.

Arrests lessened somewhat yesterday. The three mentioned on the front page, were of Fannie Batt, Ethel Schrage, Shida, and Arnold Wehler, 14 S. Clark St., hailed out and appears in court this morning.

Other arrests yesterday, besides the three mentioned on the front page, were of Fannie Batt, Ethel Schrage, Shida, and Arnold Wehler, 14 S. Clark St., hailed out and appears in court this morning.

GARMENT BOSS KEEPS POLICE AND SLUGGERS SOAKED WITH LIQUOR

"Sluggers" and city policemen used by Stein & Soiden, are kept constantly soaked with alcohol by the two bosses that firm, declare strikers, who have been picketing the building at 212 S. Market St.

The girls say that both members of the firm are constantly offering the thugs up to the officers on the second floor for liquor. "Come on boys, have a drink!" Stein and Soiden say, right in front of the pickets. The "sluggers" and policemen come out a little later, flushed and bulging and ready for any act of brutality, such as the beating of Sophie Altschuler.

The same kind of evidence was given the citizens' committee at Miss McDowell's conference last Thursday regarding the firm of Arthur Weiss on W. Adams street. These drunken bullies are the creature Mayor Dever considers fit to preside, law and order. Fortunately they arouse only the contempt, not the fear, of the striking girl garment workers.

Annie Welcher are working in shops which have settled. They were arrested when they stopped to talk with friends on the picket line. All will be arraigned in S. Clark St. police court this morning. They are out on bail.

Federation Picketing.
The committee of 15 of the Chicago Federation of Labor will hold an important meeting Thursday at which the issue of picketing by the Federation itself will come up for decision. Member meetings of the labor unions affiliated with the Chicago Federation are acting on the announcement of the chairman of the Committee of 15 at the Federation meeting Sunday afternoon and are volunteering their individual services to the Garment Workers' Union for the picket line.

OIL COMMITTEE TO END THE TEAPOT QUIZ

"Principal" Mystery Still Left Unsolved

WASHINGTON, March 17.—As the capitalist press throughout the country is limbering up for a campaign to sidetrack the oil investigation on the ground that it is destroying confidence in the government, it was announced today that the committee is approaching the end of its labors. Already the Hearst press in featuring inspired cartoons, insinuating that no evidence has been produced so far nothing in fact but a large crop of rumors.

Whitewash Coming Soon!
There is a general belief that the refusal of the committee to deny the fix the "principal" telegram on Colledge and the case with which Ed. McNeil was let down, indicated that the probers had reached the limit of their usefulness.

What will LaFollette do when the Walsh investigation quits, leaving the men higher up unsmirched? It is the question now asked in Washington progressive circles. It was LaFollette who introduced the original Teapot Dome investigation resolution.

The investigations of the Teapot Dome committee to date are as follows:
1.—Institution of court action to cancel the leases and promise of oil.
2.—Nominations of Secretary of the Navy Denby who signed the leases and investigation of the official acts of Attorney General Daugherty now under way by a separate senate committee.

Testimony showing that A. B. Fall, who leased the reserves, got big loans from E. L. Doherty and later from Harry F. Sinclair.

Women's Peace Conference May 1-7.
WASHINGTON, March 17.—The first international peace conference to be held in America since the world war will be that of the Women's International League meeting here May 1-7 in its fourth biennial congress.

Attorney General and Pal, Both Identified as Ringleaders In Great Picture-Graft Conspiracy

(Special to The Daily Worker)
WASHINGTON, March 17.—Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty was identified as the man behind the plan to exhibit Dempsey-Carpenter fight films in more than a score of states by Jay Muma, one of the promoters of the plan, C. O. One More Day, Then Our Teapot Special Arrives

FROM every nook and corner of the United States letters stream in mourning for the "Teapot Special" of the DAILY WORKER, which will appear tomorrow. The workers are impatient. They want to see the special, not to see the workers' special.

From the mountain communities of Kentucky, where the native-born Americans are illiterate, even the America is supposed to do a lot for its people, from the mines of Pennsylvania, from New York down Florida (not Palm Beach) from the big cities of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and the rest, from the two coasts from the Middle West, from local unions, from unemployed miners, from every part of the country, there is a flood of orders, and with them warm messages full of eagerness and enthusiasm.

The workers and farmers over the country are anxious they are expecting their special. They want to know the full truth about this enormous corruption within the rotten government and they want copies of the truth. The DAILY WORKER will give them all the truth, for it is the enemy of the government and has nothing to hide from the workers and farmers.

In a few hours our press will be working beyond capacity turning out the enormous "Teapot Special" edition.

Never before was such enthusiasm aroused among the masses. By their great demand for "The Teapot Special" the masses are demonstrating against the criminal policy of the capitalist, against the capitalist government, against the whole rotten system from top to bottom, against the capitalist government honeycombed with graft, sold to the millions, serving its rich masters and crushing the workers and farmers.

From Denver, Colorado, we receive a letter, which says: "I wish (1000) one thousand copies of the 'Teapot Dome Special'. We held off because we expected to raise enough money for 5000 copies."

From Ruckles, Florida: "Here are $2 for 100 of the oil edition. You are making a hit in this nook of the world."

From Livingston, Ill.: "Enclosed please find $1 check for 50 copies of the 'Teapot Special' and let me express my opinion that if we had this DAILY WORKER for many years, it would be close to the temple of the existing system of today."

