

SEE FARM-LABOR PARTY AS HOPE OF FOREIGN-BORN

Milwaukee Council For St. Paul Convention

(Special to The Daily Worker) MILWAUKEE, May 14.—Enthusiastic endorsement of the June 17 convention at St. Paul has been given by the Milwaukee Council for the Protection of Foreign-Born Workers composed of labor unions and foreign language groups.

The council sees a strong political movement by the workers and farmers as the greatest weapon against the persecution of foreign born workers now being carried on thru immigration laws and by other methods.

At a mass protest meeting, May 22, at West Side Turner hall, 304 Fourth street, socialist workmen and laborers will put the farm-labor party case before the workers.

The council's statement on the Farmer-Labor issue says in part: "Urges Farmer-Labor Party. The council further believes that the best way of combating foreign-borne directed against the farm-labor party case is to have and organize workers to organize their political and industrial power and to shoulder it shoulder against the bosses."

A strong organized labor movement, embracing native and foreign born workers alike, a strong Farmer-Labor party to fight the battles of the workers and farmers—these are the weapons with which the native and foreign born workers must fight to secure better things for themselves.

The council urges the affiliated organizations to discuss this question at their meetings and to conduct a systematic campaign for every member joining the union of his industry and to fight the political battles of the workers.

Farmers' Insurance Tax-free In Spite Of Big Companies

(By The Federated Press) WASHINGTON, May 14.—Two thousand insurance companies in the farming communities of the country are relieved of the tax burden by the internal revenue bureau, by an amendment adopted by the senate in the revenue bill at the demand of Sen. Shipstead, Farmer-Labor party, which exempts from the tax exemption slips out to farmers' mutual insurance companies.

The internal revenue bureau, by a ruling that these exempt means only companies operating in the rural neighborhood of a few square miles, had begun to collect some 8 years back taxes on the same amount of business as the mutual companies pay for losses to their members thru fire, hail, tornado and other calamities. The private insurance companies were back of the ruling, since they expected to drive the mutuals out of business and write hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of insurance at increased rates.

CARDINAL LOGUE OF IRELAND MAINTAINS PRECARIOUS TOEHOLD ON WRONG SIDE OF FREE STATE LINE

DUBLIN, May 14.—The struggle between the Free State and the old government over the fixing of the boundary between the twenty-six counties under the southern government's jurisdiction and the six counties under Orange rule is growing in intensity. When Lord Curzon, British ambassador, visited Ireland in 1922 and set both sides to the British ruling class, that they should not forget. No doubt Mr. Curzon has long ago received material compensation, the sickle voters have consigned him to comparative oblivion.

The Irish question no longer is an international frontier in the British imperial foot. After the treaty was signed a factional struggle between rival groups of bourgeois nationalists culminated in civil war. When the Republicans were defeated, the question of the border boundary was raised. The British rulers simply signed a factional struggle between rival groups of bourgeois nationalists culminated in civil war.

The radical Irish workers are not shedding any tears over the fact that the Irish bourgeoisie are disoriented. To them united front means unity among the progressive Irish laborists, to secure possession of their rightful heritage, the land of Ireland and the right to work for their own benefit.

Capitalists Worried. Since the Irish labor party has taken the position of the border boundary has made considerable political gains. This has produced a rift among the ranks of the Belfast capitalists. Sir James Craig is more afraid of the Irish bourgeoisie than he is of Cosgrave and the Catholic church. He could get along much better with the Catholic church than with the radical workers, who would have his holdings on the greatest length of the latter was without his Fascist bodyguard.

It is not surprising therefore that he has urged to President Cosgrave to take the position of the border boundary has made considerable political gains. This has produced a rift among the ranks of the Belfast capitalists.

The boundary dispute is aggravated by the position in which Cardinal Logue, the Catholic primate of Ireland, finds himself. His palace in Armagh being a prince of the church, he must live in a palace, and republican Armagh is bringing a little about papal titles these days.

