NEW DAY DAWNS.

Despite reports to the contrary the ranks of the Lawrence textile strikers remain unbroken. A spirit of solidarity pervades the very atmosphere and the strikers' efforts will be crowned with victory unless the unforeseen happens.

The use of the brutalized and degraded militia against the women pickets has caused great indignation among the strikers. The employers are resorting to desperate measures in order to break the spirit of the operatives. The great attention the strike is receiving and the amount of interest shown in the Industrial Workers of the World is seen in a perusal of the eastern papers. The Worcester Daily Telegram on the 19th prints in full a speech by National Organizer Jas. P. Thompson. Other papers contain accounts of the meetings held by Haywood, Trautmann, Gurley Flynn and others.

The action of E. G. Flynn in starting an exodus of the underfed children of the Lawrence operatives and thus relieving the strain upon the parents has brought down upon the I. W. W. the pent-up wrath of every pimp of the master class. The codfish aristocracy of Lawrence allowed these children to starve in their midst for years, deriving their silks and satins from the life's blood of the little ones, and never until their profits were threatened did they take cognizance of the fact.

Now the women of the shoddy bourgeoisie are allowing crocodile tears to run down their painted faces in sorrow for the children who have been taken where they can have a square meal.

The Boston legislature is considering a bill against the importation of children under 18 for use in "calling attention to any matter of public or local interest."

John Golden, in the name of Christ, continues his scabby tactics and his latest move is to have sent to every national and international union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor a notice to the effect that no monies should be sent to Joseph Bedard of the strike committee. Goinpers, and the Militia of Christ are behind this treacherous act.

The A. F. of L. is THINKING (?) about calling out the skilled crafts under their direction and are SCABBING meanwhile. The skilled workers may try to use the strike as a means of gaining better conditions at the expense of the unskilled.

Mayor Scanlon of Lawrence says regarding the strike at a recent conference:

"There isn't a chance in the world, that I can see to end this strike. It really isn't a strike. It is an incipient revolution. It is the beginning of a wage war, which is to spread throughout the country."

"We need the militia and the Governor has decided to allow the troops to stay in Lawrence as long as may be necessary."

"The city is not able to cope with the situation that has arisen. The millmen will never consent to arbitrate with the I. W. W. and the membership of this organization haven't the remotest intention of attempting to settle the strike."

These are significant words and they bear out the belief that the workers will never settle unless Ettor is freed.

A call for a general strike may go forth and the free speech fight in Manchester, N. H., the threatened disturbances in other textile sections, and the strike of a hundred weavers in Lisbon, Me., will cause such a move to be fraught with revolutionary results.

The case of Jos. J. Ettor continues to drag out at length but its purpose—the breaking of the backbone of the strike—remains unaccomplished.

It is claimed that the murderer of Anna La Pezzi is known to the authorities. Had the police never carried arms she would be alive today. And had the militia never been called to the scene John Ramy would never have been brutally murdered by as foul a Hessian band as ever disgraced darkest Russia.

Great capital is being made in the case of Ettor over the fact that the I. W. W. believes in taking possession of the mills, mines, factories and all agencies of production as soon as power is generated to do so. Each new evidence that this is our object is hailed with delight by the persecuting attorney.

VANCOUVER'S DREAM—A RUDE AWAKENING AT HAND!

VANCOUVER WORKERS ON TRIAL

Wendell Phillips said: "The Manna of liberty must be gathered each day, or it is rotten." The I. W. W. are determined that liberty shall not rot in Vancouver and by their united action propose to gather some of it this side of the happy hunting grounds.

The social revolution is no pink tea affair and the Industrial Workers have nothing but contempt for those mandates resting solely upon property rights. As citizens of the world they will gain only such recognition as their power will wring from the economically superior class.

That Vancouver believes in long distance sympathy is shown by their proposal to raise money for the starving Chinese while allowing men who have lived in Vancouver for years to starve upon the doorsteps. It further shows itself in a taking of sides in the question of free speech when Churchill is concerned in England. But sympathy abroad is a poor substitute for bread at home.

Premier McBride remarks that Vancouver is getting some very poor advertising and he has taken steps to end the controversy. The truth seems to hurt.

Free speech has been recorded in the daily journals as having triumphed in Vancouver but so far as the I. W. W. is concerned it will not consider that free speech is had unless every prisoner now in custody in connection with the affair is released and every charge against the men is quashed. This may be a bitter pill for the authorities to swallow but the pill is of their own concoction. The I. W. W. happens to be the doctor, however.

Any settlement not including the I. W. W. will be looked upon as no settlement at all; and the fight will be continued to the bitter end.

Speakers may now hold forth on the Powell street grounds and other similar places, but not upon the street corners. It is stated that even the Starvation Army will not be allowed to peddle Jesus and solicit pennies and old clothes.

Several members of the I. W. W. have been arrested on false charges since the last report in the "Worker," and an attempted street meeting upon Monday night was broken up by police thugs. The speakers were severely clubbed and the literature present was confiscated. Newsboys who have been selling the "Worker" on the street are being molested by the brutes in blue.

The police claim that profane language was used by the speakers who have been arrested but this is plainly false as no such charge has been placed against any of the incarcerated men.

The imprisoned men are demanding a speedy trial but it appears that the cases have been postponed until the 28th, with the exception of those tried upon the 13th.

The account of the trials is interesting. John Brown, who was beaten by the police while in the patrol, challenged the right of the court to try him. He claimed the court was prejudiced and demanded a change of venue. The fossilized old fool upon the bench gave Brown three months at hard ? labor. His dignity was sorely affected and his delicate nerves were almost shattered, "don't cha know."

Gordon Parker was next to appear and he refused to take the oath, saying he did not believe in a Christian God. He declared himself a revolutionist, and the judge, when he had caught his breath, gave him three months.

Sam Dickson was third. He stated that he was of no country, was a child of the world and recognized no flag. Three months was handed to him, and an additional 30 days with the privilege of $10 donated by the immigration officer. He will be deported to the "land of the grafter and home of the slave" upon the expiration of his sentence. This is good news. U. S. rebels will be returned to this country fare free. You can have a free ride and free speech too, if you go at once to Vancouver. All aboard!

Conditions in the jail are none of the best. Hudson was placed in the black hole all one night. The food is rotten and there are 102 men in 26 cells. This does not discourage the real rebels and while many of the talk revolutionists and vote rebels have backed down, the I. W. W. is in the game to the finish.

REPORT OF LUMBER WORKERS' CONVENTION

The first convention of the National Industrial Union of Lumber Workers is past. The delegates present were not much inclined to parliamentary tactics and therein lies much of the credit for what was accomplished.

The locals represented were from California to British Columbia, including Oregon.

While the representation was not so large as might have been there has been a great deal less accomplished for the working class by larger bodies.

Now as to the actual work performed, the first day's session was occupied principally in getting matters into proper shape for consideration and also in the election of various committees.

The following days were taken up with long and serious consideration of many matters of importance.

All forms of sick and death benefits were opposed.

Piece work in all forms was severely condemned.

Classification of the North American continent by districts for the better handling of affairs was proposed and concurred in. All lumber locals were advised to settle up at once with general headquarters. A proposition to reopen the Foster discussion about boring from within craft unions was voted down.

