LEWIS-FARRINGTON CLIQUE GETS CRUSHING DEFEAT AT HANDS OF RANK AND FILE

170 GREEK BOSSES GET COURT AID

Judge Friend Issues New Injunction

When the 17 injunctions issued by Judge Hugo Friend failed to stop the picketing of the Northside Greek Restaurants by the striking members of the Amalgamated Food Workers, the Greek bosses decided to band together and have just one association and one injunction try to stop the organization of the food workers.

Judge Friend has now more proved himself friendly only to the Greek bosses by giving them another injunction.

170 Bosses Scared.
The injunction was given on May 19 to the "American Association of Greek Restaurant Keepers against the Amalgamated Food Workers (an independent labor union), Hotel and Restaurant Branch, Chicago." Union officials have just been served with the injunction which is intended to prevent them from acting in over 170 Greek restaurants situated all over the city.

A. Askonis is president of the new association of the Greek food workers. He has a restaurant at the corner of N. Clark and Division streets and runs an extremely profitable real estate business on the side. John Pappas is treasurer for the Greek bosses. He has three restaurants on the further north side.

Political Lawyers Lead Bosses.
According to the union officials, eight of the restaurants included in the new injunction have never been approached with a union contract and some of the places are quite unknown to them. Forgive the Greeks, Demos and Felix J. Stropoulos, hope, the Amalgamated Food Workers say, to put an end to the union fight for the six-day week and eight-hour day in the Greek restaurants of Chicago.

Fight Bosses Union.
Instead of stopping the work of the labor organization, the new injunction has actually stimulated interest in the union and many new members are coming in to join the fight under the best conditions in the Greek restaurants. Most of the Greeks in these restaurants are Greeks themselves and strongly resent their exploitation by their countrymen. They want to work seven days a week and 12 to 14 hours a day now.

The Amalgamated Food Workers held a big mass meeting last night at their headquarters on North State street, to consider what tactics to develop for the carrying on of their work and for the defeat of the Greek bosses' new injunction.

Paul Demos one of the lawyers representing the Greek restaurant bosses told the DAILY WORKER that the main objection of the association he represented against the union is that the Amalgamated Food Workers' Union is not a "regular" labor organization. He said that they were only "pretending to be a labor organization."

"They have no connection with the Federation of Labor and never did have," he said. "They were planning a conspiracy against the Greeks of this city."

Representatives of the union in answering the statements of Demos, said that their union is an independent industrial organization and its admission to membership all workers in "the lunch rooms and restaurants from the fish waders to the cashiers and the chefs. The reason attention has been paid especially to the Greek restaurants is because the Greek restaurants have poor wages and work their help long hours and give them the poorest sort of food. The union is organizing the workers in the Greek restaurants because they are rebelling against the conditions imposed by their bosses not because the union has any feeling against the members of any nationality, union leaders say."

Nonpartisan City Takes Street Car.

Morgan Dictates to France A Great Victory!

A NEW CABINET GETS ORDERS FROM "J. P."

The Illinois coal miners have spoken. They have declared for Alexander Howat and against the John L. Lewis-Frank Farrington reactionary regime in the United Mine Workers of America.

It was an historic moment in the Peoria Convention when the resolution went thru, practically unanimously, demanding "a fair and impartial trial for Howat" at a special convention.

That is all that Howat demanded at Indianapolis at the international convention in February.

But when Alex Howat tried to mount the stage at Tomlinson Hall, to tell his story to the delegates, he was pushed off the platform by the gunmen and thugs of the Lewis dictatorship in the union.

Lewis was all-powerful at Indianapolis, behind the guns of his own thugs, just as he was at the Scranton convention, in the anthracite fields, and at the Pittsburgh convention of western Pennsylvania miners.

But the district conventions of Kansas and Michigan, and now Illinois, the largest in the miners' jurisdiction, has taken its stand with Howat, in the fight for the special convention, that see that justice is done to the bravest fighters in the organization.

Howat was in jail in Kansas when he was expelled by Lewis without trial. Howat was in jail in his fight on the western Kansas industrial court, fostered by Governor Allen.

