We Must Build A Communist Mass Party

By C. E. Ruthenberg, Secretary, We Sers Party.
The task before the Communist Party in the United States is as great or greater than that which is faced by the sections of the Communist International in any country in the world. In the United States we have a population of over 100,000,000 and an area which is as great as all Europe and Russia. We have a capitalist system more highly evolved and more powerful than in any other country in the world. While capitalism in most European countries has been undermined and is coming to fall during the world-wide economic crisis, in the United States capitalism still stands unshaken. It is against this great division of the capitalist system that the members of the Workers Party are carrying on their struggle. The 20,000 men and women who compose the Workers Party today must thru their struggle, their sacrifices, their efforts, their self-sacrifice build up that movement which will control this vast capitalist order and repave it with a Communist's orders. These 20,000 men and women must thru their struggle, their sacrifices, their efforts, their self-sacrifice build up that movement which will control this vast capitalist order and repave it with a Communist's orders. These 20,000 men and women must thru their struggle, their sacrifices, their efforts, their self-sacrifice build up that movement which will control this vast capitalist order and repave it with a Communist's orders.

Announced on the Board

By JOHN PEPPER

The announcement of the American Federation of Labor held in December, from Sept. 10 to 14, 1922, is the most important event in the history of the governing bureaucracy of the American Federation of Labor since the split in 1916. The American Federation of Labor and the militant rank and file have been consistently dominated by the reactionary elements of the bureaucracy since that time. The American Federation of Labor, the largest and most powerful of the labor organizations in this country, has been controlled by a small group of men who have used their position to oppress the workers and to oppress the workers.

CHICAGO, Ill., (Special to "The Worker.")—A meeting held at the Douglas Park Auditorium, here, which brought a large crowd of delegates from all over the first anniversary of C. P. Ruthenberg's death in the Michigan State Prison at Joliet in his Michigan Criminal Syndicalism trial is now coming to a close. Ruthenberg, who was principal speaker, is his appearance at the meeting.

Coal Miners Rebel at Lewis' Alliance with Labor's Enemies

A considerable part of the attack contained in these articles is directed against the Southern Illinois Coal Company that broke its contract with the miners' union, tried to operate its mines during the strike, brought in gunmen supplied by a Chicago detective agency, and the reign of terror over Williamson County, subjected local residents to brutal intimidation and finally opened hostilities through the coal-mined.

"Why Every Worker Should Be A COMMUNIST and Join the Workers Party"

The Workers Party has just published an eight-page pamphlet with the title above.

In it appears a brief statement of the principles of Communism, written in language which every worker will understand.

The opening statement is the following:

"Is This the Best You Can Do?"

followed by some plain facts about the operation of the capitalist system.

The pamphlet is illustrated by two original cartoons, one by Robert Minor and the other by Ellis.

On the back page is an application for membership and subscription blank for the party publication.

Lewis' Anti-Radical Campaign

least a dozen officers of the United Mine Workers of America secretaries to district presidents, as those of instance, of District No. 1 of Virginia. Among the many officers of other districts of the United Mine Workers who have co-operated we might mention D. L. Thomas, president of Sub-District No. 2 of District No. 12, and McCool, an officer of District No. 5.

"I have not now and never have had any interest in the tactics of the inter-unional fight of the United Mine Workers of America. We have confined ourselves scrupulously, consistently and exclusively to the one and only question with which we are concerned—the speech, free press and free assembly."

The officers of the American Civil Liberties Union also denounced the assertion of the United Mine Workers' official that the union "work led from within" the coal strike of 1922 on behalf of the Reds as a preposterous charge.

"Our work in the coal strike of 1922 was concerned solely with the strikers' right to speak and assemble peacefully," the Civil Liberties Union's official declared. "In the particular district of southwestern Pennsylvania which Mr. Seabury mentions we were informed by responsible officials of the United Mine Workers of America that the civil rights of the strikers were menaced by ruthless suppression being carried on by the local authorities assisted by the State constabulary. To say that the Civil Liberties Union sent a delegation in there 'work from within' is a preposterous charge."

According to the officers of the United Mine Workers, the report of Roger Baldwin, director of the Civil Liberties Union, on the activities of the "wholesale violators of civil liberties in the mining districts of Somerset County, Pa."

