

AS WE SEE IT
-BY T. J. O'FLAHERTY

A new amazing discovery that would do credit to Tom Tico, the mythical French detective, was embraced in the columns of the Chicago Tribune. Under the sensational double column heads the story was told of a deep seated conspiracy, with headquarters on the South Side of Chicago, which had no other aim than to overthrow the capitalist system, to establish a Soviet Republic in the United States and to assassinate the Negroes from race persecution and discrimination in which they are so engaged.

This sleuth who sniffed this revelation of intelligence out of the place of revolution laborbribs was a colored kid by the name of Brasseur, who runs a confectionery store under the pseudonym of the Keystone Detective Agency. Whether Brasseur is trying to outwit the Negroes or is merely a rascal, he is not to be learned until the great kid begins to write his autobiography, which perhaps he will do some day. However, it can be seen from his obituary, it can be seen that Mr. Brasseur is one of the kind of a Pullman blanket farther than a Pullman agent can smell a bottle of cyanide.

Brasseur's hobby is somewhere on the South side of the city. When he is not holding up women of virtue for a few nickels out of the pockets of the Pullman porter, he is employed in ransacking the kitchens of Italian porters for forks, spoons and other articles of silverware. In the Pullman company may confabulate in lieu of wages. Colored men are not to be trusted. Unfortunately, the postal law prohibits a colored man from carrying a mail, and the record of Brasseur can only be told by the use of the postal inspectors. It is not to be said with any degree of difficulty in believing anything about a detective except something good.

There is going to be a Negro Labor Congress in Chicago next October. How this thing is to be maintained a mystery for several weeks until it suddenly dawned on the organizers of the Negro Labor Congress, the progressive kid, were spending considerable sums of money advertising in fact they have a program known as the Negro Champion, which come out twice a month and tells the world that the Negro is to organize and to fight for their rights regardless of the opposition. The way in which the organizers of their white and colored stoolpigeons.

Two columns of space in Hearst's rag told of the conspiracy to radicalize the Negro, was accompanied with the progress made in the Soviet Union. A picture of a colored soldier was featured as evidence that the American Negro Labor Congress was to be held in New York. It proves one thing to the Negro, and that is that in Soviet Russia the Negro is to be a place of honor.

The Negro workers who are engaged in the task of helping to organize their people from racial discrimination, and to help slavery for the advertising, the publicity was not intended to be a publicity for the Negro. It was a publicity which he was putting something over on the Negro. It is to be learned about all there is to be learned about the Negro Labor Congress and to be subscribing to the Negro Champion.

That the position of Mrs. Stiman, Ladies' Garment Workers Union is a delicate position is proven by a long wall which she went through in order to get justice the official organ of the union. Stiman declares that he has no intention of expelling her from the union. His opinions, that Communists are traitors and spies and so on, are not to be mentioned in the word 'delicate' position. Just like Ramsay MacDonald, his commission is to be a living example of what will happen to others of his tribe when the he takes up arms.

The reason why Stiman uses up a whole front page of his sheet in an appeal to the members of the union is to show the members of the union that he is not far so good. The great majority of the membership have been won over to his side. He has not the opposition. Now he is being the without conviction by leaving the union. He is not to be a living example of what will happen to others of his tribe when the he takes up arms.

TENT-FIVE SHOPS SETTLE WITH JOINT ACTION COMMITTEE
ASKS BOSSES TO FIRE ANY LAWYERS

(Special to The Daily Worker)
NEW YORK, August 25.—Several additional dress and cloak shops discharged workers this morning as a result of last Thursday's stoppage called by the Joint Committee of Action of Locals 25, 9 and 22, and nine more shops reinstated the workers affected by the stoppage and settlements have been made by the Joint Committee of Action in half of these. There are still 25 shops on strike.

The discharges today, according to Louis Hyman, chairman of the Joint Committee of Action, were made with the direct authorization of the Joint Board. "Many of the employers are willing to back their workers to take away the cutters if the operators and finishers are returned to work," he said.

Signan Would Disrupt Union. In the case of certain contracting shops, where the whole shop refused to answer the call of the Joint Board to attend a shop meeting, the Joint Board is reporting to the joint committee that it will not allow any law suits and if he deals with it is violating his agreement with the union.

While no decision was reached as to whether the failed Stiman should be invited immediately to join the party, it was said that the French minister and the English ambassador were of one mind that American participation would expedite a settlement, first of the operations of France's debt to England and secondly, a general aid program of the world problem of international debt.

Little conference is being made in the party. Both parties to the conversation are very marking time. It seems to be already determined that a small amount of the French debt to England is to be paid in the next month. The French admission (Continued on page 3)

Amalgamated to Show
Pickets Not "Violent"

Thirty-five members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union, part of the 200 striking employees of the Tailor-International Tailoring Company, will appear in the municipal court at city hall this morning on charges of violating the Cuthbertson "peaceful picketing" law. These strikers, led by West Jackson boulevard in the last few weeks, and throw into jail by the police on the grounds of violating the picketing law. This is the first time a case has come before the courts where an employer has charged strikers with violation of the law which allows picketing. In order to prevent the strikers from being arrested, the company has made numerous charges of "assault" and "disorderly conduct" against the strikers. Attorney Ryan, for the Amalgamated, says that the picketing is lawful and that no violence was involved in except by the police. The case will be heard in room 114, city hall, before a jury.

LEWIS TRYING TO STAVE OFF
STRUGGLE WITH THE OPERATORS

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., August 25.—With but five days remaining before the expiration of the present anthracite coal agreement, secret meetings between mine and coal operators have reported here today in an effort to avert the expected strike on September 1.

These informal conferences have attained no more success than the official negotiations broken off three weeks ago. Although the center of heated discussion, with both sides refusing to retreat an inch on their stand.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, is continuing his conference with members of the miners' representatives. He declined to discuss the nature of these meetings.

Convention Hears Report on Daily Worker

The following is a report on the DAILY WORKER, given by the editor, William P. Dunne, editor, at the Workers' Party convention:

The nineteen months of experience we have had with our daily organ has added to our confidence in the value of the paper. It should be the collective organizer of the party and of the masses.

TRY TO BUFF
MILKERS; TALK
"SUBSTITUTES"

John Hays Hammond in Grand Stand for Bosses
BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 25.—"I have been a milk farmer's strike," said John Hays Hammond, former chairman of the United States Coal Commission, in a speech before the U. S. Senate, president of the United Mine Workers of America, that I would like to see a strike. I said to him: 'Mr. Lewis, you are an intelligent man. You can call a strike, but you will lose it because you will find there will be no anthracite market.'

As a member of the U. S. Senate, Hammond is in New England working for the coal and coke companies, who are talking of a strike of the present coal strike, and are planning for anthracite substitutes. If Lewis calls a strike, Hammond said, I don't think I will call a strike. You will find they would go into the mine to find work.