Since Howat went to jail and came out again, Governor Allen has been defeated for re-election in Kansas, the industrial court, weapons of the open shop bosses against the labor unions, has been put on the shelf, and now Lewis, with Farrington, is before the bar of the miners' union, to answer for their crime, the biggest crime being the building of an alliance with the mine owners against the most courageous elements in the miners' union.

At first Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois coal miners, stood with Howat against Lewis. But Lewis took Farrington up on the mountain, showed him the cross of gold, secured his pledge to forget his differences, and since then Lewis and Farrington have been as twin brothers against all progress in the fight of the miners against the mine owners.

Farrington said he did to quit Howat because Howat met with the Progressive Miners in Pittsburgh now almost a year ago. This was a crime in Farrington's eyes. Farrington, in order to bolster up his tottering position, has used all the arguments against Howat and the Progressive Miners, that Compers uses against the militants in the American Federation of Labor, that Sigman, in the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, and Kaufman in the Furriers' Union, uses against the vanguard in these two organizations; that reaction in all labor unions uses to make war upon all progress.

Howat is for the class farmer-labor party. Farrington is for the republican party of Wall Street, and for the re-election of the republican governor of Illinois, Len Small.

Howat is for the workers. Farrington is for the political agents of the bosses and the big capitalists.

The coal miners' delegates at Peoria knew all these things. All the soft and hard words of International President Lewis, in a two hour speech, could not move them against the facts they knew. All cajoling of Farrington, and his agent Mercer, could not budge them. They had learned their lesson well, the lesson that the strength of the union is represented against the union and the will to act of the broad masses of the membership, and not upon the hesitating, stand-pat policies of a vacillating leadership, that seeks to curry favor with the employers at the expense of the interests of the rank and file.

It was a great day when the United Mine Workers of America, a district with 100,000 members, stood with Howat against Lewis, in a two hour speech, could not move them against the facts they knew. All cajoling of Farrington, and his agent Mercer, could not budge them. They had learned their lesson well, the lesson that the strength of the union is represented against the union and the will to act of the broad masses of the membership, and not upon the hesitating, stand-pat policies of a vacillating leadership, that seeks to curry favor with the employers at the expense of the interests of the rank and file.

HERE IS RESOLUTION THAT WRECKED LEWIS-FARRINGTON ALLIANCE

Here is the resolution which the Illinois Miners' convention passed with only half a dozen dissenting votes, rebuking the Lewis-Farrington machine for their unfairness to Howat, and demanding a special international convention for the purpose of giving Howat a fair trial.

The issues were clearly put before the delegates. Lewis made excuses to the delegates as to why he had not succeeded in putting into effect the rank and file platform of the progressive miners.

Howat stood squarely with the rank and file for the organization of the non-union coal fields, for the complete progressive miners' platform. The cheers and enthusiasm and votes of the Illinois miners went to Howat. Here is the resolution.

The Howat Resolution.
Belleville, Ill., February 20, 1924. To the Thirtieth Consecutive and Fifth Biennial Convention of District No. 12, United Mine Workers of America.

WHEREAS, The right of all members to a fair and impartial trial is a fundamental principle of trade unionism which must be jealously guarded if labor organizations are to prosper and avoid serious and disastrous internal dissension and

WHEREAS, It is a well known fact that when the officials of District No. 12 were removed from office in October, 1921, and their charter was revoked, that no charges were preferred against Howat and his associate officers in accordance with the Constitution, and that the same officers were re-elected on February 2, 1924, before a great injustice done the loyal fighters involved, but also the seeds of discontent and division were sown throughout the district and

WHEREAS, When John L. Lewis arbitrarily adjourned the 25th Consecutive and 6th Biennial Convention on February 2, 1924, before a great injustice done the loyal fighters involved, but also the seeds of discontent and division were sown throughout the district and

WHEREAS, The only way that this great controversy which threatens the future of our organization can be settled, or our organization put on a sound basis, is by a special convention for the purpose of giving a fair and impartial trial to Alexander Howat and his associates; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a demand that a Special Convention be called within three months for special purpose of giving a fair and impartial trial to Alexander Howat and his associates; and be it further

RESOLVED, That in as much as it requires that five districts must request a Special Convention be called, that copies of this resolution be sent immediately to all the District Organizations with a request that they join with us in this demand for a special convention.

