

Jan. 13, 1924, Is Date Set for Publication of "Daily Worker", First English Communist Daily

January 13, 1924, will be the date to appear on the first issue of "The Daily Worker," the first Communist daily in the English language. This date will therefore make history for the International Communist movement, as well as for the vanguard in the American labor struggle.

The date was definitely fixed at the recent meeting of the Central Executive Committee of the Workers Party. This was made possible thru the fact that the final drive for the $100,000.00 "Daily Worker" fund is now reaching its goal.

The establishment of a Communist daily has long been the ambition of the American movement. It has been urged for years. Resolutions favoring "The Daily" were unanimously adopted at the two national conventions of the Workers Party. But it was not until the summer of this year that the "Drive" for the $100,000.00 finally got under way.

The date has now been definitely fixed. Great mass meetings are being arranged by the Daily Worker Campaign Committee in 100 of the most important industrial centers in every part of the country to fitly commemorate this historic event in the life of the world Communist movement. These meetings, which are to be held on Jan. 12 and 13, will be a grand finale in the history of the "Daily Worker."

The principal speakers at all of these meetings will be the first issue of "The Daily Worker," which will be published for the first time. It will have a special souvenir edition, which will include articles by the leading working class writers of the country, a review of the present political conditions as they affect the workers, and an appraisal of the struggle and the program of the workers party.

The monthly subscription of $1 per month remains the same. Resolutions were adopted Sunday, Jan. 23 and Dec. 30, 1923, that the number of subscribers for the first issue of "The Daily Worker," Jan. 13, 1924.

Krusse Back from Europe with New Soviet Film

William F. Krusse, motion picture director of the Friends of Soviet Russia, returned a few days ago from a five months' trip to Europe. He was sent abroad to investigate the various "School-Communist" and other Russian activities supported by the U. S. R. as well as to get a motion picture to follow his two previous film successes, "Russia Through the Shadows" and "The Fifth Year."

Wedge Regime Launches Big Drive for "Super-Blacklist" Against Alien Workers in U. S.

These President Coolidge's message to Congress, the Burns and Daugherty campaign to make black-headed slaves of all alien workers in the United States, and the new administration's policies, all point to a new and more aggressive drive for registering and fingerprinting aliens as a means of making their names known to the public. It is to be made during this session of Congress to meet the plan in the President's message to Congress.

President Coolidge declared in his message that "we should find additional safety in a law requiring the registration of aliens." The bill now in the House of Representatives providing for such registration, the President's unqualified statement may be taken as an endorsement of it. It is the Johnson Bill, already virtually enacted by the Federal Department of Labor.

The Johnson Bill provides for punishment up to five years in prison for any alien who shall fail to register, his name, sex, race, nationality, date and place of birth, age, residence, marital status and occupation. Aliens are also required to be photographed, and to furnish "such other information as the Secretary of Labor may by regulation prescribe." For all this, the foreigners are to be taxed $5.00 a year at the time of registration.

Characterizing the bill as a "super-blacklist," the Daily Bulletin points out that the passage would be a new blow to the labor movement in general. With the instruments for effective identification in the hands of the police agencies, the hands of the police agencies could be broken with the greatest ease. What more would be needed to make a nation-wide strike wave a mere carnage of foreign-born workers in their ranks, particularly unions like the Industrial Workers of America, which operates as an industry.

That the attempt to create a super-blacklist is not an isolated phenomenon but part of a general drive against labor, which is being undertaken by the governmental forces, is shown by the many other vicious bills which have been introduced in Congress, notably the Sterling Bill, now in the hands of the Judiciary Committee of the United States Senate.

No greater mockery of the constitutionally guaranteed rights of free speech and free assembly than the bill now in the hands of the Judiciary Committee, designated as "A bill to prohibit and punish certain activities of labor organizations," is being introduced.

