The Daily Worker Will Be There

By J. LOUIS ENGDALH.

"TWO MONTHS FOR $1.00!" That is our subscription offer for the DAILY WORKER; an offer that expires on June 15. What is your answer? Perhaps you will be able to give your answer, a little more enthusiastically when we have made a few things clear.

Workers and farmers throughout the nation cannot intelligently fight for their own interests unless they clearly understand what transpires at all of these gatherings. It is clear that all workers and farmers cannot go to Cleveland, St. Paul and New York City, to listen to what is said, to see what is going on.

We have already announced that Robert Minor, editor of The Liberator, the Communist monthly, is going to Cleveland for the DAILY WORKER.

The first article appeared yesterday: "Hell for Europe—María for America."

Plans are already being made to cover the four other gatherings. You will want to go with the DAILY WORKER to St. Paul on June 17, and watch the building of the National Farmer-Labor Party.

I assure you there never was a paper published anywhere that had a staff of writers that could compare with the DAILY WORKER. And I want to say that we are all mighty proud of you all.

Figures Fell Considerably from 1920 Total.

By LELAND OLDS (Federated Press Industrial Editor)

If the labor movement throughout the world were marshaled in a solid column of fours it would extend from New York to San Francisco—over 3,000 miles.

Table with 4 columns: Country, 1920, 1922, 1923. Rows include Argentina, Austria, British Empire, Belgium, Canada, Czechoslovakia, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Netherlands, Poland, Russia, Scandinavia, Spain, United Kingdom, United States, Small Countries.

Facet Unions. Approximately 24,000,000 out of the world's total of 42,000,000 organized workers have some international affiliation. These include 15,713,372 members claimed by the "Amsterdams" International Federation of Trade Unions, 5,885,000 in Communist organizations and 2,396,628 in affiliate bodies.

Persons acquainted with the details of that strike assert that such a statement by Hooper prior to the July 3, 1922, anti-strike resolution of the board would have prevented the strike and saved employees, railroads and the country untold losses.

WHITE GUARDS MURDER HELPLESS CHINESE IN BATHES UNTIL SOVIETS ROUT THEIR ENEMIES

By JACK ARMITAGE. (Special to The Worker.)

CANTON, China, June 4.—Those who wish to acquit themselves with the coolies imported on the Chinese people by the murderous White Guards should secure a copy of "The Black Year," a pamphlet giving a fairly complete story of the atrocities committed by these human fiends, before the masses, driven to desperation, rose in their wrath and, with the aid of the Soviet agreement which was effected in the face of strenuous opposition from foreign diplomats. During the Tsarist regime, Russia in common with other foreign powers, winking many concessions from China. The Chinese realizing that they had been gained by force, made a return to the Peking government, which must be an unprejudiced offer in international dealings.

Those who wish for a full description of the atrocities committed by the White Year for themselves, one further extract from the scenes of carnage depicted must suffice for this article.

The victims were sabred in the night; others had their throats cut and were left to rot in the streets. The unfortunate were driven out of their homes, and the women and children were separated from their parents. Some of the victims were driven out of their homes and the women and children were separated from their parents.

REBEL GRANDMA HAS LONG RECORD AGAINST SLAVERY

Abolitionist Wants Her Daily Worker

One of the warmest young grandmothers in America, Mrs. H. Garner, has just written the DAILY WORKER a letter that ought to inspire some of our friends who have a long way to go before they reach Mrs. Garner's 95 year record.

This fine old fighter was very active in the abolition movement and took prominent part in the underground working of southern states in Kansas before the Civil War.

She writes in part: "Have just received your notice that my subscription has expired. I have been sending out the DAILY WORKER as long as I can. I have sent it to nearly every state as my correspondence is very large at present."

"I have been a Communist for many years. Yes, 50 or 75 years. Believe me, I am really glad of the DAILY WORKER and am sure it must succeed. I intend if I am spared to do my share and will fearlessly work for it. Sincerely, H. Garner."