"The Civil Liberties Union immediately got in touch with newspaper agencies and sent a special reporter to write up the facts of the case. Newspaper men and other representatives of our organization worked with Troop and mine other mine men in issuing reports on the situation in these districts. Later at the instance of Mr. Crane Gantz, of Paensden, Calif. Still later, Attorney Arthur Goddard Fava, of New York, took action against the Vinton Colliery Company in Vintonville, Pa., which resulted in opening up that town for

Free Speech

It is a well-known fact that the American Federation of Labor has been the victim of a long and bitter struggle for the right of free speech. The struggle has been fought in many courts and has resulted in many decisions. The most recent of these is the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Whitney v. California, which was handed down on June 21, 1927.

The case arose out of the activities of the Communist Party in California. The party had organized a "Workers' Party of the United States" and had published a newspaper called "The Worker." The newspaper had published articles which were considered to be seditious and subversive. The state of California had passed a law which prohibited the publication of such articles. The party brought suit against the state, claiming that the law violated the First Amendment of the Constitution.

The Supreme Court, in a 5-4 decision, upheld the constitutionality of the law. The majority opinion was written by Chief Justice Brandeis. He stated that the law was a valid exercise of the state's power to protect its public safety. He said that the articles published in "The Worker" were not merely expressions of opinion, but were attempts to incite to violence and to overthrow the government.

The dissenting opinion was written by Justice Brandeis. He stated that the law was unconstitutional because it violated the First Amendment. He said that the articles published in "The Worker" were not seditious, but were merely expressions of opinion. He said that the state had no right to prohibit the publication of such articles.

The decision in Whitney v. California is a landmark case in the history of free speech in the United States. It has been cited many times in subsequent cases and has been the subject of much discussion and debate. It is a reminder that the right of free speech is not absolute and that it may be limited in certain circumstances.

Amalgamation and Labor Party

Win at Convention of West Virginia Federation of Labor

(Special to "The Worker.")

FAIRMONT, W. Va.—The West Virginia Federation of Labor, in its convention here, joined the rapidly growing and rapidly forward-looking labor bodies, when it adopted resolutions calling for the amalgamation of craft unions, and for the national labor party.

The West Virginia Farmer-Labor Party was also endorsed. Another resolution called for efforts to organize the 12,000 teachers in the state, and to make the schools more democratic to organized labor.

The main interest in the convention seemed to be centered about the question of amalgamation. The delegates were divided into two camps. One camp was in favor of amalgamation, and the other was in favor of maintaining the status quo.

The amalgamation camp was led by the late Mr. J. H. "Boss" Hays, who was a prominent labor leader in West Virginia. He argued that amalgamation was the only way to bring about a more democratic and efficient labor movement. He said that the craft unions were too narrow and too exclusive, and that they were unable to represent the interests of the entire working class.

The status quo camp was led by the late Mr. J. H. "Boss" Hays, who was a prominent labor leader in West Virginia. He argued that amalgamation was a dangerous and unnecessary step. He said that the craft unions had a long and successful history, and that they were not in need of reform.

The convention ultimately voted in favor of amalgamation. This was a significant victory for the labor movement in West Virginia, and it was a step towards the creation of a more unified and powerful labor force.

A New Bureau Paper

By C. R. Rothberg, Secretary, Workers Party

There has come to the attention of the National Office of the Workers' Party, a copy of the "Workers' Voice" published in New York City by the Workers' Party of the United States.

This paper is a weekly publication, and it is one of the best of its kind in the United States. It is a clear and concise statement of the party's program and its principles. It is a valuable asset to the party, and it is one of the reasons why the party is so successful.

The paper is edited by C. R. Rothberg, the secretary of the party. Rothberg is a well-known labor leader and a prominent figure in the party. He has been instrumental in the development of the party's program and its principles.

The paper is published in New York City, and it is distributed throughout the United States. It is a must-read for all workers who are interested in the labor movement and in the principles of the Workers' Party.

Plan Working Class Magazine for Working Class Children

For so long a time have the organized revolutionary workers of this country stood by and allowed their children to be raised in a materialistic and bourgeois environment, that it is now necessary to take steps to counteract the vicious anti-labor and anti-radical propaganda which the bourgeoisie has been pouring into the minds of our children.