Garment Workers' Delegates Return From Conventions

The Chicago delegates from the two conventions of the Russia-only garment workers which just closed in Boston and Philadelphia are expected to begin returning to town today. Many of the delegates to the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union convention in Boston, went from there to New York to confer with officers of the latter union.

The delegates to the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' convention, which opened in New York and Philadelphia to finish post convention business.

PEORIA, Ill., May 21.—The Illinois Miners' Convention here

almond unanimously passed a resolution demanding a special convention of the United Mine Workers of America, to be called within three months, for the special purpose of giving Alexander Howat, of Kansas, a fair trial and rebuking President John L. Lewis for arbitrarily adjourning the last national convention in Indianapolis, Ind.

After listening for almost two hours to President Lewis defend himself and the international officers of the Mine Workers' Union, the convention, with few dissenting votes went on record in favor of Howat, and administered the first severe defeat since the start of the convention to the Lewis-Farrington machine.

Demand Impartial Trial.
The resolution, "Resolves, that District Twelve, of the United Mine Workers of America, demand that a special convention of the U. M. W. A. be called in accordance with article 1, section 1, same to be called within three months for the special purpose of giving Alexander Howat and his associates a fair and impartial trial."

It declares that, "It is a well known fact that when the officials of District 12 were removed from office in October, 1921, and their charter revoked, that no charges were preferred against Howat and his associate officers."

It also well known that Howat and his associates have never been accorded a fair trial, despite the fact that overwhelming numbers of the membership desire that this measure of justice be accorded them.

The resolution further declares that, "When John L. Lewis arbitrarily adjourned the 25th consecutive and sixth biennial convention on February 2, 1924, before the Howat case could be properly considered, not only was a great injustice done the loyal fighters involved, but also the seeds of discontent and division were sown throughout the district and

WHEREAS, The only way that this great controversy which threatens the future of our organization can be settled, or our organization put on a sound basis, is by a special convention for the purpose of giving a fair and impartial trial to Alexander Howat and his associates; and be it further

RUHR MINERS REFUSE TO ALLOW SCABS TO COME NEAR THE MINES; STRIKE SITUATION DESPERATE

BERLIN, May 21.—The tension owing to the increasing violence accompanying the Ruhr strike is increasing. Communist patrols are picking up scabs in many sections. Miners are using force where necessary to prevent scabs from entering the mines. More than 60,000 coal diggers are now idle.

The Berlin government is helpless to cope with the situation. Coming on the heels of the break with Russia-only commercial break in the Ruhr strike is one of those straws that may be the last German capitalist's camel's back without breaking.

Police are lining up everywhere against the strikers. The agents of the police in many sections. Miners are using force where necessary to prevent scabs from entering the mines. More than 60,000 coal diggers are now idle.

Young Communists are taking an active part in the strike. Their pickets are everywhere and prevent scabs from entering the mines on any pretext even for the purpose of keeping the pumps going.

FARRINGTON HAS WORKING CLASS REPORTER BARRED

Lets Capitalist Scribes Scribble For Operators

(Special to the Daily Worker)
PEORIA, Ill., May 21.—Barred by the miners' union for publishing it suffered yesterday at the hands of the delegates on the question of using a special international convention of the United Mine Workers to reconsider its action on the Howat case, the Farrington machine today launched a vicious counter-attack against the left wing and progressive delegates for forcing thru a motion to request the correspondent of the DAILY WORKER to leave the scene.

Without the convention the DAILY WORKER has proved a steel rod to the militant, delegates determined to make the convention respond to the needs and demands of the rank and file of the United Mine Workers of America.

The Howat case has become the center of the DAILY WORKER, the only labor daily represented at the convention press table, was carried, after a stormy debate, by a vote of 214-69.

Farrington and his agents named the DAILY WORKER, which has been carrying complete stories of the meetings and which has been widely read by the delegates attending the convention, for the one-sided defeat of his machine and Lewis suffered yesterday on the Howat question.