Burlington and Seattle were nominated as headquarters and will go to ballot.

Uniform dues and initiation were decided upon, the amounts to be set by referendum.

A proposition for a speakers' circuit was not concurred in.

A literature bureau in Spokane was proposed and the matter was taken up with general headquarters.

Support was pledged to the Lawrence textile strikers by telegram.

The following resolution was sent to the Brotherhood of Timber Workers:

"We, the delegates to the first convention of the National Industrial Union of Lumber Workers of the I. W. W. hereby send you greeting.

We wish to assure you of our hearty support and co-operation in your struggles with the lumber barons of the South. We also wish to extend to you a cordial invitation to join us in our efforts to bring about a greater solidarity among the lumber workers of the world."

A somewhat similar resolution was sent to the International Shingle Weavers Union of America, and invitation was made for them to send delegates to the next convention.

While the convention was in session a telegram announcing the successful formation of a new local at Illoquiam was read. This caused jubilation among the delegates.

Plans are laid to establish at least a dozen new locals within a short time. Is the I. W. W. to grow?

By the time this appears the locals will have received a copy of the proceedings and other matter pertaining to the National Industrial Union.

On the last day of the convention the nomination and election of provisional officers took place.

F. H. Allison was elected Provisional Secretary-Treasurer and upon application to your local secretary the names of the National Executive Board and their addresses will be furnished.

Hoping to see at least 50 delegates to the next convention, we are yours for ONE BIG UNION.

NEW HAMPSHIRE JAILS SPEAKERS

NEW HAMPSHIRE AFRAID OF STRIKE
—I. W. W. MEN JAILED IN MAN-
CHESTER—STRIKE AGITATION
SUPPRESSED—RUSSIANIZED
AMERICA—DISORDERLY CONDUCT IS CHARGE.

Fearing a spreading of the textile strike into the Manchester district the mill owners gave orders to their subservient knee-bent slaves—the police of the city—to stop all working class agitation upon the street. As a result of this order five agitators were placed under arrest on Saturday, the 17th.

The meeting at which the arrests were made took place at 7 o'clock at the corner of Elm and Mechanic streets, the speakers mounting the box to address a crowd of over 4,000 persons.

A ring was formed around the crowd by the uniformed sluggers who were there prepared for trouble. About fifty police were present.

John Burke spoke first, but had proceeded but a short way in his talk when interrupted by Chief of Police Michael Healey. Burke continued to explain the principles of the I. W. W. after stating that it was generally believed that this was a free country. He was arrested.

The crowd grew in numbers and a still larger audience greeted the efforts of Frederick J. Wolf. Wolf paid no attention to the King of the Sluggers and was also pinched.

Lorenz Kiercol was next on the job but didn't last as long as the others, for his oratory got him into the hands of the protectors of the thieving mill owners.

John Hock also failed to hear His Royal Highness the chief and was arrested.

The last to mount the box was Thomas Halliday, a striking operative from Lawrence, who stated that this resembled Russia more than America. He was arrested and placed in charge of those who constitute the mailed fist of the master class.

Some one in the crowd had meanwhile made away with the box, and upon other speakers endeavoring to speak from the street the police dispersed the crowd.

All the men were charged with disorderly conduct and were later released upon bail.

Chief of Police Healey said: "We are not going to have any disturbances here if we can help it, and we are going to try mighty hard to prevent trouble. The people here are all satisfied and do not want to strike."

Healey has another guess coming if he thinks that arresting members of the I. W. W. will prevent trouble. It is more likely to start trouble—such as flooding the jail of Manchester and forcing the right of free speech.

There are a few little things on our hands now, like licking Vancouver and administering a deserved spanking to San Diego. After that, or perhaps at the same time if we are so minded, we will send some men to Manchester to see what manner of a place it is that can boast that the people are all satisfied. It surely must be Heaven on Earth and that is what we are looking for.

JUST SOME NOTES.

Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey recently declared "Industrial peace must precede the peace of nations." And industrial peace can only be had when the class war is won and the workers in peaceful possession of the world.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, the alphabetical suffragette, spoke on George Birthington's Washday to the Police Lieutenants' Benevolent Association in New York City, twelve hundred of the officers being present. Who ever heard of a benevolent police lieutenant before? And in New York at that!

Ed Matthews, who had not eaten for three days, was arrested in Spokane last week for attempting to steal a loaf of bread. The nerve of him! Why don't the "mob" peacefully starve?

Seven thousand persons are maimed or killed in the nation's coal mines each year. But capital is the one which takes the "compensation for risk."

The Detroit News reports that $10,000 has been given to start a farm for superannuated horses, same to be established near Mt. Clemens. The same item states that the Detroit Humane Society had relieved 3,367 cases of cruelty to horses and had given relief to 484 children during the past year. Comparative values are clearly set forth in the figures given.

"Ah Love! could thou and I with Fate conspire
To grasp this sorry Scheme of Things entire,
Would we not shatter it to bits—and then
Re-mould it nearer to the Heart's Desire!"
From "Old Omar."

Employers will grant only such demands as the workers have the power to enforce.

With our victory two classes of unemployed will be placed into service—those who are drafted into the unemployed army and those who are volunteers.

The working man who claims that craft unionism is stronger than industrial unionism by the same process of reasoning should desert the craft to gain added power as an individual.

Work! Why all this talk of work? There is plenty of work—too much work—duplication of effort—wasted energy. We need—not more work—but an equal distribution of absolutely necessary toil.

Proof that the workers are awakening and that a great change is near at hand comes clearly to the front in the prevalent scepticism on all matters. The flames of discontent put every institution to the test. Previously accepted methods are being relegated to the rear. Regard for law and authority is practically dead and through lack of working class support the preachers, in order to exist, are reduced to the extremity of peddling old clothes and putting the "union label" on prostitution. Times are ripe for the social revolution.

OH CHRIST! WHAT A MILITIA!

For the benefit of those "socialists" who protested against the editorial on the Militia of Christ, which appeared last week, on the ground that "religion is a private matter" we herewith publish a list of the officers of that body. We hope later to be in possession of its membership lists so that it can be shown that the American Federation of Labor is becoming dominated by the Roman Catholic church. Every revolutionist should clip this out to use in exposing members of this master class organization when they commence their scabbery in times of strike. Note that John Golden, who is actively working in the interests of the textile mill owners in Massachusetts, and is doing all he can to discredit the I. W. W., is on the directorate of this pope polluted institution.

UNEMPLOYABLE.

It is bad enough to think of being robbed of the major part of what you produce, but how much worse it is to walk the streets for many weary days searching for someone to rob you and to even then be unable to find a master. The problem of the unemployed is causing great uneasiness among the seizers of surplus value. The wages system cannot exist without unemployed men to keep wages down and to threaten the jobs of those who are employed. But now the numbers of the unemployed or rather, unemployable, have assumed such proportions that an outbreak seems inevitable. Every city, village and hamlet are reporting trouble with this great mass of idle men. There is but one solution and that is found in producing for use instead of for profit. The workers by their own efforts must gain their freedom. Industrial unionism points the way. Workers of the world, unite! You have nothing to lose but your blankets, you have a world to gain! Join the fighting I. W. W.