The plan is to create a magazine for working class children. This magazine will be published by the Workers' Party of the United States. It will be a clear and concise statement of the party's program and its principles. It will be a valuable asset to the party, and it will be one of the reasons why the party is so successful.

The magazine will be published in New York City, and it will be distributed throughout the United States. It is a must-read for all working class children who are interested in the labor movement and in the principles of the Workers' Party.

It is fortunate that the Chicago Tribune, which has been a leading voice for the bourgeoisie, has not yet taken the step of attacking the Workers' Party. The Tribune has been a leading voice for the bourgeoisie, and it has been a leading voice for the bourgeoisie. It has been a leading voice for the bourgeoisie, and it has been a leading voice for the bourgeoisie.

Real labor progress in West Virginia awaits the development of a strong, conscious, progressive, and democratic labor movement. The labor movement in West Virginia is in a state of transition, and it is in need of a strong and conscious leadership.

It has become a matter, then, of prime importance to the workers of this country to hold in the organization of a magazine for working class children. This magazine will be a clear and concise statement of the party's program and its principles. It will be a valuable asset to the party, and it will be one of the reasons why the party is so successful.

How these bourgeoisie live, how they live with a view to the throat of the bourgeoisie, and how they live with a view to the throat of the bourgeoisie. The bourgeoisie is a class that is based on the exploitation of the working class. It is a class that is based on the exploitation of the working class. It is a class that is based on the exploitation of the working class.

The Language Federations and the Daily

By ABRAHAM JANKRA

The establishment of a Communist paper in the English language must be considered an important historical event. Every worker should be proud of the opportunity to do something to make its appearance on the date set.

The need for a daily paper in the English language has never been so great. We are American workers and especially the members of the Party must get behind this daily. This applies especially to the workers of the most exploited, oppressed and persecuted sections of the working class because of their inability to read the English language.

Workers of America, learn something from this tragic lesson. Trust those leaders who are denouncing the Communist Party. Do not trust those leaders who want to bring the revolutionaries out from the labor unions.

Do not be misled by those who are at the head of your organization. Do not be sold out by those who have become the "deeds" the captives in the future battle on the Communist International!

The Young Workers Co-operate. The Young Workers League of Chicago, in order to throw its full strength behind the campaign for the Daily Worker, has decided not to hold any branch meetings on the night of the big rally in Chicago for the Daily Worker, Friday evening, Sept. 21.

Only a few papers know the sacrifices made for their paper by comrades of the Russian Federation during the last few years. The "Morning Star" for instance carried the splendid spirit shown by these workers in supporting the Communist press in their own language.

Literature

ROBERT GAZZARINI, Editor

It is the duty of every worker to be a reader of the press. The press is the most powerful weapon in the hands of the working class.

The inspiring example of the "Daily Worker" is a powerful weapon in the hands of the working class. It is the duty of every worker to be a reader of the press.

Michigan Is Still Afraid

The first anniversary of the 1922 "Red Raids" in Michigan has the state made famous by Ford's Alvers still in fear and trembling. The attack on the Communists at Bridgeman, the raid on the Communist Party in Detroit, the raid on the radicalism in the home of Newberry, with its abundant crop of millionaires U. S. senators.

When these conclusions from the columns of the Michigan Farm Bureau News of recent issue, which carries all articles, not two-column Italian asking, "Will Michigan Farmers Become Socialists?" We knew that from one from Minnesota went into the making of automobiles in Detroit. We welcome this indication that the farmer-led victory in Minnesota is putting iron into the political aspirations of Michigan's farmers.

Farmers of Michigan have never shown any sympathy for any form of radicalism in the state, says the Farm Bureau News. It is the officials of the state administrative board, planning to force Michigan farmers to join the Nonpartisan League or some similar organization? We suggest that the State Coalition Committee make an investigation of this situation.

The Farm Bureau, like the Grange and other conservative farmer organizations have always stood for keeping the farmers away from any radical movement. It now appears that their efforts along this line have not been appreciated by manufacturing and distributing interests.

The poor State Coalition Committee. Stanley M. Powell, associate editor of the Farm Bureau News, confesses that the ambition of the Coalition Committee is to "prevent the spread of radicalism within the state and to isolate the influence of the old political parties in the state. However," he continues, in a signed letter, "it has been hinted to me that in reality it is merely the political machine of the Michigan Industrial Association, of which John Lovett, of Detroit, is the executive secretary."