"It is in effect, what is well-documented by the many anti-labor bills which have been introduced in the various state anti-syndicalism bills which have been introduced in the various parts of the country. These state laws have been used to suppress the labor party to persecute some of the most and most outspoken elements in the militant labor movement. The whole issue has been dramatized on a national scale by the presentation of William Z. Foster, C. E. Stettinberg and the other Communists in the so-called "Michigan Case," growing out of the brutal trial of the Communist convention at Midland, Mich., August 22, 1922.

Burns and his army of stooge-fops are straining to execute these secure convictions in the Michigan case, because of its nationwide importance.

Up to the present no national anti-syndicalism law has been established. The proposals of the Sterling Bill would give us such a law. It is not to be passed despite upon the opposition labor is able to offer, and also, to a considerable extent, upon the number of convictions secured under the state laws. Thus, the Michigan Anti-Syndicalism Law, which has become the focus of attention, is being used to send in money to help the defense, while the flames of reaction are lending open and secret aid to the prosecution.

THE RIGHT TO WORK

OAKLAND, CALIF.—When the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations met in Chicago, Ill., last week, the subject of "The Right to Work" was discussed. The subject was discussed in a very interesting manner, and it was decided to hold a convention in Chicago, Ill., on the subject of "The Right to Work" during the coming year.

NEW YORK.—A. A. Lewis, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, said today that the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations will hold a convention in Chicago, Ill., on the subject of "The Right to Work" during the coming year.

"Daily Worker" in the Daily

The daily paper is our propaganda instrument. Everything in the news, circulation and in the paper is to be highly organized sections of the party. The Daily Worker has built an organization which dominates the life of the Finnish population in America and they have done it because they have been able to build up a Finnish Daily Worker which has been able to build up a Finnish Daily Worker in the English language will mean to the Workers' Party and they are exerting themselves to the utmost to make the Daily Worker possible and successful.

The success of the Daily Worker depends utterly on its ability to secure a high circulation. The future of the Workers' Party depends on its possession of successful daily papers. The success of the party depends on the party membership. If the party membership means business they can achieve a brilliant success for the Daily Worker and the Workers' Party in the next three weeks. They can start off the Daily Worker as a successful daily paper supplying the news, education and inspiration to 50,000 subscribers right from the start. In the three or four weeks intervening between now and the time when the Daily Worker will begin publication the party membership can secure the success of the first Communist daily paper ever published in the English language and further secure a bright, immediate future for the party.

It is any wonder that the party set aside three Sundays (Dec. 16, 22 and 29) for Communist Sunday for the Daily Worker subscription campaign? Is it any wonder that the party membership is wildly excited about the new daily? The task is so obvious, the duty of every party member, every militant worker, so plain. Sell subscriptions for the Daily Worker, this is among the workers. They are hungry for a paper that they can trust in the knowledge that with it their interests will be protected.

It is a goal that can be reached, but only if the party members are alive to the opportunity and will exert themselves to take advantage of it.

Change Minds on "Fifth Year"
 After a committee of three members, representing the American Legion of Morganstown, W. Va., saw a special showing of the Russian relief film "The Fifth Year," the local post withdrew its open opposition to the film, according to advice from the local branch of the American Civil Liberties Union from its local attorney, C. C. Rose.

Two performances took place, as scheduled, without any disturbance. When the picture was first shown in the local branch of the American Civil Liberties Union from its local attorney, C. C. Rose. Two performances took place, as scheduled, without any disturbance.

Another Revolution Necessary?

Without taking a ripple of attention, the Illinois Conference for Progressive Politics met and adjourned Sunday, in a room that had a down rank and file delegation, among a hundred officials, and little opportunity to voice their demands.

Party is Coming

The statement of principles adopted by the old federation, declaring its work within the old party, first put out by the Cleveland gathering the conference.

Delegate George Maurer, Chicago, moved an amendment calling for an independent political action and the organization of an all-industrial labor party. The amendment was adopted by a 2-1 vote.

Delegate L. W. Madock, local, introduced a resolution for a "Labor Party," but the conference was not in a position to take any action on it.