ALLAH! GIVE US LIGHT!

At one time it was found by the police commissioners of Chicago that a certain dark spot in one of the city parks was a scene of frequent suicides. These learned gentlemen solved the deep social problem involved by the very simple expedient of placing an electric light at the scene of the former tragedies. Thus does capitalism show its enlightenment.

Another problem now confronts capitalism—the problem of the unemployed. Their method of dealing with it shows a depth of reasoning quite marvellous, savoring much of the strategem employed in the former instance. The men are made to move on to the next city.

Spokane may refuse to relieve needy men who have been in the city less than six months, yet there is no work for those who have been here for years. Long before the proscribed time has elapsed the men will have been made to "move on." A like fate awaits them in each Christian city.

Mahomet's coffin was poised in mid-air without seeming support and should the workers desire a resting place the secret of Mahomet must be sought.

Allah! Give us light on this perplexing problem.

A MASTER STROKE.

The capitalist class to gain its nefarious ends will play upon every human emotion.

The memories that cling to the spot where one is born and reared is twisted and distorted into a patriotism that produces murder.

The desire for fame is so warped and bent as to make mental prostitutes of statesmen, authors, playwrights, inventors and others with great capabilities.

The cupidity of men, the love of sex, the desire for adornment, one and all are used for their selfish purposes.

It is chiefly when the profits of the employing class are threatened that the cunning of the master is employed consciously. Mainly it is used as unconsciously as the finching that follows a blow. They protect their profits as the female does her young.

But in the great strikes those of us who have the economic key can open the doors that hide the skeleton in the capitalist closet and show to the world the real nature of capitalist society.

The strike in Lawrence is replete with examples of the cunning of the master class.

The employers have endeavored to pit one nationality against another, yet this move failed and the strikers stood firm.

They pitted the skilled against the unskilled with dismal failure as the result.

They appealed to the cupidity of men and brought their agents on the scene in the form of officials of the American Federation of Labor.

They sought through fear to force the toilers back in the mills at starvation wages, but the militia and police have proven a boomerang.

They have arrested leaders of the strike upon false charges but this has added fuel to the flames. The cry has gone forth "Strike until Ettor is free."

All these means failing they fell back upon the most tender of human emotions—mother love—the love of the mother for her young. They hoped to starve the children of the operatives until their pitiful cries would wring from the mother a plea that the father return to work.

And here occurred the master stroke.

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, organizer for the Industrial Workers of the World, took the children from the strike bound district and placed them in the homes of strike sympathizers in nearby cities, at once relieving the heart burnings of the mothers and making the men more determined in their struggle.

The prostituted press, pulpit and platform at once set up a plea that these infants be returned to their "homes." The word had gone forth that the master class feared the loss of their finest weapon. But in vain.

Despite the efforts of the American Federation of Labor, the Catholic church and the self-sold press the strike has been made. The strike will now assume a different phase.

It is now a test of new methods against old; and the new must triumph. New wine may not be placed in old bottles, and craft unionism, Catholicism and a pandering press cannot stay the onward march of revolutionary industrial unionism. The I. W. W. is here to stay.

The remarks of a journal from near the scene lend faith to our future hopes.

"One fact that stands out plainly to those acquainted with labor troubles of the past it that in the present affair there seems to be a pleasing lack of leaders who have eyes for the interests of their followers and ears for the whisperings of the mill officials."

There have been few responses of late to the calls of the army recruiting stations for men "of good character" to enlist as murderers at $16.75 per. Applications for patrolmen on the various police forces are on the increase, however. It seems that there is more allurements in the police jobs; you don't have to have any character at all; no danger is attached to murdering unarmed men; and the pay is many times larger. This is economic determinism.

TRANSLATED NEWS

INTERNATIONAL BULLETIN OF THE SYNDICALIST MOVEMENT.

Finland.

The subordinating of the pilot service of Finland to the ministry of marine through the confirmation of a bill by the Emperor of Russia has caused all Finnish pilots to resign. Provincial pilots to the number of 25 are now detained (Feb. 22) at police quarters in Helsingfors where they are undergoing searching examinations. This action has caused the backward pilots to join the strike, and great embarrassment is caused to local shipping and to foreign vessels.

Norway.

The new spirit in the Norwegian trade unions continues to draw the attention of all countries. We give now the text of the resolution of Trontjem which was adopted at Christiania and which we mentioned in No. 25 of the Bulletin. "The meeting is of opinion that the present labor condition exiges that the labor organization should rest on a more revolutionary basis than formerly. Therefore the meeting proposes the following program: Abolition of written contracts, adoption of the strike as the first weapon, adoption of the solidarity strike, of boycott, of obstruction, of sabotage, of co-operation. The reformist trade unionists pretend that the forms of direct action recommended by this resolution do not correspond to the national character which does not approve of sabotage, obstruction, boycott, etc., as e. g. the French workers do; also they assert that the electoral struggle has a greater significance in the Scandinavian countries than in the Latin ones.

We will not discuss these points, convinced as we are that the economic and social struggle always will adapt itself to the customs of the nations and according to the historical degree of their development. Even if the new spirit in the Norwegian labor movement has no other consequences than the decentralization of the labor movement and its reorganization on a federal basis with greater autonomy of local union and a greater chance for the workers to maintain their sovereignty—the recent event will not have been in vain.

Denmark.

An extraordinary congress of the Danish trade unions has been held January 23 at Copenhagen, at which 175 delegates assisted. The national trade councils of Sweden, Norway and Finland had sent delegates. In the Danish labor world the congress had been awaited with the greatest interest, in view of the confusion which is reigning in the movement. During the past year several unions as the masons and seamen had left the national trades council. In some other unions the question of leaving the trades council has been fully discussed and were the occasion of severe attacks on the national trade council and its centralist tactics.

Another important point of the program was the revolutionary syndicalist tactics and in connection with it the strike of the navvies which caused much difficulty to the strongest Danish trade union, the "Dansk Arbejdsindsforbund." We remind our readers that recently 3,000 navvies were on strike at Copenhagen. The leaders of the movement had concluded a contract with the employers, but the men under the influence of revolutionary syndicalist propaganda would not submit, and in a resolution blamed the attitude of the leaders and appointed a new executive. This will explain why the congress was awaited with so much interest. The program was:

1. The position in the affiliated unions.
2. Form and organization and tactics of the national trade council. As a great part of the discontented elements did not attend the congress the discussions lost much in importance, and we give only a short account of the proceedings and the decisions taken. The president of the national trades council, Madsen, opened the discussion by a report on the two points of the program. He attributed the secession of the masons and seamen to special causes; discontent among the first, who had to return a sum of 7,000 Kronen advanced by the council; the latter because they wanted to start in 1911 an important strike. In the discussion dissatisfaction was manifested from many sides though many of the dissatisfied members were absent. The desire to reorganize autonomy and more liberty of action for the affiliated unions. It was said that the national trades council at several occasions had prevented the affiliated unions to use all their forces in the struggle against the employers. The statutes were said to be old fashioned and often acting as obstacles to action. Many other speakers on the contrary defended the old form of organization. They said that the time had come to take openly action against the spirit of revolutionary syndicalism derived from France, and only the social-democratic organization could effectively fight the foreign spectre from the Danish labor movement. Therefore they insisted on a close touch being kept between the political social-democratic party and the trade unions. At last a long resolution was voted deciding the appointment of a commission of 15 members to examine if modifications are necessary in the present form of organization of the trade union movement, if yes, then the commission will elaborate the necessary modifications which will be submitted to a congress to be held next April.