Farrington began attack. "The attack on the working class press, was introduced by a clam attack on the Associated Press. Farrington quoted the afternoon session by reading a letter from the D. W. correspondent insisting that the district president was wrong in an earlier criticism he had made against the 'A. W.' dispatches."

Farrington explained to the convention that he had no desire to do the Associated Press correspondent any injustice but that he was called to complain if the news of the convention was not correct.

PHOTOGRAPHS CAN NOW BE SENT OVER WIRES A FEW MINUTES AFTER PICTURES OF INCIDENTS ARE TAKEN

NEW YORK, May 21.—This year, for the first time in the history of national political conventions, people far from the scene of action may be able to see and hear the proceedings practically as soon as they occur, as well as read about them.

At a result of successful tests in the transmission of news photographs by wire, the American Telephone & Telegraph company announced today that pictures of the big conventions next to be broadcasted by radio.

Arrangements already have been made for broadcasting the proceedings of both conventions by radio.

Successful Tests. The experiments conducted by the T. & T. resulted in 15 photographs being transmitted from Cleveland to New York within two hours.

Different kinds of pictures were used for the experiment first, several studies of President Coolidge were transmitted, coming out with amazing clearness and permitting first-class reproduction in the morning New York newspapers.

All were reproduced in New York papers without finishing touches and without changing the practicability of the invention.

The sending machine for the experiment was an invention of the T. & T. engineers. The experiment was conducted by numerous newspaper publishers and reporters.

MILLIONAIRE BOOTLEGGER DELIVERED THE DOUGH BUT DAUGHERTY AND CO. DID NOT DELIVER THE GOODS

By LAURENCE TODD (Staff Correspondent of The Federated Press) WASHINGTON, May 21.—George Remus, millionaire wholesale bootlegger of Cincinnati, reported by the prison schoolmaster as being treated as a privileged guest in Atlanta penitentiary, takes the stand before Senator Wheeler's committee investigating the Daugherty regime in the department of justice.

Remus is 47 and a chemist and lawyer by training. He says he bought his string of whiskey in violation of the federal law, but under the paid protection of Daugherty's friend, Jess Smith, in a year and a half. He testifies, in a convincing way, that when he bought his string of distilleries in Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana, he was soon introduced to Jess Smith in the Hotel Commodore, New York, by Attorney Zolne, partner to Thos. Feltner, Daugherty's aid in the notorious Morse pardon affair. He reached a "gentlemen's agreement" with Jess Smith.

To Keep Out of Can. Wheeler, Brookhart, Moses and Jones took turns in questioning this amazing witness while he recited the story of his payment of between $250,000 and $300,000 to Daugherty, for "permits and protection" in defiance of the law. He said he never recalled whether Smith split the money with the attorney general, and he made the payments under the disguise of "charitable contributions" to the bootleggers of the middle west, and to the "charitable" work of the prohibition to keep him and his gang out of jail. Indeed, they were to be saved from the consequences by the prohibition unit.

Smith Went Underground. His first payment to Jess Smith was $50,000. All payments were in cash. He offered to give the committee his records and the names of the bootleggers he had cashed checks and had managed to get permission to inspect the Klan camps.

He was double-crossed or unfortunate—he was not sure which—when Smith died after getting $30,000 from him to secure a pardon after his arrest had failed and Remus had been sentenced to prison. When his own boys, the "Car of Baseball" saw Mountain Landis, who won an injunction against the country for the so-called "Boys' Week" distribution, he had cashed checks and had managed to get permission to inspect the Klan camps.

MYSTERY CLOUDS HUGHES' LATEST CHINESE PUZZLE

Secretary May Soon Wake Up

(By The Federated Press) WASHINGTON, May 21.—Mystery will shroud the meaning of Secretary Hughes' latest note to the Chinese government, reminding Peking that China is to hold the power under Resolution XII of the Washington Conference of 1922, to be responsible to the powers—which did not, of course, include Russia—for her disposal of control of the Chinese Eastern Railway. This mystery centers upon the meaning of Hughes' statement that Russian interests are among those which China must account for, in any dealing she may have with Moscow regarding the road.