Shop Nuclei not Entirely Question of Organization or Re-organization

It is a grave mistake to think of shop nuclei as a mere question of organization or re-organization. They are a question of class consciousness and class solidarity.

"All Very Good, But..."

The Workers Party has demanded the proposed investigation of the American Communist movement. It is not opposed to a congressional probe of its activities. This has been stressed in the numerous mass meetings held over the country, addressed by Ruthenberg, Lovestone, Engdahl and others.

It is taken for granted that the august statesmen would listen with paired patience to the Communist discussion of economic conditions throughout the Communist expansion of the great struggles between the workers and the farmers on the one hand, and the capitalists on the other, and the part played by the government in these struggles.

About this time investigation, however, one of the most profitable among the congressional investigations, would break in with the remark:

"That's all very good, but how about the force and violence you are going to use to establish the proletarian dictatorship?"

And even to that question the Communists would have their answer. The Communist Investigating Committee of the United States Senate would be told that during the four years that there has been an organized Communist movement in the United States, not a single Communist has been charged with, tried or convicted for committing an act of violence.

What Communists have been charged with, imprisoned and deported for, is designed to state a historical fact. If the gentlemen of the United States want to know what that historical fact is, we would ask them to study the history of the United States.

When the northern capitalists, at Atlanta, in Lincoln, in 1860, the Southern slaveholders, whose economic interests were threatened, resorted to force and violence; they organized an armed insurrection to protect their economic interests.

If the great capitalist government at Washington, D. C., can assure the Communists, when the workers and their allies, the farmers, establish their rule in the United States and proceed to take from Mr. Morgan his railroads, and from Mr. Gary his steel mills, and from Mr. Rockefeller his oil wells, and from all other capitalists the mines, mills and factories they own, that they will give them up for use by the great majority which the workers' and farmers' government will represent, without resorting to force and violence, then there will be no reason for force and violence.

If, however, Mr. Morgan, Mr. Gary, Mr. Rockefeller and the other capitalist do what the Southern cotton planters did in 1861, if the government and Communist movement in the United States, aid, uses its Red Army to put down the rebellion.

And that's that!

Keep Up The Fight!

Five years after the ending of the world war, Washington has released 30 members of the Industrial Workers of the World, the last of the wartime prisoners. The liberation order issued by President Coolidge will not alone benefit for the brutalities heaped upon these class war prisoners, during the years of their arrest, conviction and imprisonment, and for the attacks upon the organizations to which they belonged.

Hundreds of class war victims sent to prison since the war remain behind the bars. They are suffering under the lash of unscrupulous state anti-syndicalist laws, while congress, now in session, is considering the passage of a national anti-syndicalist law, an attack against an organized labor movement.

Labors fight for its very existence is just as intense as ever. Labors enemies are more active now than ever.

All labor must join in raising the demand for the liberation of all class war prisoners. Release the victims of the state anti-syndicalist laws. Release Mooney and Billings. Release Ford and Suhr! Empty the capitalist bastilles of California. Release Dolla, the victim of the steel barons in Pennsylvania. Release Lingo and Vanzetti, the victims of the textile barons in Massachusetts. Release Blankenfeld, the victim of the Pittsburgh steel and coal barons. The growing demand of the workers upon the capitalists and their government should be RELEASE THEM ALL!

If you are with us then join the Workers Party!

Big Business Counts on Coolidge to Protect Its Interest

Now that Congress is in session, the Big Business interests have decided that the best policy for them is to sit tight and have faith in Coolidge. The employers and managers are not very much concerned over the outcome of the Sixty-ninth Congress.

It is true that there have been successes in the past which are being held up before them as the present hope. Yet there are certain redeeming features about the Congress which check the capitalists from serious worry.

Capitalists Don't Fear Congress. The employing class is not at all troubled by what Congress is doing. They may not do in the coming month, but the capitalist classmen are confident that there is not much to expect from the new House, or Senate. They have long been convinced that the new congress cannot do them any serious damage.

Behind in the last number of the Nation's Magazine, the official organ of the United States Chamber of Commerce, a newspaper man of high standing says: "Legislation is being made of votes than of actual legislation."