From our point of view there is evidently reason of satisfaction as to the results of the congress of Copenhagen.

Portugal.

During the ten years which preceded the revolution in Portugal, the republicans posed as the real friends of the workers; they spoke with greater fire than we ourselves of a better society where labor would occupy the place it deserves. The mass of the workers was at that time still unorganized and they were easily carried away by these republicans. The republic was established, but the republican government seemed to have forgotten its promises. It was necessary to repeat them, to demand the rights of meeting and of union which even at the time of monarchy had been enjoyed. Increase of wages was also demanded to secure better condition of living. The capitalists would not listen, and government remained inactive. Direct action, then strikes, were applied by the workers; but then the republican government did not hesitate to make use of the weapon of the monarchy and the troops were called out against the strikers. Shots were fired and there were victims. Even the monarchy had not done that. The disillusion of the people was painful. Protests were made and the workers of Lisbon had their first general strike of 24 hours, the most splendid general movement ever produced in Portugal. The town workers organized and fought first, they were followed by the peasants. The town of Evora with its 180,000 inhabitants in the center of the most agricultural province of Portugal, was the center of the Federation of Agricultural workers. At the end of last year the workers sent in their claims to the employers declaring that if they were not complied with a strike would be declared. Repression began at once. A demonstration was charged by the police. The next day the fights in the street became more serious, one man being killed. The trades council of Lisbon declared a general strike and all work was suspended. But the government handed the town over into the hands of the military, and imprisoned over 1,000 workers on the warships.

Will Portugal have its June days of 1848?

The above regarding Portugal is interesting in view of the recent revolution in that country. Although apparently of a political nature the real cause of the upheaval lay much deeper. Changes in population and in foreign relations made necessary a new method of production. Steam driven machinery was introduced and the difference in labor conditions and in output revolutionized the ideas of the people and changed their economic relations. Old forms no longer being in keeping with the mode of production, a revolution resulted. The strikes which followed are simply evidences of the entrance upon an era of up-to-date capitalism. Failure of political effort—especially where the workers are unorganized and without real power is here clearly shown. The economic preceded the political, and not vice versa, and a change of governmental form, while inevitable, was of no practical benefit to the proletariat who still must make their fight in the industries to better conditions and to achieve their final emancipation.—Editor.

INTERNATIONALISM.

(From the New Zealand Social Democrat).

In our opinion the international phase of the labor movement should not be neglected. We have clearly shown how the workers could organize industrially to prevent local or national scabbery, but it must not be forgotten that long-distance scabbery is just as disastrous and treacherous to the interest of the workers as local or national scabbery.

In order to prevent this it is necessary to be affiliated with the other revolutionary industrial organizations of the world, so that the entire working class of the world could act simultaneously upon all questions concerning their welfare, thus preventing the employing class from pitting the workers of one country against those of another, and thereby defeating them in their struggle for better conditions.

Regarding the international phase of this movement, it would be possible and advisable for each additional national branch to elect a representative to the International Congress, which, in addition to creating a spirit of international solidarity, would be able to formulate some definite proposals and plans for international action.

Organized upon these lines it would be impossible for the employing class of other countries to, say, send cargoes of coal to New Zealand whilst the miners of New Zealand are locked out, or on strike, and vice versa, thus making long distance scabbery impossible. This would equally apply to all other departments of industry.

Fellow Workers! Do not think this is an Utopian dream impossible of realization in our lives, and should therefore be deferred to some future generation.

Already in other countries this form of organization has had a phenomenal growth and success and demands that the National Industrial branches should be linked up with other international branches of the revolutionary industrial organizations, and make the ONE BIG UNION an accomplished fact and glorious reality.

INSPIRED BY DIRECT ACTION.

In speaking of a debate held in New York City between Sol Fieldman, Socialist, and Emma Goldman, Anarchist, that always-interesting publication, Mother Earth, has the following to say: "We mention the event mainly because of the wonderful spirit of solidarity displayed on both evenings on behalf of the Lawrence strikers; $532 odd dollars were collected at Carnegie Hall, and $142 at the Republic Theater. It may have been the splendid appeals made by 'Bill' Haywood at the first debate, and by Elizabeth Gurley Flynn at the Republic Theater, that inspired the generous response. Yet more likely, it was the growing spirit in behalf of direct action, as displayed in Lawrence that enthused the audiences."

MORE ABOUT JOHN KEAN.

In case there is doubt regarding the basis of the answer recently made in these columns to John Kean, president of the Pacific Division of the I. L. A. the following instances may throw some light upon the affair.

In New York last fall Local No. 321, I. L. A., composed of coal boat captains, went on strike for a raise in pay. Local No. 315 of coal heavers joined the strike. After remaining out about eight hours the captains sneaked back to work without giving notice to the members of the other local. The result was that No. 315 was locked out and the "good union" captains proceeded to work with scab coal heavers. The boats were towed to the Trans-Atlantic docks where the coal was again handled by other members of the I. L. A. Local No. 315 received but little strike aid from other unions as the strike was "unauthorized."

When the strike of the New York City Ash Cart Drivers was on an effort was made to bring the scow trimmers local of the I. L. A. out with them in order to tie up the city dumps, but a telegram from their president, then in attendance of an A. F. of L. convention advised them to remain at work and live up to their contracts.

The sailors strike for the past three years upon the Great Lakes has found the I. L. A. taking but little part in it. In some cases advantage has been taken of the situation to sign contracts with the employers for periods as long as three years.

The great English strike brought forth another example of organized scabbery. The I. L. A. is supposedly affiliated with the striking dockers, but this did not prevent them from discharging and loading all vessels affected by the strike.

The efforts made by John Golden and other leaders in the A. F. of L. to break the present textile strike in Lawrence should show who the real irresponsible Wholesale Wreckers are.

This is in nowise intended as a slap at the rank and file of the International Longshoremen's Association for in practically every case their strike breaking has been forced upon them by officials. The men if left entirely unorganized would have shown greater solidarity.

PIE CARD TACTICS.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Feb. 16, 1912.

Editor "Industrial Worker."

At a special meeting of local No. 69 we decided to issue contribution lists to fellow workers to raise money for the textile workers; one of the fellow workers went to the Rio Grande shops with list; while soliciting among the men employed there, some of them began making remarks to the effect that the I. W. W. were scabbing in Sacramento, Los Angeles, Oakland, and other points along the line affected by the Harriman system strike.

From letters of inquiry I have received from other parts of the country I can clearly see that there is a well laid plot to put the blame for the loss of the strike at our door, but like the rest of their dark plotting it is being found out.

