ONIGHT OVER CAPTAIN'S HEAD

Lansdowne's Protest Was Rejected

LAKEHURST, N. J., Sept. 25.—The official correspondence and the late Commander Zachary Lansdowne's report revealing Lansdowne's protest against the use of the Middle West coast during the present season, was made public by the release of a letter written by Lansdowne naval aid station, stating before the board of inquiry the details and the responsibility for the disaster.

The communication between Lansdowne and the chief of naval operations was the work of Lansdowne who recommended the western light be made in the work of Lansdowne instead of the first light, pointing out the carrier date was in September 1.

Lansdowne's protest rejected. The inquiry department took back on August 1 that the recommendation had not been approved and the fight would take place on September 1.

The navy department after its communication of July 23 to the committee of states in the South over including Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, and the state expressed the department's desire to withdraw as much of the state as possible.

Lansdowne replied to the navy department that it was impossible to cover all the facts in the first week.

When the committee received directions to proceed in the first week he recommended a letter of July 15 that if the fight was taken at that time, mooring masts and leading fields should be selected.

Plans for a lightning field at Minneapolis, Fort Scott, and a mooring mast at Detroit were made and the responsibility for the inspection of the Shenandoah Commander Lansdowne, in testimony given before the board of inquiry.

It was responsible for when it was not here? Rear Admiral Hiram P. Jones, president of the court, asked.

Steel's O. K.ed Blaine. The court testified did not prescribe for the number of inspection teams or number of inspection of the light.

When the Shenandoah left Lakehurst for its last fight, was the condition or manner of the ship reported to the inspecting officer?

"There was no official report, but I was sure that her condition in all respects was ready to try," Steel answered.

"Then her condition met with your approval?"

"Yes," the witness replied.

Workers Are Interested in the Inquiry into the Shenandoah Disaster

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

TODAY, great numbers of workers in industry, and farmers tolling on the land, discuss with great seriousness the official naval inquiry into the wreck of the giant dirigible Shenandoah near Ava, O., on September 3. With usual shrewdness the workers have recognized that the inquiry is responsible for the death of the 14 air mariners who lost their lives.

The supposition is ventured, however, that never are these discussions linked up with labor's own problems. The workers do not connect the Shenandoah disaster with their own jobs.

One of the big facts already brought out is that the Shenandoah was sent on its western tour as a publicity stunt. The fatal trip, city for city, was laid out in railroad time tables. The Shenandoah's crew to follow orders. In one great center of population after another, at many state fairs, the dirigible was to appear as a stellar attraction, for the assembled multitudes to gaze at in awe and admiration, all the while, whispering complimentary epithets for the government at Washington that made such things possible. Always forgetting, however, that the dirigible was a public relations program, not a preparation for which much money must be spent, the war into which the masses must be persuaded to go willingly. This is the program that is being put before the average adult workers' mind, not to mention the children in whose minds is drilled a gross-step worship of things as they are. Thus is assent to new wars won.

The naval inquiry goes on in merely one method of satisfying popular clamor. New Shenandoahs must be built and "the people" must be made to like it and pay for it.

No such aspect of publicity was ever given an investigation into a mine horror, with its death toll of hundreds of men. The investigation into a mine horror, with its death toll of hundreds of men. The investigation into a mine horror, with its death toll of hundreds of men.

Walker is the choice of Tammany. Tammany is the choice of the laboring men. It is known that Tammany is the choice of the laboring men. It is known that Tammany is the choice of the laboring men.

Marx, who has no party in the primary, should be ousted whether he runs or not. His main campaign material was the fact that he is a Communist. Comrade Wolfe said that Hyman did not want to see the workers from paying 8 to 10 cents, but because he has no party in the primary, he should be ousted...

Norman Thomas, socialist candidate, should be ousted whether he runs or not. He is a person of inferior understanding of the class struggle. He is a person of inferior understanding of the class struggle.

Handing of Heckler. Comrade Wolfe then took up the matter of handing of Heckler. He is a person of inferior understanding of the class struggle. He is a person of inferior understanding of the class struggle.

Must Understand Problems. Comrade Wolfe then took up the matter of understanding the problems of the campaign. He is a person of inferior understanding of the class struggle. He is a person of inferior understanding of the class struggle.

WORKERS PARTY OF TOLEDO CALLS FOR UNITED FRONT OF WORKING CLASS PARTIES IN CITY CAMPAIGN

TOLEDO, Ohio, Sept. 25.—A special committee elected at the meeting of the Workers (Communist) Party of Toledo yesterday called for a United Front of Working Class Parties in the City Campaign...

"After a careful analysis of the conditions, we find that the only chance for the United Front is the interests of labor, the socialist and the Communist."

"We believe that as a socialist and a candidate for the office of mayor, we will support the socialist and a United Front campaign of our forces."

"The committee formed to release a United Front campaign of our forces. We believe that as a socialist and a candidate for the office of mayor, we will support the socialist and a United Front campaign of our forces."

The Boys Are Skeptical

Genets is abroad that the league of nations will be or can be made to turn up to ploughshares or establish a reign of peace upon earth.

To enumerate the number of respectable wares that have passed, would be superfluous and uninteresting.

The league of nations has established its sabre at will, with the weight a grinning specter.

By J. STAFFIN. In the following articles we publish Comrade Stalin's answers to the questions of the Japanese people...

THE question. The Japanese people, the most advanced among the peoples of the East...

There is only one way of escape: the political and social order of Japan must be changed.

What is your opinion, in the way of escape from this complicated situation of the Japanese people?

How many years will these people have to wait before they will be able to reach the end of their journey?