The correspondent was comforting his readers in order to dissipate the belief that Coolidge's government is a progressive character of the Sixty-ninth Congress. He pointed out very clearly that though the progress-

The Chicago Police are looking for a man who, Chicago's $2,000,000 Panama Oil Syndicate. The police are on his trail. It is said he will be indicted, even in his absence, by a grand jury.

But Kovecs was able to continue his "successful business man" pose, he had many friends. He had an entrance to the best society. The dollar sign upon him was applauded everywhere.

But Kovecs committed an unforgivable crime under capitalism. He tried to keep up his front. He dropped his disguise and he was revealed, for what every big business man really is, a plain swindler.

Kovecs had no scruples. He took even the money of his own employees and lawyers, even the money of his own clients. The latter fall to riches that he held up was crowded. But the ladder was laden and the climbers are in a heap.

The jack-in-the-box yelling after Kovecs, losing sight entirely of the rotten social system that makes these things possible. Loud lamentations among victims and in the next press, follow on this defeated hunt for dollars. "The stories of Ford, and Wallingford and Kovecs are the same old story. The only difference is that the U. S. Steel Corporation took more than that profits every day of the world war. John D. Rockefeller and Henry Ford milk the oil and automobile industries for that amount every few days. But Gary, Schwab, Rockefeller and Ford are big enough and powerful enough to keep up their robbery. Kovecs was just a black-leg in the big business game. He'll go to prison if they catch him. John D. Rockefeller, Jr. will continue to teach his Sunday School class on fashionable Fifth Avenue in New York City. Ford will continue to be jiggered for the presidency."

These days, therefore, call for renewed and redoubled activity on the part of every militant worker, everywhere. Support the $100,000,000 fund! Get readers! Win the support of all the organizations of labor! These are the tasks of the hour—THE NECESSARY TASKS! Forward to their accomplishment!

January 13, 1924

New gates are being marked red on the calendar of time. The month of November stands out from the other twelve, including the days in which Soviet Rule triumphed in Russia. This coming month of January will live in history because it carries the anniversary of the martyrdom of Liebknecht and Luxemburg in the heroic struggle of the German workers for power. But there will also be another red letter day for this first month of the year. "January 13, 1924" has been definitely set as the date for the appearance of the initial issue of the first English-language Communist daily in the world, "The Daily Worker" to be published in Chicago.

The energy and enthusiasm displayed by the party membership and sympathizers, in the raising of the $100,000,000 fund, is now being duplicated in the drive for thousands of subscribers to "The Daily Worker" must start with a loyal army of readers. Those who read "The Daily" will prove to be the connecting link between the advance guard and the great army of the American working class.

These days, therefore, call for renewed and redoubled activity on the part of every militant worker, everywhere. Support the $100,000,000 fund! Get readers! Win the support of all the organizations of labor! These are the tasks of the hour—THE NECESSARY TASKS! Forward to their accomplishment!

John G. Shedd, chairman of the board of directors of Marshall Field & Co. is not above handing out Christmas gifts. He has given $200,000 for an aquarium in Grant Park on the lake front.

At the same time Marshall Field & Co. advertises in the daily press for able-bodied men for $9 per week.

The Quality of Capitalist Justice

The original suspect may now renege the pallova unless the police feel that they have been cheated out of their legitimate prey and ignore the new development. This case throws a strong light on the methods used by American police to secure evidence and shows how little reliance can be placed on it. Undoubtedly lawyers will often refer to this case in defending their clients against so-called "irrebuttable" evidence manufactured by the police. In their desire to do the "right" thing, they are sometimes of these officers have no hesitation in swearing away a human life. The "right" degree should be abolished.

The reporters forget about the case and buried their noses in the next scandal until another president is caught in a burglary, topped off by the case of the "Wolff-Williams" confession that he was the real perpetrator of the killing for which another man was being pushed down the gallow. His wife was the female identified as the "Wolff-Williams" case.

co-operation between the Democrats and insurgents can be secured only through an arrangement as to the election of committee members in both houses. No one in Wall Street seriously expects the Southern Democrats and their allies from the industrial districts in the East to take any steps to elect progressives to committee. By securing the Republican majority "would remain to plague them should they (the Democrats) attain control next November."