Cardinal Logue is one of the most important dignitaries in the movement in the world. He is a dyed-in-the wool labor party ally against the movement for Irish independence. Today he sides with the Free State because of the support of his church demand. No cardinal can be appointed in Ireland without the sanction of the British government, and since that government grants its free subsidy to Maynooth college, the Roman Catholic seminary, in 1845, the Catholic church has been a very efficient police force and information service to Downing street.

Pluses Like Him. In a statement recently issued by the cardinal, he deplored religious strife and told his three visits to America, where he was treated more generously by the Protestants than the Catholics. The cardinal has no reason to complain of his treatment.

WORKER ARRESTED FOR STEALING BOTTLE OF MILK; HANGS HIMSELF

(By The Federated Press) WASHINGTON, May 14.—Frank Okensky was known as a good and desirable citizen in Westport, N. Y., until last year as a longshoreman. He lost his job. He walked the streets but could not find work. His wife and children were starving. On a doorstep he saw a bottle of milk and a loaf of bread. He took them home to his hungry family. Before he got home, a policeman arrested him. In his cell he hanged himself.

Vetoes High School Meet On Centralia Case

(Special to The Daily Worker) SPOKANE, Wash., May 14.—After the local board of education had consented to allow a lecture on the Centralia case, the Lewis and Clark high school auditorium, the Associated Industries of the Inland Empire set up such a protest that the educational authorities were impelled to rescind the invitation.

Another hall has been obtained for the Centralia lecture, and the change of location is being widely advertised. Friends of the Centralia defense committee are planning to hold a public hearing on the Centralia case in the high school auditorium, the Associated Industries of the Inland Empire set up such a protest that the educational authorities were impelled to rescind the invitation.

International cooperation in agriculture will gather and interpret for the people of the world the work of the farmer and the worker in farm and country life, such legislation in the interest of the farmer and the worker to simplify and cheapen distribution of outcrop products.

No cooperation on an international basis will suffice unless it is supported by free organization of the farmers.

WOMEN ORGANIZE MAY 17 MARCH ON N. Y. CITY HALL

Working-class Women Want Better Homes

To the DAILY WORKER.—We have been asked why we call our organization the "United Council of Working-Class Women"—why not just plain "working women"? The argument is made that the latter is simpler and more commonly in use.

Yes, it is simpler in that one word less is said. But the fact is, the two terms are not the same; they mean the same thing.

The "working woman" is the woman who works in industry. If she is organized she soon finds herself in the union of her trade. If her industry is not organized and she is interested in organization, she is in the shop, the store or the factory where she can talk to her fellow workers. Her economic problems are direct industrial problems. She is in direct contact with the boss and all the conditions of either large or small scale production.

While the member of the family who has his struggle in the shop against the boss, it is she who must, at the end of the month's struggle with the cost of food and clothing, meet the impossible rents for a miserable shelter. It is she who must face the landlord when the money is not all there, to look for an extension of time. It is she who bears the brunt in striking when the children beg at her skirts, leaving for bread and cannot give them. And the loss she is experiencing on the part of the strikers, the worse for her and her husband, the worse for her family, the worse for the working class.

Yes, it is the working class woman who is now beginning to awaken. Yes, husbands and brothers are organizing "working women." It is the women who have hitherto been poked away in the kitchen, or the laundry, or physically who are arousing ourselves, each, each to the necessity of getting together, to make the struggle that our class is waging against the unbearable conditions that oppress us. We are learning to see our problems and the problems of our men in the shops, are not one problem, that our common fight is against the problem of the entire working class.

We are building a powerful organization—the United Council of Working-Class Women. If you know really all this means, if you are a working class woman join us. If you know a working class woman, urge her to join us.

Your Fraternally,
The United Council of Working-Class Women
GENTLEMAN NOTE: On May 17th, the United Council of Working-Class Women of Greater New York, will go out in demonstration to demand of the city that it build houses at a rate that will take care of all women should join this demonstration and take their children with them if they can.

NEW YORK, May 14. The United Council of Working-Class Women organized for the promotion of workers' interests. More than three hundred women in Greater New York, these women realize the necessity first of building a powerful organization that has taken as their immediate task that of drawing as many conscious working class women as possible into the existing Local Councils and organizing new councils where they exist.