And so the letters read one after another, all of them expressing their confidence in the Workers Party who organ the DAILY WORKER in expressing their confidence in the Communist movement.

The workers are impatient on the fight against the oppressive capitalist government, and one of the workers' subjects is the DAILY WORKER. The workers and farmers are impatient to see the special to realize who is championing the cause and they are turning to us, the DAILY WORKER, which is their champion.

Workers and farmers of the United States get ready for the "Teapot Special" and take a trip to Washington to see the special. We will send you a close view of what the exalted government of the grand old capitalist country is doing.

Write Oshers will be received up until the 15th of the month. Send your orders to DAILY WORKER, 1640 N. Halsted Street.

D. OF J. TOOL OF PRIVATE BURNS' FIRM

Letters Show How Labor Spying Was Divided

How William J. Burns used his job with the Department of Justice in Washington to drum up trade for his private detective agency with the copper companies of the Southwest is told in the letters from L. P. Pross, manager of the Burns Los Angeles office, to the head office of the agency in New York.

These letters are among the 200 Burns labor spy letters which have fallen into the hands of the Industrial Workers of the World and which are now being made public through Industrial Solidarity. They constitute one of the most startling exposures of the labor spy published in years.

Getting In With McAdoo.
In one of the letters we read how Burns had planned to get the Department of Justice job should McAdoo win the White House. In another letter, which follows, the Los Angeles manager tells how the espionage is profited among the various agencies and how the agency is aided by Department of Justice employees.

The letter is dated Los Angeles, California, May 19, 1923, and is addressed to William Garver, Manager, New York office, Burns Detective Agency. Extracts from it follow:

"I am enclosing some reports of one of my investigators, who is making a tour of all mining camps throughout the State of Arizona. This tour is being made up so to get a line on the radical movement thru the entire State, and my clients are all the big mining interests of Arizona, they having formed an association, one of all the work for the Association.

Costs Are Pre-Told.
"Since I am a first investigator (whose reports I am enclosing) left, we have added another man to start from the southern end of Arizona around Tucson; then on the 5th of this month I am starting a third man, etc. What one investigator misses the others ought to pick up and still it makes the investigation very cheap, as the charges for time and expenses are different companies, and there being some thirty odd companies you can readily see that the investigations will not cost them more than two or three dollars a day each."

Burns Drummed Up The Trade.
"All arrangements on this operation were made while the Governor (Burns) was here in Los Angeles. I am also sending copies of each report to him so that the Department of Justice will have full records of all going on, and, in fact, the agent in charge of the Department of Justice in Arizona is in work in conjunction with our investigators so that should anything in particular come up, they would need immediate attention, various agents in charge will be ready to go with us.

See The Guggenheims.
"I am also sending reports from day to day as they come in so that you will be thoroughly conversant with the entire situation, and it may come in good stead for you in the Guggenheims and other big interests are always interested in the case. You will be able to obtain some work some of the time. I have written to Mr. R. J. Burns, Front, care of the New Mine Managers 'Fleeced'."

My Dear Raymond: Since May 2nd I have been on an investigation for the Mining Interests of Arizona. I have been in a state of constant work.

The Bonus Controversy

The tug of war over the bonus is about to come to an end. Unless unforeseen circumstances intervene the question of granting adjusted compensation to the ex-soldiers will come up for settlement in the House of Representatives within a few days.
The medium of the War Finance Corporation the government has granted millions of dollars in bonuses to the big companies for having put their organizations at the disposal of the government during the war. To be correct, one should state that these corporations were given a chance by the government to clean up billions in profits and then were given a bonus on the side.

June 17 and the Next Task

The states where genuine farmer-labor parties exist have united their forces for the gigantic convention that is to be held in the Twin Cities June 17 and hope and enthusiasm now should be the attitude of the militant workers and farmers and that this is the most important development possible.
They have worked unceasingly to unite the farmer-labor movement of America and they have been successful in those who know with what devotion the militants throw themselves into work of this character can have any idea of the strain they have been under.
There is no longer any doubt that the economic breakdown of American capitalism with its misery for the masses has brought the inevitable but long-awaited move toward mass political expression.

Why then all this noise about the workers and farmers who endangered their lives during the war while the capitalists were staying home and clipping dividends?

Why then all this noise about the workers and farmers who endangered their lives during the war while the capitalists were staying home and clipping dividends?
The answer to these queries is very simple. The government of the United States is dedicated to serving the employing class. It will never make the slightest move in behalf of the workers and farmers unless it is compelled to do so by the dangerous pressure of these masses.
This strike-breaking agency of ours, parading as the government, is in the hands of the capitalists, and this will be more with the idea of repairing their own political forces than with the objective of giving the poor ex-soldiers even a fragment of what is long overdue to them.

Shamrocks and Strikers

On St. Patrick's Day the striking garment workers and other interested observers on South Market Street were regaled with the spectacle of Jewish bosses handing out silk shamrocks to the Irish policemen who were clubbing and arresting their former employees.
The capitalist class of this country has profited greatly by fomenting dissension between the workers of Jewish and Irish birth and extraction, but the Market Street incident is ample proof that racial and religious differences are easily reconciled when the workers and the so-called lackeys are face to face with the problem of the workers.