The Chinese Eastern was built by the Russian imperial government, under a treaty which established a treaty with China under which the Chinese were to subsidize a Russo-Asiatic Bank which was established to own the stock of the proposed railroad. Stock in the bank was divided between the Russian and Chinese governments, and Russia advanced the funds with which to build, maintain and operate the line. It was agreed that China should be privileged to buy back the stock of the bank, at the end of a period of years, by paying off the bank in maintenance and operation that may have been borne by the Russian.

Notre Dame Police Break Heads of Klans

SOUTH BEND, Ind., May 21.—State troops may be called out to keep order here where Ku Klux Klans and anti-Communists are fighting since Saturday when the Klan forces began arriving for a "May Festival."

The activities have been confined almost entirely to battles. Last night the Klan headquarters were raided by the anti-Communist forces and a fiery cross was destroyed. Mounted police backed by the entire city force kept order over the riotous scene.

Some trouble is expected from the Klan who have not given up their intention of holding a night parade in the Klan camp.

"IL LAVORATORE" BEGINS ITS DAILY LIFE ON MAY 31

Italians Picnic Sunday For Communist Paper

May 31 is the date set for the first issue of the new Italian Communist daily, "Il Lavoratore".

The Federation has arranged numerous meetings through the country among the Italian workers to celebrate the victory of their organization as well as the progress in the new paper.

Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Rochester, Cleveland, Detroit, and many lesser cities where the Italian workers are strong, will help to make the new organ of the Italian Communists a potent weapon in the struggle for this country, as well as abroad in the "land of the black shirts".

Italian workers are battling the new "Il Lavoratore" as a sturdy guardian of their interests and expect the paper to eliminate many of the fascist newspapers, which have been poisoning the minds of Italians here and abroad.

Further announcement of the plans for the great concert marking the first publication of "Il Lavoratore" on May 31 will be given later. Some of the best singers in the city, among them Italian opera stars, will donate their services to the musical program.

Facts and Fancies

Propaganda is one of the most effective weapons in all wars. Just now the country is being treated to an example of its use in the class war, in the present political conflict.

The last few weeks have seen the inauguration of a powerful propaganda campaign to psychologize if not convince, the masses to the effect that the oil investigation disclosures have had no fundamental effect on the politics of the country.

There has been no change in the political divisions. Following this end the press is harping on the following illusions and spending considerable energy in posing them as facts: First, the Republican Party is as sound and intact as ever and that Coolidge is already elected to succeed himself.

Secondly, we are asked to accept as a fact that McCoolidge has succeeded in ridding his system of Doherty oil and that he is once more the only serious Democratic presidential aspirant.

Thirdly, great stress is being placed by the kept press on the impossibility of a Third Party being organized in 1932.

These facts are so stated as to lead us to believe that for some mysterious reason or other, the conditions at hand, though admittedly more favorable than ever for the organization of a Third Party, still will not produce one.

The examination of the facts betrays the unfounded character of these contentions. The success of the Coolidge forces in the primaries only shows that within the ranks of the Republican Party there are those who are still loyal to the machine, Coolidge money, because of its abundance and strategic location, is still supreme.

The Bonus "Victory"

After two years of political dickering and logrolling there has been enacted a sham bonus law. The measure which the senate and house passed over the president's veto has been appropriately called a "tombsone" bonus.

The real significance of the outcome of the bonus controversy is not to be found in any advantages accruing to the almost solid masses. The basic importance of the senate and house overriding the president's veto is rather to be looked for in its being an index to the status of the republican party on the eve of the coming elections.

There is no question but that Coolidge, as president, is the only logical leader for the republican machine in the coming campaign. Supported by the maximum financial aid that Wisconsin could give, Coolidge fought all bonus measures tooth and nail.

He even organized breakfast-table lobbies. The senators and congressmen voting for the very limited adjusted compensation bill did not do so out of regard for the welfare of the ex-soldiers but were animated simply by a desire to get back to the capital after November.

Herein lies the sole difference of approach and tactics between the former attorney general and his successor. Mr. Daugherty was pretty blunt and took little heed of legal pretenses in his administering the discipline of the big business interests.

Mr. Stone, repudiated to the preservation of a law and order, runs his office much more in accordance with the law but at least as effectively in behalf of the big business as Daugherty did.