When the Farm Bureau News, therefore, appeals to the manufacturers in Michigan's big urban shops industrial centers to curb the radicalism in the agricultural districts, it is time the farmers exposed this news bureau for what it really is. Michigan's farmers showed their motto when they refused to agree on a conviction: "I will kill you, but I will not be convicted."

William Z. Foster, at St. Joseph, Mich. Let the thinking men among them, the kind that demanded Foster's acquittal, organize and unite their forces with the city workers, with labor in the iron and copper mines and recognize their common interests. Drive in this direction would be a fitting celebration of the first anniversary of the raids against the Communists at Bridgeman.

Find the Gunman!

"The Advance," official organ of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, edited by Joseph Schloberg, asks why was not the Chicago police find the gunman? "Who shot at William Z. Foster while addressing a mass meeting at the Ashland Auditorium.

The Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union has suffered, on several occasions, in Chicago, from the brutal and illegal raids and arrests of the local police and state prosecutors. "The Amalgamated" knows the power behind the bosses' blows. It, therefore, knows where the gun is hidden, and where the money is hidden.

The state's attorney in Chicago has enough power to raid union offices, to take their property and have their officers indicted without any shred of evidence. Why does he not use his great power to bring the workers as well as the boss to the bar of justice?

The federal department of justice, at great expense to the American people, obtained the useless information that Foster was present at an unauthorized meeting at the Ashland Auditorium, but that was all the money and energy that a useful trial to send Foster to the penitentiary for the crime. Why does not the department of justice use its great and vast machinery to apprehend the man who tried to murder American citizens because that American citizen happens to be William Z. Foster the department of justice, the greatest of the greatest, the man who would be a criminal to be as large and endanger the lives of other citizens rather than guard the gunman from the identification of the enemies of labor who had sent him to commit murder.

Murder was attempted at a labor meeting and that should be enough for the labor movement, regardless of its attitude to the group affected, to demand of the Government to take immediate action. The man who shot at Bill Drogger was promptly arrested. Why is the man who shot at a labor meeting of thousands of people free?

This outspoken declaration of the official organ of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers is in startling contrast to the vapid utterances that appeared in "Justice," the official organ of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union. Instead of raising the cry, "Find the Gunman!" "Justice" wants to know what William Foster receives as secretary of the Trade Union Educational League. Instead of exposing the would-be assassins, "Justice," edited by the Gompers' disciple, Yanovsky, seeks to turn attention from the crimes of the Sigman administration in the Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, by throwing slurs at Foster.

"The Advance" might push its efforts to "Find the Gunman!" by addressing a few pertinent questions to "Justice," the mouth-piece of Sigman.

A World-Shaking Earthquake

Imperialist Japan is shaking. Earthquakes and fires have wrecked her industries and ruined some of her largest cities. It is declared it will take 25 years to recover from the catastrophe that has overwhelmed her.

The capitalist nations, especially the United States, behind their giving of niggardly relief, count the dollars they will make as a result of Japan's ruin. E. C. Whitwater, cotton mill expert, of Boston, Mass., says the United States will be called upon to help replace the 1,100,000 cotton mill spindles destroyed. This is but one item in the program of reconstruction. Already the international capitalists are talking of a huge loan to Japanese capitalism.

World capitalism is thus standing by capitalism in Japan with the full approval of the United States. The United States will be through the Red Cross and other relief organizations, reconstruction will be pushed at a profit, and loans will be made at the proper interest. How different from the almost 100 per cent boycott of Soviet Russia, in her hour of need, especially during the famine.

But Soviet Russia,—the world struggle of the workers and the aspirations of oppressed nationalities,—will gain thru Japan's helplessness. Thinking workers, while sympathizing with suffering labor in Japan, will rejoice at this advantage. The wings of Japan's imperialist, capitalist and military adventures on the Asiatic continent, have been temporarily clipped. Tokio will be compelled to come hat-in-hand to Moscow, instead of driving an aggressive policy against Soviet rule, especially in her dealings concerning the rich islands off the eastern Red Siberian Coast. Japan will be forced to go slow in her attitude toward China, one of the most friendly of all nations toward Russian Workers' and Peasants' Rule. The earthquake that shook Japan, also disturbed political and commercial conditions throughout the Orient; very important in view of the fact that conditions here have a big bearing on the world struggle of all labor for power.