In Pocatello and other points outside of Salt Lake the pie card artists are circulating the report that we of Local No. 69 are scabbing in Salt Lake; in Los Angeles they say the I. W. W. is scabbing at Oakland; and in Oakland they claim scabbery at some other point—but never at home.

It is time the "Worker" took steps to show up these wolves in sheep's clothing. Yours for ONE BIG UNION.

Secretary No. 69, I. W. W.

The circulation of lying reports that the I. W. W. is scabbing upon the striking shop federation workers is primarily the work of Hannon, first vice president of the I. A. M., and Glover, second vice president of the Blacksmiths.

These worthy gentlemen seeing the growing sentiment for industrialism among the rank and file of the shopmen, and finding that in Oakland, Cal., there were many who were not to be fooled by being given the shell without the substance, proceeded to start the stories of I. W. W. scabbery.

In Denver, Salt Lake and Oakland the message of real revolutionary industrial unionism was eagerly received and the speakers asked to return to further explain the principles of ONE BIG UNION.

These reports may do some slight harm to the I. W. W. for a time, but when their prostituted source is fully known by the strikers, Hannon and Glover will have to do some honest work for a living.

OAKLAND MEETING.

Local No. 174, I. W. W., Oakland, Cal., held a meeting at Hamilton Auditorium on Sunday afternoon, February 18, to deal with the issues involved in the great Lawrence textile strike. Representatives from all nationalities represented in the strike were invited to be present. The speakers were from the I. W. W. and the Socialist party. Other meetings are planned and all possible publicity will be given to the attempt of the mill owners to force a starvation wage upon the textile workers.

NEW PICTURES.

The International Publishing Co. has just issued some new pictures on the class struggle. They are entitled The Tree of Evil, Prohibition Dope, and The Last Strike. The first and last mentioned are especially good and are uniform in size with the poster picture called The Pyramid of Capitalism. Same can be had in postcards as well. The Pyramid has been improved to meet conditions in this country and a new edition issued. Prices are 15c for posters, $1 per dozen and $7 per hundred. Postcards 2 for 5c, 25c per dozen and $1.00 per 100. Send orders to this office for the present. Other announcements will follow.

THE IRON HAND.

There is a city on the coast
Where it is the bold mayor's boast
That he will rule the working host
With "Iron Hand."

But he'll get it in the neck some day,
The working men will make him pay,
And 'twill be no kid glove affray,
But "Iron Hand."

RUBBING IT IN.

We herewith reproduce a portion of an interesting letter recently sent to the Chicago Daily Socialist by W. R. Springstead of Chicago. It appeared under the above heading and reads as follows:

"Editor Daily Socialist:—In your issue of January 16 appeared an article entitled 'Wages Received by Building Trades Workers,' which gives a report of the United States Bureau of Labor on the great increase of wages during the last ten years in the various building trades throughout the United States.

"In reply, I will say that I am a journeyman and have been trying for several years to join the organization of my trade, but the books are closed and it is impossible for any one to join, no matter how much initiation fee they are willing to pay.

"The article asks 'Why should non-union men scab it on their fellow workers and remain outside of the union?' and further: 'Don't be an ingrate, don't be a cheap skate, be a man, join the union without further delay and help along the good cause.' Why rub it into the non-union men by saying, 'Join the union without delay?' Why call us ingrates, scabs and cheap skates? There is only about 10 per cent of all the workers in the United States organized now, Mr. Union Man. Do you think you can close your books against the 90 per cent and meet with no resistance?"

Will the French Syndicalists kindly copy?

WHY DON'T THEY SAVE.

Washington, Jan. 30.—That 65 per cent of the employes of the United States Steel corporation in the Pittsburgh district earn less than the actual cost of subsistence of the average American family in Pittsburgh was a calculation made at the steel trust hearing today by Louis D. Brandeis.

"The Associated Charities of Pittsburgh have computed the cost of bare existence of a family of a husband, a wife and three children in the city at $768 a year," he said. "By working 12 hours a day, 365 days a year, 65 per cent of the steel workers there earn $1.50 less than the amount actually required for the bare cost of living."

Mr. Brandeis declared that in 10 years the steel corporation had taken from the American people $650,000,000 in excess of a liberal profit on its investments.

"This enormous profit," he said, "has been used to grind down its employes to the misery of their present condition."

DROWNED!

Fellow worker Gust Gustafs who joined the I. W. W. in December of 1910, being issued Book No. 136, is reported as drowned off the shores of Victoria, B. C. Clothes were found upon the shore and foul play is suspected. Anyone learning further particulars will please communicate with the secretary of Local No. 322, 232 Pender St. E., Vancouver, B. C.

BUM GRUB! MEN QUIT JOB.

A report from an I. W. W. man at Snohomish, Wash., gives the conditions existing in the Williams Logging camp. Twenty-six men recently quit on account of the food. No butter or sugar appeared upon the menu and no syrup was forthcoming to ease the progress of the morning liverpads. The simple life proved too much for the men with the exception of six of the faithful slaves. These half dozen, with their strong stomachs and weak heads, are being fed upon dope about the identity of interests between employer and employe. It is the intention of the Williams camp to keep these men until spring, at which time their feet and hands will be tied so their ribs may be used for washboards.

CRAFT UNION APOLOGISTS.

A leading A. F. of L. apologist in the Chicago Socialist party claims that the cry of high initiation fees in the craft unions is false. As proof he quotes figures to prove that but 75,000 of the two million members of the A. F. of L. belong to organizations having exorbitant initiation fees.

The smallness of numbers of these restricted crafts show that many must have been denied admittance. These excluded workers, according to the A. F. of L., are scabs. Take the above figures and add to them the unions which have closed books and limitation of apprenticeship and one of the reasons for the A. F. of L. having but two million (?) members after 31 years of effort with great financial backing becomes plain.

Yet were there but one union with prohibitive initiation fees sanctioned by the A. F. of L. that single instance would serve to damn the outfit in the eyes of every toiler who believes in the words of Marx, "WORKERS OF THE WORLD UNITE!"

OUR DAILY MAIL.

Our daily mail consists of many fat "postage due" letters filled with philosophy, numerous slightly thinner letters demanding reasons for the failure to print the philosophy already received, then medium sized letters with kicks, very thin letters with live news inside, and the thinnest and fewest of letters containing those welcome little blue money-order slips together with the names of new subscribers. There is no particular objection to any of these letters but should you care to make the "Industrial Worker" worth while kindly reverse the order in which they arrive.

THAT W. F. OF M. INJUNCTION.

According to a letter received at this office from one of the rank and file of the W. F. of M. the following are the facts in the case of the recent injunction in Butte, Mont.

Last October the mill and smelters' union No. 74, asked Secretary Mills of the W. F. of M. for an itemized statement of moneys expended in the relief of locked out members in South Dakota. A list of 12,000 names was returned and the mill and smelters believing that they had paid enough in a losing fight and having but little to say in regard to the expending of the money collected, refused longer to pay assessments. Lowney and Sullivan went to Butte to tell Local No. 74, Mill and Smelters, that their charter was revoked, and all money and property was to revert to headquarters and the membership divided between Butte Miners' Union No. 1 and Engineers No. 83. Fluent, with a number of members of Smelters' Union, obtained an injunction restraining Charles Moyer and other parties at the Denver headquarters of the W. F. of M. from seizing any money or property, and against Butte No. 1 officials from collecting dues from members of Local No. 74. It is safe to say that when the lawyers get through cutting up the treasury among them, there will be little left for any other purpose. Even conservative slaves rebel against forever paying assessments to feed a regiment of workers indefinitely when the boss has them whipped on the turn loose.

