

REPEALS CASE PROMISED TO MILLER SEE

Miller Sticks by His Muscle Shoal Story

WASHINGTON, May 7.—James Martin Miller, former employee of the Dearborn Independent, who quoted President Coolidge as saying he was "trying to deliver Muscle Shoals to Henry Ford," today told the Senate agriculture committee that he had "correctly stated the President's words."

"I had a conference with the President on October 12, 1923, at 10:30 a. m. and 25 minutes later I sent the telegram to E. G. Liebold, Ford's secretary," Miller said.

"The president himself brought up the Muscle Shoals question at our conference," Miller said, "and he can deny it. The denial, however, was a crass political dissimulation."

TEACHERS FIGHT IMPORTED SUPPLY BAN ON COUNCILS

Instructor's Union Is Up In Arms

Elementary school teachers of Chicago are holding a mass meeting this afternoon at 115 Dearborn street, to discuss the serious situation that has arisen over the proposed ban on imported supplies for the semiannual Teachers' Council meeting.

McAndrew has refused to issue an order to elementary teachers for the calling of the semiannual Teachers' Council meeting.

McAndrew is fighting the Teachers' Councils, which have been in existence since 1918. He deliberately sabotaged the calling of the meetings this year because the Teachers' Councils are to be before the Board of Education this week and naturally would be discussed in the Teachers' Councils.

According to the Chicago Teachers Federation, McAndrew does not want the teachers to influence the Board of Education in regard to the ban on high schools and possible acceptance of the platform plan. McAndrew has been fighting the Teachers' Councils ever since during the last month, charging that he was not permitted to sell books for school supplies, rules and to laws of their organization.

Following the lead given him by the boss' lawyer, Judge Foell did not charge the strikers with picketing. He said that he would not sentence them to jail for picketing as Hyde admitted. He said that he would not sentence them to jail for picketing as Hyde admitted.

FREE STATE TO HAVE MINISTER AT WASHINGTON

Increases Prestige Of Irish Government

LONDON, May 7.—The British government has announced its appointment of Professor Timothy Sheehy, first minister of the Irish Free State to the United States. The Evening News reported today.

Sheehy, a former faculty member of York University, now is in Washington, according to the newspaper. Professor Sheehy's appointment awaits word from the State Department.

"This action on the part of the British government," is calculated to strengthen the prestige of the Free State government, which holds that acceptance of the 1921 treaty, was in line with the Irish Republic as its goal. While the Labor Party in London is a member of the British government, it is expected that it will correspondingly support the bourgeois republicans and compel the radical followers of De Valera to line up with the Irish Republic as its goal.

 CLEVELAND, May 7.—Lot business "cleared itself." This was the meaning of the speech which Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover made tonight before the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

"The business world," said Hoover, to the applause of his millionaire audience, is not an economic "dog and pony" show. It is a "dog and pony" show of comfort and depend upon the maintenance and development of leadership in the world of industry and commerce." He said he believed the majority of these workers were inspired by ethical ideals.

The three-year coal agreement was a shining example of self-organization of an industry, asserted the commerce secretary. He admitted that it would not be a success until the miners, referring to the "stabilization" of the industry thru the closing down of various mines, with strikes forbidden.

The Word of Labor and Agriculture

LABOR FAKER ADMITS GUILT IN BOMB CASE

Senator Lacey, of N. Y., Admits Perjury

By H. M. WICKS.
 BUFFALO, N. Y., June 7.—State Senator Robert C. Lacey, arraigned before Federal Judge Hazel on a charge of perjury in connection with the dynamiting of the Niagara Falls high speed line of the International Railway Company during the street car strike of 1922, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to a fine of $500 and one day in jail.

According to competent legal authorities, Lacey bore his citizenship and thereby his right to sit in the State Senate, which is denied at Albany.

The charge against Lacey grew out of the dynamiting of the high speed line during the car strike which started July 1, 1922. The bombing of the members of the Buffalo movement in Buffalo occurred in August, 1922, in Buffalo in charge of the car strike, and the company to discredit the strikers, who were supported overwhelmingly by the population of this city.

Conroy implicated.

Clarence Conroy, notorious reactionary, who was the business agent of the street car men's union, was soon implicated in the case. The agreement was the rumor implicating Conroy that a United States grand jury was formed to inquire into the matter against him. This indictment was quickly followed by charges against Senator Lacey and various officials of the car men's union, charging conspiracy to transport dynamite. Four of those indicted on conspiracy charges have already pleaded guilty, and twelve more are awaiting trial.

To Perjury for Government.

Lacey was permitted to plead guilty to the charge of perjury and received a light sentence. Lacey, in the view of his record as a Tammanyite thug of capitalism, that the $500 was paid by his political masters, so his only inconvenience was his one day jail sentence which was a mere formality. Colonel William B. Donovan, United States attorney, said that Lacey had made a full confession of his guilt. It is believed that Lacey will be used as a government witness against the street car men still under charges of conspiracy.

Judge Praises Lacey.

Judge Hazel, in sentencing Lacey, praised him for his "courageous attitude in 'making a clean breast of it.'"

Altogether his offense was a masterpiece of states that made it possible to let the "big boys" off.

There are rumors that Conroy is to go on trial for conspiracy. The "secret railway company" used this traitor to labor as long as they could, and now that the strike is smashed and the union completely destroyed, they leave the miserable creatures they used against the workers to face the music.

"A Labor Senator?"

When the Buffalo Labor Party was in the process of concealing the interest opponents were Lacey and Conroy. Lacey at that time was Senator, having been elected by the Democratic machine as a "friend of labor." Municipal elections were approaching and Lacey became a candidate for the Central Labor Council failed to gain the needed support, so they refrained from presenting his name to the body.