The Cleveland Muddle

Not since 1904 has there been so cut and dried an election in the political arena as the Republican convention, to be opened in Cleveland next week. The "nonpartisan" ruling forces of the New York financial district have dictated the platform and decreed the candidacy of Clegg.

But beneath the surface peace there is a dilemma facing the powers that will be cunning the farce. This dilemma arises out of the economic conditions at hand. The convention must produce a platform which will serve to stave off the dire consequences threatening to befall the Republican party in the hard-hit agricultural regions of the northwest.

The farmers from the western section of the country will be especially vigorous in demanding many so-called radical promises in the platform in order to save their own political necks in the November turnout.

Sham Battle in Congress: For a few hours the so-called progressives in the house and senate raised a noise in the newspapers, with their demand that congress should reassemble July 7 to consider farm and railroad legislation.

Workers and farmers have been falling for the fake political lights in congress for many years. The so-called progressives today are but continuing the old game they learned in the Demo-Rep school of hoodwinking the workers.

Unemployment Is Growing: Workers will do well to prepare for new drives against wages and working conditions. For employment is slackening down with threatening speed; unemployment is growing daily.

Memories of Russia Wins: The composer of the other workers prefer to remain ignorant. Their offerings were a suite of sketches from the North Country, a fantasy "The Road to Hell is Paved with Good Intentions," and a suite after the manner of Rossini.

The Poor Fish Says: Now that Senator LaFollette has come out with his "Uncollegiate" speech, the Communist Party has made himself eligible for membership in the same bed-camp.

Painters Technical School: The Chicago Tribune editor who editorialized on the basis of an injunction by Justice Carpenter which states that the jail should have the right to enter the home of a certain citizen by the name of Ostrowsky at any hour of day or night to ascertain whether there is whisky on the premises.

It's a Concession to the Enemy - By Alexander Bittelman

William Mahoney may not know it. He may not have intended it as such. But the Communist Party's editorial of May 27th, (The Communist and the Farmer-Labor Party) is clearly a concession to the opponents of June 17th. It makes the impression of an attempt to please and pacify Gompers, the C. P. A. La Follette, and all the other leaders of the farmer movement in the United States.

Furthermore, it is a movement of the rank and file against the official and "reconciler" leadership. The re-orientation of the Communist Party, as well as the reactionaries of the Gompers crew, both are bitterly opposing the rank and file farmer labor movement.

Communists Integral Part of Left Wing: Now who is the left wing? A broad definition of it would include all the workers and poor farmers who stand for more modern, more progressive, and more militant forms of organization and action against the capitalist exploitation in the United States.

Answers By Authority: We are perfectly satisfied as to which of the two is right, but we regret exceedingly that William Mahoney himself is not yet sure about it. It would seem that the best way for the Communist to improve a peculiar case in the farmer labor movement is to join with other members of the Farmer-Labor movement in promoting its principles and organization, or to withdraw altogether and carry on an independent campaign of education.

No Split in the Left Wing: In the same issue of the Union Advertiser in which the above quotations are taken, is another editorial entitled "Senator LaFollette's Intention." It is a special counsel. There we find the following sentence: "La Follette may not know it, but if the June 17th convention can be killed, it will be an easy matter for his enemies to handle the Cleveland convention."

The relationship between the two will have to be definitely settled at an early date, as the organized labor movement has been and will be a source of fear and irritation (our bold) to a great many earnest supporters of this new movement. That the organized activity of the Communist Party in the farmer labor party has become a source of fear and irritation to a great many supporters of this new movement, is a fact which we know that right about it. It is because of this very fear and irritation that the Communist Party has been and will be a source of fear and irritation to a great many supporters of this new movement.

A Banker's Lament

John F. Sinclair, the Minnesota banker, appeared as the pitiful apologist for Senator LaFollette last Sunday before the gathering of Farmer-Labor forces at St. Paul. Sinclair had nothing to say in favor of LaFollette's stab-in-the-back attack on the June 17 convention. This banker merely tried to excuse LaFollette's action.