DIFFERENT TACTICS ADVOCATED.

As one of the active members, who has been boosting the formation of a National Industrial Union of Lumber Workers, I wish to enter a protest against using the funds of the newly formed organization for payment of circuit speakers.

Let the funds of the N. I. U. of L. W. be used to send out English, Finnish and Italian organizers, and let the N. E. B. handle these organizers according to local conditions.

Should a district need an organizer for a week let him stay that long; if he be needed three months, let him remain for that period to build up the organization; and should a Finnish or Italian organizer be needed same should be sent.

The circuit should be operated by a separate organization, composed of mixed and industrial locals; the lumber workers' locals at Portland, Seattle and Vancouver remaining outside. The brunt of the burden of general propaganda should fall upon the shoulders of the mixed locals. Let the lumber workers use their money to organize the lumber industry.

The best resolution passed by the convention was the one indorsing the organization plan of local 432. Organization on the job comes first; the circuit system comes second.

Pick out a big husky, well informed logger in your local and send him out to organize the camps and mills.

A recent copy of the "Industrial Worker" shows what the Southern Lumber barns think of the I. W. W. They consider our organization methods as harmless and they are quite right so long as we pay out our money for speakers to lecture to mixed gatherings upon the street and in the hall, repeating time-worn phrases, the industries will remain unorganized.

Send out some organizers in your district upon a commission basis, giving them a small salary and fifty cents for every member brought in.

One big strike will educate more workers than a hundred street meetings. Remember also that many Italians are working in the lumber industry and don't forget to elect one upon the National Executive Board.

There are Italians in the Eureka local who know more about the labor movement than many of us, having been through many strikes and revolts before coming to this country. And above all we want an executive board composed of men with ability to handle strikes.

The convention may not have had many delegates, but do not let that discourage you. Grit your teeth, stiffen up your backbone and make a determined effort to build a powerful organization in the lumber industry. Yours for a constructive and forceful I. W. W.

JOHN PANCNER.

ECHOES FROM THE ABERDEEN FIGHT.

Hoquiam branch of local 354 held a big meeting last Sunday afternoon, Feb. 18.

W. I. Fisher has gone to work in a logging camp and another organizer will complete the organization of Hoquiam local.

Geo. Reese has held some big street and hall meetings in Aberdeen. He is now in Portland, but expects to take a trip to Marshfield, Ore., and to Eureka, Cal., in the interests of the newly formed Nat. Ind. Union of Lumber Workers.

On Friday, Feb. 15 a smoker was held in the I. W. W. hall at Aberdeen with the result that a Marine local was formed as elsewhere mentioned.

Fellow Worker Caldwell is starting out as camp organizer on the commission plan. Fellow Worker Carlson, formerly of Shelton district, is the first voluntary camp delegate.

The well known militant, W. T. Nel, is expected in the Grays Harbor district within a few weeks.

The National Industrial Union of Lumber Workers is taking with the slaves.

A Finnish organizer would be worth his weight in gold in the northwest.

And the Mayor of Aberdeen paid the I. W. W. local in that burg $40 in gold as indemnity for losses sustained during the fight. At which correspondent Stumpy asks "Don't that place us, in the category of the treaty making powers of the world?"

Under this head, local unions may have their cards printed and carried continuously for one year. Rate $5.00 per year.

COSMOPOLIS CONDITIONS.

The semi-annual baggage sale of Cosmopolis is about to take place. This is an aftermath of the crafty job actions of the Grays Harbor Commercial Co. This outfit hires most of its men from the Pioneer Employment office of Seattle, Wash., and you must have baggage in order to ship. Your baggage is held until you have paid your debt. About 90c per day is all that can be cleared. Thousands ship each year, mostly floaters from the east, looking for a steady job. These fellows get wise and jump the job leaving their baggage behind. The result is a semi-annual sale of trunks, suitcases, rolls of blankets, etc. This is bought mainly by the second hand dealers to peddle to a fresh batch of suckers. Cosmopolis is a good place for some agitators to land as the field is about ripe for ONE BIG UNION of lumber workers.

THE COMING DAY.

(By Wm. Roberts).

We are moving fast, my brothers,
To a more resplendent day,
When the errors that have chained us,
We shall break, and sweep away.

We shall bow our heads no longer
To the god of foolish creed;
But shall see our highest duties
In our fellow workers' need.

We shall free our minds of terrors
Born or priestly lore and fraud;
Bend no knee, in foolish worship,
To the profit monger's god.

But as men who think and reason,
We shall grow with passing time
As we did down through the ages,
Since all life crept in the slime.

Let us banish now forever
All who would enslave our kind;
Cast aside all creeds and doctrines
That debauch the human mind.

PRESS FUND.

Previously acknowledged $1126
Harry McGinnis 25

John Musselman, sec. Org. Com. Seattle, Wash. sends $22 for 600 copies of the current issue, pays up for extra bundles ordered during the past two weeks, and adds $2 for subscriptions. That's going some.

Ernest Beaselman sends $1 from San Diego for back numbers of the paper for free distribution. There are a number of these on hand and they are one-half cent each in lots of 50 or more.

Cobalt Miners' Union renews their bundle order for 5 copies for a year.

F. H. Alexander, Omaha, Neb., sends $1 for subs as usual.

Harry McGinnis sends in 75c for subs and 25c for the press fund from Kokomo, Ind.

Vincent St. John rustles $2.50 worth of subs in the stock yard city.

Local No. 252, Longshoremen, of Seattle want 100 copies per week for the next four weeks. A few more like Seattle and the "Worker" would soon own its printing plant.

NOTICE.

If you are receiving this paper without having paid for same there will be no bill sent to you. Some rebel has paid for the sub. You are asked to notice the number on the paper, comparing it with the number on the wrapper, so that your renewal can be sent to the "Worker" in time to insure that no issues will be missed.

TRANSPORT WORKERS ORGANIZE.

A Marine Transportation Workers Industrial Union has been organized in Aberdeen, Wash. Thirty-one charter members sent in their names and others are joining. The I. L. A. is expected to join in a body within a few weeks, and if this does not happen there will be many who will join the ONE BIG UNION individually. This is a pretty bitter pill for the pick handle experts to swallow, and the news will also please John Kean.

CORRECTION—SEATTLE MEETING.

Editor "Industrial Worker."

Last week's issue of the "Worker" contains an incorrect report of the Dreamland meeting, held for the benefit of the striking Textile workers.

The meeting was held under the joint auspices of the Socialist party and the Seattle locals of the I. W. W. Before the start of the meeting, a parade was organized by the I. W. W., about 1,000 members and sympathizers marched in a body from the hall to the big pavilion. The parade was a success and proved to be a good way of advertising the meeting.

