

Call and Invitation

To the International Socialist and Workingclass Organizations at Stuttgart in August, 1907.

International Socialist Bureau, Peoples Palace, Brussels, Nov. 10, 1906. All Socialist Parties and Associations and All Working Class Organizations...

The next International Socialist and Workingclass Congress will be held at Stuttgart (Württemberg, Germany) from the 18th to the 24th of August, 1907.

The International Socialist Bureau, constituted in 1906 with a view to carrying on the work and giving effect to the resolutions of International Congresses...

All associations which adhere to the essential principles of Socialism: socialization of the means of production and distribution; international union and action of the workers; conquest of public powers by the proletariat...

Should you desire to adhere to the above-mentioned principles, the International Socialist Bureau requests you to put on the agenda of your next meeting the participation of your association in the Congress of Stuttgart and to decide at the same time, which questions, in your opinion, ought to be debated at that Congress.

Although unwilling to limit in any way your right of initiative, the Bureau in order to ensure the success of the Congress, hopes that questions already settled at previous Congresses will not be made the subject of discussion at Stuttgart.

These questions are the following: 1. The approval of the resolutions of the International Socialist Bureau. 2. The regulations of the International Congresses and of the International Socialist Bureau...

We beg, however, to remind the latter of the invitation which was issued out by the I. S. B., printed in the periodical reports of the Secretary's office.

rades to receive our sincerest fraternal greetings. The International Socialist Bureau: Argentina: A. Cambier, M. Ugarte. Australia: P. J. O'Meara. Austria: Dr. V. Adler, F. Skarek.

The Executive Committee of the International Socialist Bureau (Belgium): Edouard Anseele, Emile Vandervelde, Camille Huysmans, Secretary.

On Strikes

There may be occasions when a strike is unavoidable, or when the prospects for a successful issue are apparent. To such strikes this short article does not apply.

Fundamentally and theoretically the strike is wrong as a means of economic warfare, with due allowance for special cases as indicated above. The strike is wrong, because, when going on strike we divorce ourselves from the tool of production and in doing so we divorce ourselves from our bread and butter.

Strikes that are lost, and most of them are, are lost because there is no economic organization of sufficient strength behind them. Strikes that are won, and few of them are, are won because there is an economic organization of sufficient strength behind them.

This is a thing to be remembered by the membership of the I. W. W. We should endeavor to create, under no circumstances later than February 15th, as these documents must be published in three languages—German, English and French—it is of the greatest importance that this rally should be strictly observed.

Local Union No. 73, Louisville, Ky., a loyal union of the I. W. W., received notice from Sherman's "secretary" brought from New York to do the bidding of the reactionists—that it had been "expelled for non-payment of dues."

The association of employers at "Luther, Germany, has engaged strike breakers from England, to win the strike of long-Only those who agree to breakers, it is reported, who are sent into the harbor to be 'tied into communication' with discontented workmen.

HIS HONOR, THE MAYOR OF ROSSLAND

By F. W. HENKLEWOOD

For the benefit of men who never followed the actions of the above named gent, and who are not good judges of a labor fakir when they see one, this exposure is especially dedicated.

I especially wish to deal with the gentleman from the time he was nominated in the Western Federation of Miners' convention last year, in Denver, up to the present time.

It is a fact that Peter McDonald was elected in Denver to attend the I. W. W. convention in Chicago, although it is known that he tricked Ryan, of Jerome, Arizona, out of his votes.

Many of us did not have to wait for the Chicago convention to know what would happen. I told many men myself the question came too late. It should have been put before the election, and if it had been done, neither Peter nor McMullen would ever have seen the Chicago convention, unless they went on their own hook.

He went back to the town of Rossland, in a local where he had been for years. He peddled Sherman's literature at every meeting. He talked to men on the street; no one from the opposition went to bother him.

But Peter will say that the rank and file did endorse him because he got a majority over the whole W. F. of M. But let us see how he got it. By trickery, of course. If any member can say that the referendum that Mahoney sent out was not tricky, then I don't know a trick when I see it.

This letter had the desired result, as whole locals, whose members are overflowing in sympathy for their chief in jail, to please him, reversed their decision and endorsed the slugging gang.

Immediately on his return from the Denver convention, there was an effort being put forth by the miners of Rossland Miners' Union to organize the Trail smelter. The Trail smelter is seven miles from Rossland.

Ronald McDonald immediately again saw where he could do some more dirty work, so he went to the men who had helped get the I. W. W. charter and told them that they were joining a fake arrangement and that Sherman was the head of the Industrial Workers of the World.

Now, fellow workers, this is not half of what can be told about this company lover. Even after he joined the Socialist League he said that any man who voted this ticket would be discharged by the LeRo and Centre Star companies.

Compare this fellow's record with St. John's and Ryan's and ask yourself the question, what caused the trouble in the I. W. W. convention at Chicago?

The Industrial Workers of the World continues to grow in the face of all obstructions and disruptions of the Sherman-Mahoney slugging-gang type.

Montpelier, Vt., with 6,000 population, holds more than $6,000,000 of Kansas mortgages. This is an average of over $1,000 for every man, woman and child in the town.

The oldest secret trade processes now in vogue in the laboring class are of Chinese red, or vermilion, and the method of inlaying the hardest steel with gold and silver.

In Troy, N. Y., the first collar and cuff factory in the world was established in 1850.