Insurgent and violent, Lacey typifies that narrow, element of organized labor that is always ready to sell a strike to the employers, or the contemptible game of the bosses by indulging in dynamiting of struck property.

The significant thing about the August, 1922, dynamiting of the Niagara Falls line was the fact that a representative of the company had his car parked within a short distance of the scene. Dynamite was found in Senator Lacey's car, and after a few weeks' indictments were returned against a number of active strikers.

"Honest" labor leaders in Buffalo claim that Lacey and Conroy were probably both released by convenience to turn state's witnesses, while some of the workers implicated will be made the goats.

Now that the object for which the International Railway Company has been fought—destruction of the union—has been achieved, nothing remains but to dispose of the mess in the easiest way, with the least inconvenience to those involved.

Lacey was one of Governor's local apocryphs, and his election was hailed by the Old Man of the Sea as a great victory for labor.

Lacey has been silent on the Lacey confession, but the Buffalo trade union movement and the Buffalo Labor Party has gained thereby.

FARMERS WILL STARVE FOR TEN MORE YEARS SAYS SEARS' REPORT, BRIGHTER PROSPECTS AFTER DECADE

Danger that the sacrifice of the American farmer to commodity prices will go too far is seen in the announcement of the department of agriculture that the net loss of farm population to the cities since 1920 has amounted to between 1,700,000 and 2,000,000. Experts fear that the agricultural system will be unduly run down and that land will go out of cultivation which will later have to be reclaimed at heavy expense.

The drift to the cities since 1920, the department says, has been at the annual rate of about 1,000,000, partly offset by a movement the other way and by the excess of human birth over deaths on the farm. From 1900 to 1910 this excess was 16,996 for rural territory compared with 8.5 for the cities.

Since 1910 the drift will reduce the per capita production of food below the danger line or to a point where a bad season would result in serious food shortage approaching famine conditions.

The opening of the century marked a turning point in this country because rapidly than farm production. Since that time the exportable surplus of grain has steadily declined. Crop area per person in the United States dropped in the first two decades of the century from 3.50 acres to 2.18 acres, more than 9 percent. It is dropping now at a more rapid rate.

This tendency will eventually force a backward flow to the farms which can hardly be produced without some violent social convulsion at present economic stage.

The supply of farm labor on April 1, according to the department of agriculture, was estimated at 92 percent of the demand. The shortage was less than a year ago when the demand for farm labor was 10 percent above the supply. The improvement this year is probably due in part to the demand for farm labor to plant and demand unemployment in the industrial areas.

The steady infiltration of Negro labor from the south appears in the report that the demand for farm labor with the greatest shortage to only 84 percent of the demand. In the west, southwest, and

EXPECT ROOFERS TO JOIN WAR ON ST. LOUIS BOSSES

Painters Battling With Associated Builders

By MARTIN A. DILLON.
 (Special to the Daily Worker.)
 ST. LOUIS, May 7.—The painters are still on strike for an increase of wages and improvements in working conditions, and a strike of composition roofers and pile drivers is an immediate prospect.

The painters voted a few days ago to reduce their $12 demand to $11 a week. While the roofers demand $12.75 an hour, the pile drivers want $15.00 an hour. The pile drivers are affiliated with the carpenters' district council in a turmoil of industrial war since the inception of the Associated Builders' Federation. This group is made up of employers of every trade in construction. An employer who is a member of the A. B. F. is not permitted to sign an agreement with his employees. This group is the result of the one big union of contractors.

Builders' Membership—Real Estate. The "Real Estate" in the A. B. F. is allowed the bankers association, the architects' organization and the real estate board. According to the striking painters, the real estate board has sent circular letters to its members, asking them to sign a joint union painting done on the basis of $12 a week and the new union rate, will be penalized.

COAL OPERATORS' GOVERNOR OF KENTUCKY LETS BOSSES BREAK LAWS, SENDS TROOPS TO MINES

TO THE DAILY WORKER: While the so-called "mine war" in eastern Kentucky is attracting so much attention will you allow me speak a few words in the columns of the DAILY WORKER, by way of pointing out a few conditions which I know to exist that exist in Kentucky coal fields—conditions which are thoroughly familiar with, as one who lived in that region from babyhood until only a few months ago.

Governor Fields is very responsive to the call of the coal operators. He is right on the job with troops galore to send into the mining zone, with instructions to work in conjunction with the two-legged degenerates, somewhat resembling human beings, otherwise known as "mine guards," whenever the coal companies see fit to call for them. Like all other political watchdogs of privilege (Tybald apologies, of course, to all decent dogs) he stands just outside his kennel, with both ears stuck up, listening for his master's whistle.

Blind to Mines.

But what about the mine? What is the attitude of Governor Fields toward them? What is the attitude of Kentucky's governing class toward them? What is the attitude of the governing class of that state—toward the people without whose labor it would be impossible to produce anything but tremendous majority of more than 90 percent of the population. Does he show the same tender and watchful regard for the welfare and interests of these miners? Does he show the same tender and watchful regard for the welfare and interests of these miners? Does he show the same tender and watchful regard for the welfare and interests of these miners?

Companies Promise To Bring Reforms

SEATTLE, May 7.—Grand Jurors at Kotzebue, Alaska, and Yald Alaska, of horrible labor conditions in the Alaska canneries have brought promises of reform by the big companies. The fact that it was getting harder to procure labor for the Alaska Trust is a minimum amount of $75 in cash over each employee for his return to port; liberal supply of fresh food to each worker; manager on the vessels to and from the canneries and payment of wages under contract.