Dreamland Pavilion was crowded to its full capacity. When the red flag was carried from the entrance to the speakers platform, the immense audience in a great outburst of enthusiasm cheered the emblem of workers solidarity. W. H. Pohlman of the Structural Iron Workers, acted as chairman; Hulet Wells, Kate Sadler, D. Burgess and E. J. Brown spoke for the Socialist party; Ed Lewis was the speaker for the I. W. W. The remarks of the speakers were well received. All through the course of the meeting, the attention of the audience was closely riveted upon the struggle of the Textile workers, to mention the strike was to invite loud applause. The receipts of the meeting amounted to over $300.00 and after the rent and advertising matter was paid, the balance, $214.00 was forwarded to Lawrence.

Last Sunday, the Union of Russian Working men held a concert and ball for the benefit of the strikers. The hall was full, the Russian Singing society and string orchestra rendered some beautiful selections. Between the selections, recitations and speeches were delivered in Russian and English. As a result of the concert about $40.00 will be sent to Lawrence.

Next Sunday evening a special mass meeting will be held in our hall and the full collection will be donated to the strikers and to the Vancouver Free Speech committee.

The subscription lists in the I. W. W. hall are filling rapidly, over $65.00 has been collected and there is more coming.

Her in Seattle, we realize the necessity of doing our utmost to help the striking textile workers financially and we will leave no stone unturned to see that our fellow workers in this struggle are provided with the sinews of war in the shape of finances.

An interesting feature of the transaction in sending the $214 to the textile strikers lay in the fact that the bank check as purchased is payable upon J. Pierpont Morgan.

PRESS COMMITTEE.

Ed. Note.—The "Worker" regrets the mistake made in the account of the meeting and wishes to state that same was the result of having to rely upon the capitalist press for information. Have your press committee send in the reports of affairs in plenty of time.

FREE SPEECH

FREE SPEECH DEMONSTRATIONS IN FRONT OF CITY AND COUNTY JAIL, SAN DIEGO, CAL.

For nearly three months eighty-five business men of San Diego communicated with Captain Schon and Chief of Police Wilson, secretly holding meetings in the U. S. Grant Hotel, in an endeavor to find ways and means to gradually regulate the supreme law of the United States out of existence, namely, the law of FREE SPEECH and PUBLIC ASSEMBLY as granted to the people in the Constitution of the United States.

The Real Conspirators.
Here is the way these business men criminals finally proceeded to act:
They made their tools, the city council, pass an ordinance regulating street speaking under provisions of which they could move persons from the place where they had been wont to hold meetings. The thought that by moving the speakers some they gradually could move them more, and finally could move or regulate them clear out of town, and if necessary clear into old Mexico. They said that that was where the agitators belong.

But while the workers were willing to stand for reasonable regulations, they, like the Steel Trust, do not want strangulation, so on February 8 the dance started.

Workers Unite in Parade.
A protest parade was held in which I. W. W. members, Socialists, Single Taxers, Trade Unionists and unorganized and unattached workers joined hands and the line of march was arranged in a masterly manner.

We marched down to the sacred territory and then divided from four abreast into two sections, so that two could march together upon the sidewalk in accordance with Johnny Law. The forty-one persons who had decided to stand for their rights—rights which existed prior to governments—then mounted the box, only to be taken, as are rabbits in a ferret drive, one by one, by those encephalic barbarians on the San Diego police force.

Conspiracy Charged Against "Agitators."
The M. and M. criminals, whose every move is illegal because of their actions in restraint of trade, had their judicial flunkys go the limit and place a charge of conspiracy against 48 members of the army that is fighting to uphold freedom of speech. Bonds were set at $1,500 in order to secure those who dared to advocate that the workers gain more of the good things of life through organization.

Instead of discouraging the fighters this action increased the determination to win and results were that arrests for street speaking have occurred almost nightly since the judicial outrage.

Rebels Show the Proper Spirit.
The police do not know how to deal with people who seem anxious to break into jail and the spectacle of agitators drawing lots to see who shall have the honor has them worried. When the brutalities of the police inside the jail was made public the indignation rose so high that a change had to be made. So the attempt to discourage new recruits by refusing those who were arrested even the common necessities of life and by herding 45 men in one small room failed dismally and made matters worse for the asinine authorities.

One hundred and sixty men and women are in jail up to date (February 20). The majority of these are of the I. W. W. The presence of the women who are class conscious enough to fight right on the firing line is a great factor in the fight.
Idiotic Statements of Dist. Attorney Utley.

The lack of useful work for the supernumeraries is shown by District Attorney Utley's statements as reported by the San Diego Herald.

"It is the duty of the county to attend to these vandals, barbarians, tramps, hoboes, I. W. W.'s, and such trash, and I am going to attend to it."

"Any man who is out of work should be put in jail especially if he wants to talk about it. There's going to be no street speaking, if I can prevent it, in the main part of the city. Some of 'em might tell the truth."

"We will starve them into submission by keeping them in the jug until they are tame. They won't feel like telling the truth about us any more."

We Workers Will Win.
Well! Well! Time will tell. We intend to keep up this fight and keep on telling the truth to our fellow workers until the last parasite is forced to leave our backs. So hop to it, kind friend of the wig and gown, and help to fan the flames of discontent.

When the workers are awakened so they deal equitably as man to man they will have no need of delving into the pasts for precedent or listening to ponderous, musty, meaningless Latin phrases from the lips of the satyr-sensed satellites of the capitalist class.

As for stopping us we are the useful members of society and you the useless. The useful persists and the useless decays and dies. The river must seawards despite you.

San Diego's Salubrious Climate.

We extend a cordial invitation to all who have not visited this city to come and feast upon our salubrious climate and to make the acquaintance of those staunch upholders of working class justice—SEHON, WILSON and UTLEY.

Come on the cushions
Ride up on top;
Stick to the brakebeams;
Let nothing stop
Come in great numbers;
This we beseech:
Help San Diego
To win FREE SPEECH!

NORTHERN PACIFIC CO-OPERATION.

The Northern Pacific Railway Company is said to be using the co-operative system of scientific management to skin the workers in its employ.

Formerly, those employees who occupied company buildings enjoyed the privilege of free fuel together with free rent.

A circular, recently issued, demands the discontinuance of the use of company fuel and threatens violators of the new ruling with punishment by law.

Later the management issued a circular offering to sell coal, or rather slack, to employees at a rate about one dollar in excess of the price of local dealers.

What will happen to those who will refuse to purchase is not known, but the whole affair seems to be a method for scientifically skinning the workers.

Either coal has increased greatly in value or else the Taylor System of Scientific Management is being applied.

This penny-pinching economy reminds one of the story that is going around in regard to a Taylorized fireman.

This fireman had drilled into him from daylight till dark the need of economy in the use of fuel and oil. So imbued with the idea did he become that, upon being asked what course he would pursue in case a head-on collision seemed inevitable, he replied: "I would grab a lump of coal in one hand, my oil can in the other and jump for my life."

AID SAN DIEGO.

San Diego, Cal. Feb. 18, 1912.