Great Achievements of the Communist International

NOTE:—In this space each week "The Worker" publishes a new installment of a detailed report on the proceedings of the Communist International. This week's report covers the sessions during the last six months of the Communist International and the Red International of Labor Unions. Next week we shall see how Soviet Russia has developed in a message to British imperialism. This week's installment covers the last six months of the Communist International and the Red International of Labor Unions. On May 30, the Communist International and the Red International of Labor Unions united. The report in this issue is a history of the Communist International and the Red International of Labor Unions. There was a time when the Communist International and the Red International of Labor Unions were two separate organizations. The Communist International was a group of workers' parties, and the Red International of Labor Unions was a group of workers' organizations. The two organizations were united in 1930, and the Communist International became the Communist International of Labor Unions.

Particularly worthy of praise are the reports from the foreign language federations. In their own languages they are carrying on a propaganda campaign. It is a fact that the language federations are carrying on a significant campaign.

If the foreign-born comrades know the value of a Communist Party, they will not be deterred by the attacks of the bourgeois press. They will understand that such a daily is imperative if the party is to widen its influence among English speaking workers. The native-born and typical American worker does not, on the whole, understand the message of Communism. He does not hear it in its own voice. He has only heard the lies and misrepresentations about Communism, Russia, anarchy, a labor party, class-war propaganda, and our party that fills the capitalist press in an increasing flood.

We must reply to all these attacks, thru our Daily, in a voice that will be heard from ocean to ocean; in a voice that will reach the ears of every worker in whom there stirs the vision of a Communist society! In a voice that will arouse and inspire the sluggish masses to organization and struggle! In a voice that will cut like a sword thru the treachery of Gompersian class collaboration! In a voice that will ring with the challenge of the Communist International!

Rising Higher and Higher

Wherever the rank and file of labor is given an opportunity to express itself on the question of independent political action, it demands the labor party. This has been shown during the past year at the state gatherings of the West Virginia and Utah Federations of Labor. Where the reactionary officials still control, accepting the domination of the Gompers regime in the American Federation of Labor, as in the case of the official bureaucracy of the Federal Union of Labor, the workers are delivered, bound and gagged, to the old parties.

A throttled rank and file, however, does not want a crushed rank and file. The defeat of the official bureaucracy of the American Federation of Labor, and the rise of a new party, amalgamation and recognition of Soviet Russia, will only result in a growing demand for organized resistance under the banners of the Trade Union Educational League, against the attack of the official bureaucracy of the American Federation of Labor. The advance position won in West Virginia and Utah must be held thru the organization of the militant sentiment expressed in the conventions.

Higher and higher rises the tide of popular disapproval by labor's broad masses of the alliance of their officials with the bosses. The frantic efforts displayed by Gompers and his crown prince, Matthew W. Hill, in the vast state federation gatherings now being held, is an expression of the fear with which the A. F. of L. grand duces are going to Portland, Ore., Oct. 1, to face the issue of united political action of the workers and farmers.

Wherever they gather they should adopt the resolutions for the labor party and send them on to the American Federation of Labor convention, Portland, Ore. Ten thousand such demands from 10,000 local unions would give the blind staggers to the arrogant bureaucrats, who now look it over organized labor, and help send them tumbling from their crumbling thrones.

Farmers Versus Capitalists

The workers will realize first of all the class struggle within the bourgeoisie. The bourgeoisie has no common interests with the workers, and the workers must be organized to fight against the bourgeoisie. The bourgeoisie is a class of capitalists, and the workers are a class of laborers. The bourgeoisie is a class of capitalists, and the workers are a class of laborers. Among the Magazines

The October "Labor Herald" contains what will undoubtedly be one of the most historic documents in the history of the American labor movement. It is the Labor Herald for October, 1931, and it contains a report of all the sessions of the 10th national convention of the T. U. of A. This report is one of the most important documents in the history of the T. U. of A. and it is a must for every worker in the T. U. of A. who is interested in the history of the T. U. of A. and the history of the labor movement in general.

The "Daily Worker" will be a powerful factor of modern times in the progressive development of American labor movement.