LaFollette had been forced into issuing his statement under pressure from the Gompers regime in the American Federation of Labor and the Stone-Island dictatorship over the conference for progressive political action. That was the apology that Banker Sinclair offered. LaFollette had been forced to sign on the dotted line, said Sinclair, an indication that the statement, containing his anti-Communist slanders, had been prepared for the campaign funds that the railroad brotherhood organizations could raise for him.

This lament of Banker Sinclair shows, better than anything else possibly could, how far removed from the workers and farmers Senator LaFollette really is. Among LaFollette's staunchest supporters is to be found Warren E. Stone, the $25,000 per year "grand chief" of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Stone is head of what is known as a labor union. He is more of a banker than a labor official, the engineers' bank having extended its far-reaching ramifications into the very heart of Wall Street itself.

And the farmers know what bankers are, even down to the custodians of the cracker-box institutions to be found in the small prairie, or kamblers, food profiteers are all one to the disgraced farmer. No wonder that the farmer turns instinctively away from Banker Stone and his Cleveland July 4th Conference for Progressive Political Action. No wonder that the workers and farmers in conference last Sunday at St. Paul refused to listen to Banker Sinclair. No wonder that they refused to be moved by the puppet of these bankers, Senator Robert Marion LaFollette, who has the audacity, while still a member of Wall Street's republican party, to attack the class farmer-labor forces of the nation.

Let the bankers laugh, and their puppet shed tears along with them. The workers and farmers are going to St. Paul on June 17.

French Workers Awaken

If one still thinks of the French working class as under the influence of nationalism, as frenziedly patriotic, it is good to read Claire Sheridan's account of pre-election meetings in Paris. "M. Tardieu (reactionary) tried to justify the occupation of the Ruhr. His audience did not seem to think it good to read Claire Sheridan's account of pre-election meetings in Paris.

Miss Sheridan further tells of one of Tardieu's meetings "adjourning in an uproar because he tried to justify the intervention of France against the Russian Soviet Republic. She says: "There is no doubt the workers of the world regard the workers' republic with fraternal affection and that any acts of intimidation or aggression against the republic by reactionary governing classes arouse all the class-consciousness of the other workers."

All of which throws more light upon the reports that the recently elected deputies of the Bloc des Gauches are embarrassed by the "unreasonable demands of their followers." The politicians of the petty bourgeoisie "let" their office as the aroused hopes of masses who are already being disillusioned. The next election will doubtless show the same enormous increase for the Communist party in France that the last one showed in Germany. Which is a thermometer that registers the readiness of the working class for revolutionary action.

Smith is making strenuous efforts to get the nomination of the Democratic Party for president on a program of 2-75. Whether it is Al, or McAlister, or any other of the "big" names, the candidate named in New York will get the support of Sam Gompers. Fortunately the workers and farmers are so tired of the old shell game that they will not be looking Gompers; they have their eyes fastened on St. Paul.

MEMORIES OF RUSSIA WINS

By ALFRED V. FRANKENSTEIN. Charles Martin (composer) the Boston composer, won the thousand dollar prize for the best composition submitted in the contest of the North Star Music festival at North Star (Thursday night). Loeffler's work was a tone poem called "Memories of Childhood: Life in a Russian Village." The description of the work on the program was as follows: "The composer's memory of life in a Russian village—old Russia, with its folk songs and dances, the charm of the orthodox church, the fairy tales, the paganism of death, above all, the sense of a mysterious, mystical friend, an elderly peasant, a poet."

The work opens slowly, with the chiming of a bell, a mystical, rhythmic section of typical Russian dance tunes, and closes with a sense of a mysterious, mystical friend, an elderly peasant, a poet.

There is a London symphony of the same name called "Memories of Childhood" by the Russian composer, Rimsky-Korsakov in 1914. It is a symphony in four movements. The first movement is a "Tragic" overture, by Edwards Collins of Chicago. It is a symphony in four movements. The first movement is a "Tragic" overture, by Edwards Collins of Chicago.