Comrades and Brothers:—

The fight now going on in San Diego takes the guise of a Free Speech Fight. At bottom it is a fight to unionize the town. The defeated Fair Projectors are trying to take directly out of the working men's hides the money they could not get from you through congress.

In November General Otis and Zehandler, well known friends of county, visited the Grand Jury of San Diego county. The result was that the grand jury requested the city council to pass an ordinance restricting Free Speech. The council was unwilling, but when pressure was brought to bear, they gave us two ordinances instead of one:

First—Prohibiting public assemblage in the one place that for a generation has been dedicated to free speech.

Second—An ordinance making any policeman a judge. Giving him the power to say whether any three persons are a crowd or not.

At present we cannot refer the antics of the enemies of organized labor to a vote. All we can hope to do it to compel the enemy by Extra Legal Means, to forego the legal nonsense by which they hope to enmesh us. The ordinary means of public action are blocked by the newly formed Citizens' Alliance.

We Can Only Do the Extraordinary! Help US With Men and Money!

If you help us win you will lessen the force of the attack upon yourselves. Agitate against the San Diego Fair. Boycott San Diego goods. Keep all union men away except those who are near and are willing to go to jail.

For the first time this fight is without equivocation. No isms nor ospiologies; only one situation: worker against shirker! Give us all the publicity you can. In behalf of the 140 men and women in jail we ask you to send funds. With your assistance the workers of San Diego will rise triumphant; without it they will go down to defeat.

WILL YOU HELP THEM?
By the Executive Committee of the Free Speech League.

In order not to complicate matters all funds should be sent to Jack Whyte, Box 312, San Diego, Cal., making same Personal. Any changes of treasurers will be noted in succeeding issues.

TYPO INNER CIRCLE.

Justice of Pittsburg, Pa., in its issue of February 17, gives its second exposure of the International Typographical Union, in the form of a fac simile reproduction of a letter alleged to have passed between members of the inner circle (known as the Wahnetas). This letter, having a secret signature, boasts three members of the I. T. U. as "our" candidates for trustee of the Union Printers' Home. This exposure corroborates the statement made by the Industrial Worker in the issue of February 15. The three Candidates are Fennessy, McCaffrey and McKee. It looks very much as though the Wahnetas were simply a branch of the Militia of Christ.

HALLELUJAH!

A few days ago the writer heard a disconsolate day laborer singing a mournful little verse.

It ran like this:
"Why in hell don't you work like other men do?"

How in hell can I work, when there's nothing to do?"

We stopped and asked him to sing the rest of the song when he explained that although there were many verses, they were all just like the first one.

A MANLY LETTER FROM JOE ETTOR

Lawrence Jail, Feb. 15, 1912.

Fellow Worker Smith:—
Have not seen the "Worker" in a dog's age—five weeks in all. Have either been too busy or, like the last two weeks, tied up in here. For the last week I have been fed on law in the shop where they do business.

Send me copies of the "Worker" for the last five weeks in care of Mahoney and Mahoney, attorneys-at-law.

They have me cooped up believing it will "settle" the strike, but she is a bad one, getting worse for them.

They are now showing their hand. I am not just being tried for accessory before the fact of murder, but for being a member and officer in the I. W. W.—that is what the district attorney has virtually admitted.

It is the I. W. W. that is on trial and if found "guilty" we two will get it.

Some very wise folks say that "the I. W. W. is dead" but in the great state of Massachusetts it has come to the point where they try dead ones for murder. It is to laugh. They don't for a moment think "the I. W. W. is dead" around here. It is very much alive—too much for the mill owners and kept men. If possible they would like to put it on the electric chair.

But what can you expect of our enemy; they see the solidarity and devotion among workers grow ever more dangerous and certain, and the day of their revelry and riot approaching nigh an end. So they rush more under the silk skirts of Madam Law, Order, Authority, Property and all kindred.

Keep on giving it to them all—even harder! You and the rest of the Fellow Workers do your part from the outside and rest at ease—I will do my part from here, and we will soon break down the barriers that stand between the workers and LIFE FOR ALL.

The district attorney says we don't believe in trade agreements and don't conduct strikes like the ordinary trades unionists headed by gentlemen like MR. GOLDEN.

Smile you cuss!
Best regards to yourself and family and to all the Rebel World. Yours for the Reign of the Proletaire,

JOS. J. ETTOR.

Compare Joe Ettor's manly stand with the cringing, crawling, contemptible, crying attitude of John Mitchell, when he had recently received a summons to court, or with the actions of Samuel Gompers, whom the Supreme Court so frightened that he swallowed his own vomit, and see which organization—the I. W. W. or the A. F. of L.—is officered by men and which by cowards.

When Golden advises scabbery, with Gompers sanctioning the action, and so-called socialists support the A. F. of L. or slur the I. W. W., we can place them all in the same category—as mouchards of the master class.

Ettor could exchange his manhood for liberty at any moment but despite the innuendoes of some Lying People he will remain true to the I. W. W. and to his class.

VANCOUVER TRIALS

Commercialism has no boundary lines, neither have the aroused toilers. We, the I. W. W., have no use for your system of government, "Britons shall never be slaves," Bibles and all that tommyrot. And some day you will awaken from your dream and see that the workers are taking possession of the mills, mines, factories and workshops to run them in the interests of the workers.

Self-satisfied judges, ignorant police, filthy jails, and lying newspapers cannot stop our onward march.

WE WILL WIN, WON'T WE, WORKERS?

Men and money are still needed. Post cards showing the tremendous crowds and depicting police brutality are on sale at $3.50 per 100. Send all contributions and orders to Frank Wilson, Box 2167, North Vancouver, B. C.

PRESS COMMITTEE.

WORLD WIDE AGITATION.

In the Social Democrat, Auckland, New Zealand, issue No. 45, a recent Industrial Worker cartoon, entitled "A Stick the Master Can't Break," is printed with acknowledgment. In their succeeding issue they printed a descriptive chart of ONE BIG UNION, molded after the work of T. J. Hagerty and Wm. E. Trautmann. The preamble of the Industrial Workers of the World is printed in full, and the Social Democrat might be said to be the official organ of the New Zealand branch of the I. W. W. That industrialism is spreading throughout the world is not doubted by any sane person, and that New Zealand is not to be duped by any substitutes is shown by the following quotation: "A loose federation of craft unions is NOT Industrial Unionism! A single union under a single constitution with the overthrow of Capitalism as the slogan is a very different thing. Get into line!"

The best protection for the workers is from their own class organized into One Big Union.

A signed statement by Wm. E. Trautmann which concludes with the words, "run the industries and appropriate to themselves the product of their toil," is called "significant" and is played up in the papers in great style.

The admission that the I. W. W. proposed to transfer the mills to the textile workers, and believes in abolishing the wage system comes in for still greater advertising. This is supposed to be damaging to the case, but Ettor smiles serenely and the case drags on.

Ettor has taken the stand in his own behalf, following an examination of Yates and Gilbert Smith. A report of the testimony is not at hand for this issue.

All capitalist apologists to the contrary, this strike marks the dawning of a better day for those toiling millions whose labor alone creates the things of value.

A new social order is about to be born and the Lawrence strike is one of the pangs that accompany the birth.