They work their outdoor rallies, indoor meetings and by house-to-house visits in which they build up the basis by personal talks and by distribution of literature setting forth the aims and purposes of the organization.

Push Baby and Pampers.—The women work with extraordinary care and enthusiasm. Mothers with infants at the city health centers get right on the job, as determined as they are to get rid of the hateful treating their babies. ## SOCIALIST TACTICS DISGUST THE OKLAHOMA WORKERS AND FARMERS; BALK AT THIRD PARTY PLATFORM

By JOSEPH MANLEY (Special to The Daily Worker).—The Saturday morning session of the Oklahoma Workers and Farmers' Convention, opened in a spirit of most intense expectancy of a battle that the newspapers had freely predicted, between the communists on one hand as the champions of the class Farmer-Labor Party and the St. Paul Convention; and on the other hand the Leader "steam roller," championing the idea of a loosely joined committee standing for La Follette and the Cleveland Conference for Progressive Political Action.

The matter coming before the convention had been left over for a decision from the night before. It was that the proposed Oklahoma Farmer-Labor Party "have a flexible policy of endorsing or opposing any party candidates."

Finally the vote was taken and immediately it split for the door and to steal all the votes said I was soothed by the narrow margin of 31 to 20. Soviet Russia's Ultimatum

Soviet Russia has discontinued trade relations with Germany as a result of the failure of the reactionary German government to make amends for the recent raid on the offices of the Soviet trade delegation in Berlin.

The capitalist press tries to minimize the importance of this action but quite outside of the economic debilitation that it will bring about in Germany it has a deep political significance.

Soviet Russia, because of the backwardness of the revolutionary movement in other capitalist nations, has been forced to make certain compromises with the capitalist system.

The Future in Pullman

The striking carbuilders have gone back to their jobs in Pullman. They fought a game fight, they got about all they could, against the big obstacles that confronted them.

While the Pullman carbuilders toil at their daily tasks under the lash of the speed-up system, let them remember that their greatest strength is in organization, political and industrial.

While on strike you organized some of your numbers into the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen. Let no day pass, carbuilders of Pullman, without securing new adhesions to your union.

AS WE SEE IT

By T. J. O'FLAHERTY

For the first time in history William (Bill) Sunday flew down on a plane to Chicago for a sermon.

The evangelist was off with an attack of food poisoning following a banquet which was given in his honor by local bankers.

It was announced that the liquor was not what it ought to be, but this report may be concocted by the Committee, who were responsible for the investigations now going on in Washington resulting in the removal of Deputy Daugherty.

"Spike" O'Donnell, a Chicago habitué, has been asked to change his affairs according to the rules and regulations of the Chamber of Commerce.

On the whole the music was not so good. Most of it was of the kind that is heard in the streets of the city.

The acting was excellent. William Kerr as Halsey Jack Stambach, the young man who is the hero of the story, was especially good.

But the entry of Queen Bess and the prohibition against men wearing suits through all the rest to see.

New York Women To March On City Hall To Hit High Rents

NEW YORK, May 14.—A demonstration staged by the United Council of Workingclass Women will march down Broadway tomorrow afternoon.

The marchers will gather at Rutgers Square at 1:30 p. m. in case of rain, the demonstration will be held on the following Saturday.

In a statement issued by the office of the organization, it was said that the demonstration is organized for the purpose of protesting against the increase in rents.

An appeal is made to working class women to join the Council, which has an office at 125 4th Avenue, New York City.

Liars' Mulling Contest

NEW YORK, May 14.—Lawyers and capitalists newspaper get the worst of it in a mutual mud-slinging contest here today.

After a time Shakespeare actors, and the house provides the playwrights with forbidden liquor.

But soon the famous Ruby player, Sir Henry O'Hare enters, and the baronet's wife, Mrs. O'Hare, enters a duel between the L. C. man and his rival, during which Queen Elizabeth appears with her royal train.