What is more, seniority or seniority in Congress is the Republican's "strategic committee in the House and Senate." This was made clear the other day in a front page editorial in the "Wall Street Journal." Dismissing the congressional outlook in a week from now, and one of the first questions which should come before the Democrats is the selection of a ranking member of any committee. The Democrats take their courage in both hands and throw him off the Interstate Commerce committee. They have no need to be decimated by labels, if the voter has so far been unable to bring them to their knees. Their present and urgent business is to justify their own label. Here we have it. The

If the monkeys entertain the present misconception of the Darwinian theory they must feel nervous that when over a detective exhibits his stupidity in the press, and that is what he gets a chance. No other professional biped is so fond of publicity. Detectives get by with it simply because newspaper readers consider stupidity and detection synonymous terms. Whenever a crime is committed, they will always have the culprit "within twenty-four hours," or "they know the whereabouts of the criminal but are holding back until a blond woman who was seen at 3:34 a. m. in a motorcar drove gets out of her delirious tremors and confesses so that they have a complete case." A week or two ago a young watchman was killed. A fellow with a criminal record was arrested and a hired thief was also taken into custody by American police to secure evidence and shows how little reliance can be placed on it. Undoubtedly lawyers will often refer to this case in defending their clients against so-called "irrebuttable" evidence manufactured by the police. In their desire to do the "right" thing, they are sometimes of these officers have no hesitation in swearing away a human life. The "right" degree should be abolished.

The importance of industrial registration is one of the most important tasks that confront the workers party today. Without complete party registration, hard to date, it will be impossible for our party to function upon an efficient basis and get major results from our activities.

Our experiences have taught us, that with only a limited part of party members really functioning within the trade unions, the results have been great; that the reactionary Congress machine has become so hysterical that they are persecuting legal progressives as Communists.

Our older and more mature party members, have proven conclusively developed an industrial basis, is only a Communist party in theory and not in fact.

Each branch industrial organization is the root unit from which our party will grow into an efficient Communist party, with a second industrial basis. Upon their shoulders, a great task, raise the future growth of the party. The real significance and importance of our party members, which makes the work of the organizers more difficult.

Industrial registration is considered so important by the C. E. C., that a special department has been created to make this a regular function of the party. It is the duty of each member to attempt to put stumbling blocks in the way of the registration, or he refuses to register, or to take part in the industrial activities of the party, their right to remain in the party will be seriously questioned.

The responsibility of registering rests upon the branch industrial organizer, this however does not absolve the members from their share of responsibility. The branch must enforce the responsibility of the branch industrial organizers upon every member of the branch. Members who do not attend the meetings, during the period of registration, will be notified by the branch either by mail, or to attend the meeting and see that their registration card is returned. A member will be expelled from registration.

Every member of the party must join the union of his or her trade in its industrial activities. It is difficult to find these cases where it is almost impossible to join the union. All of these cases should be reported to either the City, District, or National Industrial Organizer.

Branch industrial organizers should familiarize themselves with the law of the various unions on the admission of new members into the union. They should stimulate the sale of industrial literature, by forming branch leagues. They should stimulate the sale of industrial literature, by forming branch leagues. An Ex-Servicemen's Anti-Bonus League has been organized in Chicago. Its motto is: "For the disabled, everything; for the able-bodied, honor." Every one of the 17,000 war profiteers, who become millionaires, should become charter members of the "League." They can claim disability from carrying around a Capitalist Count on Coolidge. Summing up the expectations of the employing class from the Administration in the coming months, magazine of Wall Street proudly announced that "the Administration is not going to perform any major operation upon you." If the President in Congress start minor and moves against Big Business and the economic epubs go back—Coolidge Admiration is not going to perform any major operation upon you.
